ONLY TWO STATES REPORT FIGURES ON REGISTRATION

Vermont and Delaware Drop Below Estimates, but 10,000,000 Total Is Expected.

LARGER STATES YET TO COME

PLANNING FOR THE DRAFT

War Department Soon to Issue the Rules for Exemptions—Few Slackers Reported.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The estimate of the number of men registered under the provisions of the draft law was still placed at 10,000,000 men here tonight, although the official reports from Delaware, Vermont, and the District of Columbia and estimates from several other States which were received by Provost Marshal General Crowder indicated that there had been a slight falling off from the mark set by the Census Bureau. Returns from other States which had not submitted figures, it was believed, would go far to make up the deficiencies. Another estimate made here tonight, which was unofficial, was that the registration might fall 6 per cent. below the census, or about 9,600,000.

The meagre official returns showed that the percentage of those who had claimed exemption was large—in some cases more than half of the total number registered—and if this proves true in other parts of the country, when final returns are in, there may be a tightening of the exemption rules. It had been predicted that few on registration day would indicate their position in this regard. The official reports received tonight follow:

State.	Estimated Total.	Number Registered.	Indicated Exemptions.
Vermont	36,820	27,658	13,254

Some of the States in which the canvass had not been completed forwarded estimates of their total registration. These included an estimate of 950,000 for Pennsylvania, whose eligibles the Census Bureau figures had placed at 876,378. Michigan State officials sent an estimate of 325,000, against a census estimate of 328,154; Rhode Island, 52,802, against 60,790; New Jersey, 304,228, against 309,563, and Wisconsin, 218,700, against 229,897. The Governors of Missouri and Ohio said that their reports would be delayed because of storms. A report received here from New York State, said that the total registration probably would exceed the estimate.

In studying the figures here tonight officials pointed out that the numbers by which one or two cities alone had exceeded the estimates would wipe out the entire deficiency of smaller States.

In some of these cities registration still was in progress today, the Attorney General having approved the action of Provost Marshal General Crowder in authorizing an extension of time where cards were lacking or where the registration machinery proved otherwise inadequate to its task.

Until the records or the great manufacturing centres are completed, results of the registration cannot be gauged accurately. General Crowder said tonight that it was not to be expected that the registration figures would check with the census estimates, if for no other reason because hundreds of thousands of men in the army and navy and National Guard were not required to register.

Few Slackers Reported.

Messages from Governors all over the country show that there are relatively few slackers to be dealt with. Already the machinery of the Government is moving to bring these few to a reckoning.

The chief factor in bringing them to book, however, will not be legal processes. General Crowder and the forces of the Department of Justice place full reliance in the people themselves in bringing forward these shirkers. No plan that would serve that end will be overlooked. No man skulking in temporary safety because he is a stranger in his community, or because his age is not known, will escape if the processes of law can bring him to an accounting. But it is upon the indignation of men and women whose sons or other kin have faced the issue with courage and cheerfully recorded their names that the Government chiefly depends to bring slackers into the open.

Exemption Rules Prepared.

As the registration figures came in tonight the work of preparing for the next great step proceeded without interruption. Already the regulations which will govern exemptions are virtually complete. It is probable that a few days will see them duly promulgated by President Wilson and the work of assembling the boards in each community under way. The personal honor of the President, of Secretary Baker, and of every member of Congress who voted for the bill stands pledged to the statement that even-handed justice and fairness to all men, high or low, white or black, will govern in the great task.

Much must be done before the names of those who will compose the armies can be enrolled. Millions of registration cards must be examined and classified. Those who are wholly unfitted physically for a soldier's grim business must be eliminated; the quotas of the States must be assigned; the machinery for distributing this quota equally through every remote county or precinct of each State must be perfected.

The local exemption boards will almost equal in number the registration precincts. Assurance has been given that

Luxemburg Workers Strike Because of High Prices

GENEVA, June 6, (via Paris.)—The Gazette de Lausanne says that it learns that a general strike has begun in the Grand Duchy of Luxemburg, owing to the high cost of living and the refusal of proprietors of factories, mostly Germans, to increase wages as a result of the insecurity of their factories from attacks by allied aircraft.

Five thousand workmen, says the newspaper, began a strike at Esch, regardless of severe warnings by the German commander. The strike spread to other towns and German cavalry immediately occupied five of the principal industrial communities.

CITY REGISTRATION REACHES 569,118

MANHATTAN TOTAL 255,863

The number of men of draft age who registered under the provisions of the selective draft law in New York on Tuesday was, according to official figures received by the Central Board of Control yesterday, 569,118. Four election districts were still missing in Brooklyn last night, and these would not increase the total materially. To this number should be added those New Yorkers who registered by mail, or who registered with the City Clerk prior to leaving the city. It was estimated last night that between 15,000 and 20,000 men had registered by mail or otherwise, which would bring the total registered strength of the men of draft age in New York City to about 585,000. The War Department's estimate for New York City was 573,749.

It was said last night at the offices of the Central Board of Control that the figures given out were believed to be correct. Chairman Edward F. Boyle of the New York City Board of Elections, the executive officer of the Central Board of Control, pointed out that the total registration in New York would approximate five-sixths of the total number of votes cast for President in the city last November, which was 697,431. In some Assembly districts the number more than doubled the vote cast for President Wilson and Mr. Hughes. For instance, in the First Assembly District the number of men of draft age who registered was 8,311, whereas the combined vote of the President and Mr. Hughes was only 4,044. In the Sixth District the draft register totaled 11,254, whereas the vote for Mr. Wilson and Mr. Hughes was 5,504. In the Thirty-fourth Assembly District in the Bronx where the registry totaled 24,961 on Tuesday, the vote for the Presidential candidates was 25,485.

The vote in New York City, as tabulated last night, with four election districts in Brooklyn missing, is as follows:

Executive Officer Boyle of the Central Board of Control made the following statement last night:

"The registration was completed last night by midnight, in most cases by 11 o'clock. Some questions have been asked about what the tardy ones who did not register should do. If they present themselves at their Assembly District Headquarters and make an affidavit it will be accepted. This applies to any who should have registered but who did not do so yesterday.

"I don't know how many there are who should have registered and who did not do so. This office will take no part in rounding up the 'slackers.' Its function deals with the registration and classification. The registration part was placed in charge of the chief executive officer of each Assembly District, who put them in lockers and kept the key. No police officers were necessary to guard them and no one attempted to interfere.

"We started in at 9 o'clock today to make a careful classification under the rules. We hope to complete this sometime tomorrow. I have not the slightest idea what the percentage of those who are exempt will be after the tabulation is finished. A list will be prepared in each Assembly District showing those who have registered—names and addresses—and this will be open to inspection to the public. It will be hung up at the Assembly District Headquarters.

"We are certainly gratified over the results of the registration and the way we were able to handle it. There were endless possibilities for trouble and confusion, and the Lord was certainly good to us, for we got through without a hitch. When the final recapitulations and classifications are made I believe we will have accurate figures upon which the Federal Government may rely with confidence."

LORD NORTHCLIFFE TO HEAD MISSION OF BRITISH HERE

WILL HAVE WIDE POWERS

He Will Co-ordinate Work of Various British Boards and Co-operate with Allies.

MAN OF GREAT INFLUENCE

LONDON, June 6.—Lord Northcliffe, at the request of the War Cabinet, has accepted the position of head of the British War Mission in the United States in succession to Arthur J. Balfour, who is to return to his duties at the Foreign Office.

Lord Northcliffe's task will be to coordinate the various British Missions, and act in concert with the missions of the Entente Allies and of the American and Canadian Governments. He has made many visits to the United States and Canada.

Lord Northcliffe is well known as a writer and newspaper proprietor. He controls among other journals The London Times and London Daily Mail. He has a controlling interest in Newfoundland paper mills, and the Imperial Paper Mills at Gravesend, near London. He has long taken an active part in British political affairs, and recently has been engaged in vigorous support of Premier Lloyd George's home rule for Ireland policy.

Northcliffe's Critics Cynical.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Thursday, June 7.—Beyond publishing official notice of Lord Northcliffe's mission to America the London papers make no editorial comment. The only comment comes from the writer of gossip in the anti-Northcliffe Daily News, who says:

"Mr. Balfour is temperamentally rather cynical, but it would be interesting to hear what he really thinks of such a successor. Well, Mrs. Pankhurst is to go to Russia. The Government have only to send Mr. Horatio Bottomley as envoy extraordinary to Paris or Rome to satisfy the public that things really are moving and that the people who do things are all being employed together."

The war had not proceeded very far when an Englishman, on being asked to define Lord Northcliffe's influence on the Government and people, said: "They hate him; they admire him; but try as they may they cannot be indifferent to him."

In no country, it is believed, since the war began has a man in civil life been so constantly in the public eye or labored so consistently, early and late, for schemes which he believed would benefit the empire and its allies and bring confusion and defeat to the Germans.

These schemes have pertained to almost every department of activity directly or indirectly identified with the war. They have concerned attacks, exposures, and appeals in regard to the Government, and sympathy, information, advice to allies and neutrals. They form a long list from the time he declared that Lord Kitchener was working beyond his physical and mental limitations, and the exposure of the fact that shrapnel instead of high explosive shells were being used at Neuve Chapelle, the condemnation of the Gallipoli excursion, Nixon's fiasco on the Tigris, numerous attempts to prove the futility, ridiculousness, and even harmfulness of the censorship of the press; the remorseless attacks upon "the old gang," as he terms the Asquith Ministry through all its changes; the fearless espousal of David Lloyd George as the man who should really lead; his numerous trips to the western battle fronts and to Spain, all of which he recorded in feverish, graphic English in newspapers, magazines, and books, and finally the measured but exultant welcome he gave the United States when we entered the war.

Northcliffe is not quite 52 years of age. For several years, as Alfred Harmsworth, he took assignments as a reporter and studied law alternately. He became a barrister at law and a star reporter almost simultaneously, but he liked reporting best and stuck to it through all his rise from editing a little paper called Answers in 1888 to the greatest owner of newspapers, magazines, and periodicals in the world in 1904, when he was first knighted and then raised to the peerage as Baron Northcliffe of the Isle of Thanet.

EFFECT ON SPRING-RICE.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—No official comment on the appointment of Lord Northcliffe as head of a permanent British commission in the United States was obtainable in Washington tonight. Officials apparently felt that if any statement was to be forthcoming it should have the approval of the President.

The most interest in the selection of Lord Northcliffe centres in the bearing it may have on the status of Sir Cecil Arthur Spring-Rice, the British Ambassador. Sir Cecil Spring-Rice has been criticised by Lord Northcliffe, who practically called for the appointment of a new British Ambassador in Washington. This criticism came at a time when the United States and Germany were still on nominally friendly terms.

The impression was created that Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador in Washington, was succeeding in getting the American press to publish information favorable to the German cause, and Lord Northcliffe, who apparently believed the allegations to that effect, let it be known that he thought that von Bernstorff was outmanoeuvring Spring-Rice in creating sentiment in America. The comment of Lord Northcliffe along that line was cabled to American newspapers, and created considerable discussion. The British Government apparently was not influenced by it, as the status of the British Ambassador was not disturbed.

Lord Northcliffe's appointment to such an important diplomatic mission will give the British Government the opportunity to raise his rank, and success in dealing with the United States might cause the King, at the instance of Prime Minister Lloyd George, to elevate him to the dignity of Viscount or Earl.

American Airmen Fought 15 Battles in 2 Weeks of May

PARIS, June 6.—A summary of the exploits in the second half of May of the Lafayette Aerial Squadron, composed chiefly of Americans, shows that it engaged in twenty-five patrols. Fifteen battles resulted in which Adjutant Raoul Lufbery was engaged five times, Sergeant Willis Haviland (Minneapolis) twice, Sergeant Dovell three times, Corporal Thomas Hewitt (New York) twice, and Corporal Kenneth Marr (San Francisco) twice.

The summary mentions the decoration of Adjutant Lufbery with the Military Medal by the King of England, and cites the meritorious conduct of this aviator and also of Sergeant Haviland, Sergeant Charles Johnson, (St. Louis,) and Lieutenant William Thaw (Pittsburgh.)

BRITISH AT ARRAS WIN MILE FRONT

LONDON, June 6.—Active operations on the front east of Arras were resumed last night, the British making an attack on the line from Roeux to Gavrelle, north of the Scarpe River. The War Office announces tonight that the troops carried the German positions on a front of about a mile on the western slopes of Greenland Hill, a sprawling height that lies northeast of Roeux and Fampoux. One hundred and sixty-two prisoners were captured in the course of this operation.

The early statement follows:

> We attacked last night north of the Scarpe and made further progress on the western slopes of Greenland Hill. We gained ground slightly west of Lens.
>
> Successful raids were made by us at night north of Armentières. The enemy's trenches were entered at a number of points and many casualties were inflicted on his garrison.

The text of this evening's statement reads:

> The operations commenced last night north of the Scarpe were successfully completed during the day and all our objectives gained. We have captured the enemy's positions on the western slopes of Greenland Hill on a front of about a mile and taken 162 prisoners, including four officers.
>
> We have also captured a few prisoners as a result of raids carried out early this morning north of Ypres.
>
> There has again been considerable artillery activity on both sides at a number of points along our front, particularly on the north bank of the Scarpe and in the neighborhood of Vimy Village, Armentières and Ypres.
> Activity in the air continued yesterday. Eight German airplanes were brought down in the air fighting, one of which fell within our lines. Eight others were driven down out of control. Seven of our machines are missing.

In connection with the reports of raids and increased artillery fire on the Ypres front the Belgian official report, issued through the French War Office, is illuminating. It says:

> During the course of the day the artillery of both sides was active along the whole front, particularly before Dixmude and between Steenstraete and Hetsas. On the latter part of our front we carried out fires of destruction on enemy batteries and works.

A Central News dispatch from Amsterdam says that the German newspapers are exhibiting considerable concern on account of the greatly increased artillery activity along the salient between Ypres and Wytschaete, which has been mentioned repeatedly in the official communication. In Germany this is believed to be the forerunner of a new and fierce action.

PRESIDENT URGES CONGRESS TO RUSH FOOD MEASURES

ALLIES' NEEDS PRESSING

DELAY PERTURBS BRITISH

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The urgent necessity of speeding up food legislation was emphasized by President Wilson tonight in a conference with Senators at the White House. He asked the Senators to do what they could to see that pending legislation was hurried through, so that the control of the country's food products might be expedited. The conference had particular point because of its coincidence with the statement in the House of Commons by Mr. Bathurst, Secretary to the Food Control Department, that it was "of the greatest importance to the success of the allied cause that the food exports from America should be on the highest possible scale for the remainder of the war" and indicated that England was disturbed over delay here in passing food regulation.

At the conference were Senators Underwood of Alabama, Walsh of Montana, Sheppard of Texas, King of Utah, Chamberlain of Oregon, and Smith of South Carolina, Democrats, and Page of New Hampshire and Warren of Wyoming, ranking Republicans of the Agricultural Committee. All the Democratic Senators except Senators King and Walsh are on the Agricultural Committee. Every one of these Senators has taken an active part in the food legislation at every phase.

The conference lasted more than an hour. President Wilson took the Senators into his confidence, telling them that the situation before the country and as it affected the Allies would be grave, unless ample power were given by Congress to adequately regulate the country's food supply. This, he said, must be done at once. The President expressed concern over the future unless Congress took action to insure broad power to handle the situation as emergency requires.

Work Farmers Must Do.

Mr. Wilson felt that farmers ought to be encouraged to produce the biggest crop the country has seen and that one way to stimulate this was to give the Government the means to see that the farmer got the most advantageous price for his effort. This meant that there ought to be the fixing of a minimum price for agricultural products, a provision that is contained in the Lever bill now in joint conference. The President wanted the bill brought out as soon as possible and acted on. One of the features of this bill is the provision for a food administrator.

The President urged the Senators that a food administrator is needed to successfully carry out the work of food control, and he hoped the opposition felt in the Senate against it would be dissipated. He wanted the Senators to use every influence to have the remaining food bills put through quickly.

After the conference it was learned that, while some of the Senators believed that the food control bill ought to pass, others in the conference were still opposed to it. The bill will have bitter opposition when it comes up. The argument against it is that it puts too much power into the hands of a dictator.

A Senator who has followed Congressional action on the food bills said tonight, when his attention was called to the statement of Mr. Bathurst and the anxiety over Congressional tardiness displayed by the London press, that he regarded the work of Congress as rather remarkable for its speed. He pointed out that two of the Administration's most important food bills had already

French Chamber's Insistence on Alsace Stirs German Socialist Press to Fury

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, June 6, (via London.)—The French Chamber's decision that the war must continue until Prussian militarism has been destroyed and Alsace-Lorraine regained has caused the greatest indignation all over Germany, and not least among the Socialists.

For some time it has been possible to notice a decided change in the attitude toward France of large classes of Germans who, even up to the beginning of the present year, had displayed something akin to compassion for that country. German papers preserve rather a forced calmness in discussing the proceedings in the French Chamber, though all of them, without any exception, emphasize the stereotyped phrase, "Alsace-Lorraine was German, is German, and will remain German forever, no matter what the Chamber may decide."

Vorwärts takes the Chamber's action perhaps hardest, because even the French Socialists, who only yesterday were ready to sit down with the German Socialists at Stockholm and discuss with them peace without annexation, now seem to have identified themselves with the war aims of the capitalist classes. In a long article dealing with the future of Alsace-Lorraine the Socialist organ says:

"Only a few weeks before the outbreak of the war our immortal Jaurès declared that the self-administration of Alsace-Lorraine, such as it enjoyed within the structure of the German Empire, had disposed of that question, so far as France was concerned, forever."

In another article on the proceedings of the Chamber the same paper says:

"We notice with regret that the French Chamber and Government, for the present at least, are still insisting on war aims which, as the land lies, are simply impossible without defeating Germany. Such a defeat of Germany could not be achieved within three years of war, and there is surely no certainty that it will be accomplished in another three years. France claims that she did not want war in 1914; all the more must it be deplored that she wants war in 1917, since to demand Alsace-Lorraine means to insist on war, means to desire the total collapse of Europe, means a universal catastrophe which may hit France harder than perhaps any other belligerent. How long will the suicidal mania of the West succeed in resisting the common sense which [illegible] in the East!"

AMERICAN STEAMER SINKS U-BOAT IN FIGHT; OUR DESTROYERS RIVAL ALLIES IN HUNT; U-BOATS' TOLL CUT TO LOWEST IN WEEKS

Only 18 Vessels Sunk by U-Boats Last Week; Total the Lowest Since Week of March 11

LONDON, June 6.—The weekly report of the British Admiralty concerning British shipping losses by mines or submarines says that fifteen vessels of 1,600 tons and over, and three vessels under 1,600 tons and five fishing vessels were sunk last week. The statement reads:

> Arrivals numbered 2,693, and sailings 2,642.
> British merchant ships of over 1,600 tons, sunk by mine or submarine, including one previously sunk, fifteen; under 1,600 tons, three; British fishing vessels, five.
> British merchant ships unsuccessfully attacked, including four previously, seventeen.

This total of sinkings of British merchantmen by German submarines last week, (eighteen in all,) is actually the lowest since the week of March 11, when the total was seventeen, made up of thirteen vessels exceeding 1,600 tons and four of less than 1,600 tons. The figures of ship losses for the consecutive weeks since February, as given out by the Admiralty, are as follows:

BIG BRITISH LINER IN U-BOAT WAR

AMERICAN SAW HER WORK

He Says Our Destroyers Are of Great Service in Convoying Incoming Food Ships.

Passengers arriving yesterday at an American port from England stated that a former transatlantic liner of considerable size, which was converted into a mother ship for airplanes and took part in the North Sea fight, was now being used by the British Admiralty in its new campaign to overcome the German submarine menace.

This vessel carries a number of airplanes and cruises round the British coast, waiting to pick up news of the undersea craft. Men are posted at the lofty mastheads on the lookout with powerful glasses, and directly a submarine is sighted an aviator goes up in a seaplane and drops bombs on its track.

In addition the Captain of the seaplane ship is kept posted on submarine activities by wireless from the naval stations at various points, and also receives S O S calls that are sent out by the steamships which are being attacked.

In her record-breaking days on the Atlantic the vessel could average twenty-one knots easily and her speed now is only two knots slower, which is faster than any submarine can steam on the surface.

One American passenger said that he saw the mother ship send out three seaplanes in the English Channel after two submarines that had been reported attacking a big liner about twenty miles away. The day was calm and clear and it was a remarkable sight to see the machines leave the surface of the sea and wing their way aloft like huge albatrosses.

The United States destroyers had proved of great service, he said, in protecting merchant steamships arriving from this country, loaded with grain and food supplies, which were badly needed over there.

No figures had been given out by the Admiralty as to the number of submarines sunk, but the passenger was told at Chatham that the toll averaged twenty-five a month, which was, it was said, ten more than the Germans could manufacture and place in the water during that period. The most satisfactory thing was that fewer ships were being sunk when he left England, and the naval officers he met were very cheerful on the subject and assured him that the good work would go on.

The Summer is the best time for catching submarines, according to experts, as the daylight continues to nearly 10 o'clock and the motor boat chasers can go out some distance from land to attack their enemies with bombs and deck guns. Smoke bombs and drums, which are dropped overboard and emit dense clouds of smoke after striking the water, have proved very effective in cases where steamships have been pursued by submarines. Practically all the American and British steamships are equipped with them now.

BERLIN ADMITS LOSS OF S-20

Says German Destroyer Was Sunk by Superior British Forces.

BERLIN, June 6, (via London.)—The loss of the German destroyer S-20 is admitted in an official statement issued by the War Office dealing with the attack on Ostend by British ships. The statement follows:

> Enemy monitors shelled Ostend on the morning of the 5th, killing and wounding a great number of Belgian inhabitants and causing some material damage to houses. Strongly superior reconnoitering forces, attached to the advancing monitors, encountered two of our torpedo boats which were on guard. After fierce fighting the S-20 was sunk, firing to the last moment. A portion of the crew was rescued by us.

OUR FLOTILLA NOW ACTIVE IN PATROL

SAILORS POPULAR ASHORE

Adopt Afternoon Tea and Amaze Public by Riding First Class in Railway Trains.

THE BRITISH PORT BASE OF THE AMERICAN FLOTILLA, June 6, (via London.)—The American destroyers have completed their first month of active service in the great war. They have been favored with excellent weather, which is a big factor in anti-submarine warfare. Most of the time they have had sunny skies and smooth seas, with just enough squall and storm to put their seamanship to the test. The favorable weather conditions made their task of learning the technique of anti-submarine warfare much simpler and easier.

The American boats are assigned to work hand in hand with the British squadrons, being virtually assimilated into the British naval machinery here. A destroyer is usually out for four or five days, and then returns to port for two or three days while coaling and loading supplies. Thus every American sailor gets at least half a day shore leave practically every week.

The Americans take their turn with the British boats in all routine work of patrol and convoy. The work, although largely routine, is interesting, and the Americans have never yet found time hanging heavy on their hands. The lookout must be constant, and eyes must be trained to an unbelievable degree of keenness. The young Americans take zealously to this business of finding the periscopic needles in the nautical haystack, and daily reports of submarines sighted, of observations made, of wireless warnings sent broadcast, show that the American boats are already making an average of results almost as satisfactory as the long-experienced English boats with which they are operating.

U-Boats Forced to Submerge.

There has been no actual battle as yet between an American destroyer and the enemy, although several reports show that U-boats have been sighted and have been compelled to beat a hasty retreat to the depths of the sea.

An assignment to convoy a liner "from home"—that is, from an American port—is regarded as an especially choice morsel. A transatlantic liner which sights the American flag approaching to escort her to land never fails to respond with a great waving of flags and handkerchiefs from her decks, and there is a fine exchange of wigwag signals in lieu of handshakes.

Several American liners can already testify to the vigilant work of the American destroyers as convoys. Occasionally a fortunate liner finds herself being escorted to port by American and British destroyers side by side, circling about her like twin sisters—a visible sign of the new alliance.

The American boats were ready for duty the minute they arrived. This was something of a pleasant surprise for the British naval men. It had been expected that some time would be necessary for certain installations and fittings, but the Americans had everything in readiness and were at once assigned to work.

Shore leave is generous on the American ships, and the American sailor is constantly in evidence in this village, in the countryside roundabout, and in a nearby city, where more metropolitan pleasures are available than in the restricted limits of this little place. The people of the towns have taken the American sailor and his strangely spendthrift ways right into their hearts. He seems always to have money, which is not so strange when it is considered that his rate of pay is considerably higher than that of the British tar.

"The American gets a dollar every time we get a shilling," is a common expression among the admiring British seamen.

One of the American sailor's favorite way of showing his opulence is his habit of always traveling first-class on the railroad which takes him from the village up to the city, a trip of a few miles. The extra cost is only a penny, but the unheard of idea of a common sailor travelling first-class strikes the populace as a startling and audacious manoeuvre worthy the best tradition of American extravagance.

Tars Take Afternoon Tea.

Local tradesmen who expected to find the visitor an "easy mark" soon learned their mistake, however, for he is seldom fooled twice, and quickly learns to demand value for his money.

EXCHANGE 60 SHOTS AT SEA

FOUGHT HOUR AND A HALF

VICTOR WAS NOT DAMAGED

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The State Department was notified today that a German submarine was sunk by an armed American merchantman after a running fight lasting an hour and a half, in which sixty shots were exchanged. The name of the steamer is withheld for military reasons, and there is no disclosure of the scene of the engagement.

According to the report, after the submarine had fired thirty-five shots at the steamer, which responded with twenty-five shots, the final shot of the steamer apparently struck the submarine, which "raised clear out of the water and stood stern end up for a few seconds," then disappeared. No damage was done to the steamer.

> The Department of State is advised by telegraph of an engagement between an armed American steamer and a submarine. The guns of the steamer were manned by an American naval crew. The submarine was first seen at about 7,000 yards. She had a 6-inch gun forward and another aft. She flew no flag.
> Upon sight of the submarine the steamer hoisted the American flag and waited for about ten minutes. As the submarine approached the steamer fired. The submarine responded. The steamer kept a speed that would permit the submarine to come within range.
> Then followed a fight lasting for an hour and a half. The submarine came to a distance of about 2,300 yards. By that time the submarine had fired thirty-five shots and the steamer twenty-five.
>
> The last shot of the steamer apparently struck the submarine, which raised clear out of the water and stood stern end up for a few seconds. Then she disappeared.
> The Captain of the steamer and the commander of the guard believe that the submarine was sunk. The steamer suffered no damage.

Both the State and Navy Departments refused to make public the name of the steamer or any details regarding the armed guard. In explanation of this it was asserted that the Government does not desire the identity of the steamer to become known for fear the German Admiralty will endeavor to seek revenge by ordering unusual efforts to be taken to dispose of the steamer on some future voyage. But the statement was made officially that it was not the Mongolia that figured in this engagement.

SHIPPING OUTLOOK IMPROVES.

German Tonnage Helps—21 Ships in Our Yards Near Launching.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 6.—The Allies' shipping outlook has shown a marked improvement in the last few weeks, with the rate of destruction falling steadily. The placing of German tonnage in American harbors in use and increased American ship construction have aided in relieving the situation.

Twenty-one more merchant vessels, it was announced today, are ready for launching at American shipyards, which are hurrying to completion more vessels than were ever on the country's stocks before. Officials believe the Shipping Board's program will soon make the United States the leading shipbuilding nation of the world.

Two British shipping experts, J. A. Salter, Under Secretary of the Ministry of Shipping, and Thomas Royden, a Director of the Cunard Line and member of the Shipping Department, arrived today to discuss the shipping situation with American officials. They will aid in effecting an efficient shipping distribution.

With the Shipping Board the Commissioners also will take up means to keep vessels from unnecessary danger and conservation of tonnage by limiting cargoes and arranging new trade routes.

American seamen and ship owners, it was said today, have buried old differences and will unite in an appeal to retired officers and sailors to come forward to help man the Shipping Board's fleet. The Government is having great difficulty in finding officers and men for the German ships it is putting into commission, and will have a still harder time supplying crews for the greater fleet of vessels it will build.

GERMANS RETORT TO SIMS.

Hope Enemy Navy "Will Be Induced to Show" Itself Again.

AMSTERDAM, June 6 (via London.)—The Berlin Lokal-Anzeiger, commenting on Admiral Sims's speech on Sunday at the celebration in London of the first anniversary of the battle of Jutland, says that the Admiral may rest assured that the German Navy wishes nothing more than a new encounter with its enemy. The paper adds:

"Perhaps the latter will be induced to show himself again. We will attend to the rest."

DISPROVE CHARGES ABOUT THE SOLACE

VESSEL WAS OVERCROWDED

But Civilian Investigators Say This Was Unavoidable and Patients Were Well Treated.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The committee of civilian experts appointed by Secretary Daniels to investigate complaints of conditions on the naval hospital ship Solace, made in a round robin signed by thirty enlisted men, and which was presented to the Senate by Senator Calder of New York, filed a unanimous report today in which it brands the charges of insanitary conditions as "untrue" and "exaggerated."

While the ship was found to have been overcrowded at the time of the complaints, the experts found that there was no lack of care or medical attendance, that the patients suffering from infectious diseases were carefully segregated, that the sanitary regulations were observed and that the entire ship and its effects were sterilized after every trip to the hospital. It concluds that the "round robin was composed by one person, who wove into it complaints from various sources" and that most of it "rests on gossip and hearsay."

The committee reported that the care of naval patients could not be improved upon, and praised the ship's doctors and those in charge of the naval medical service. It praises most highly Dr. Norman J. Blackwood, the medical inspector in charge of the Solace. It reports that there was "no lack of kindness and intelligent care on the part of Dr. Blackwood, the medical inspector in command of the Solace, or his assistants"; that "they were dealing with an unprecedented emergency and in handling it they acquitted themselves admirably." It concludes that Surgeon General Braisted, Dr. Blackwood, and Dr. Pickerel, medical director in charge of the naval hospital, and their assistants are "all entitled to the highest praise for their devoted and untiring efforts and for the success which they achieved under extremely difficult conditions."

Inspected Entire Station.

The committee, composed of Dr. William H. Welch, director of the School of Public Health, Johns Hopkins University; Dr. Abraham Flexner, Secretary of the General Education Board and author of "Medical Education in the United States and Europe," and Nathan Straus, the philanthropist, went to the fleet, where every opportunity for observation was afforded, and spent an entire day on the Solace, cross-questioning the members of the staff and the patients and examining conditions on the hospital ship. They visited one of the largest naval hospitals, training station and navy yard, inspected the facilities and sanitary conditions, and individually interviewed all measles patients, sick or convalescent, who had at any time been aboard the Solace. They also made a careful inspection of two battleships.

"Altogether," the report states, "we had interviews with upward of 100 patients who were aboard the Solace, or had been aboard the Solace, either at the time of the round robin, shortly before, or shortly after. We did not know the names of the persons who signed the round robin. In the course of the inquiry we identified three of the signers, among them the person who undoubtedly composed the round robin and procured the signatures to it.

"Patients and convalescents were questioned in the absence of officers and attendants. We assured them their names would not be mentioned. We encouraged them to speak freely for the good of the service. It is our judgment that the men spoke without reserve. Throughout our inquiry, both on the hospital ship Solace and at the Naval Hospital, we observed that the men felt entirely free to talk of conditions under which they were living. There was no evidence whatsoever of fear or constraint.

"The Solace is the only hospital ship in the navy at present. Its normal capacity is 228 beds, of which thirty on the upper deck are set apart for communicable diseases. These thirty beds are arranged in three separate wards which do not communicate with one another, one ward having eight beds, one ten beds, and one twelve. Connected with each ward is a lavatory with a basin with running water, and two of the three wards have separate compartments for washing dishes and other vessels. As the measles ward has no such compartment, the dishes used in it are washed on the outside in large pans.

"The three wards just described are well ventilated and serve their purpose excellently under normal conditions. The main parts of the hospital—the medical and surgical wards and operating rooms—are on the deck below, and are models.

Great Rush of Recruits.

"Following the declaration of war there was an enormous and very rapid increase of the personnel of the navy," the investigators say. "Recruits from various parts of the country poured into the training camps and thence into the fleet—at Norfolk as many as 700 or more a day. Soon a fleet population of 25,000 was gathered there. The recruits were especially susceptible to the common infectious diseases. It happened that measles, mumps, and to some extent scarlet fever and cerebro-spinal meningitis, were more common and more widely distributed in the country at large than is usual this time of the year. The recruits passed through training stations far more rapidly than in normal times, and under these conditions it was inevitable that there should be a large increase in the number of common infections. The existing facilities were, therefore, subjected to a tremendous strain.

"The war vessels had at once to transfer their infectious cases to the Solace," the report states. "The Solace, equipped to handle comfortably thirty infectious cases, had to handle at times more than three times that number. The pressure was most severe between the 18th and 21st of May, the dates covered by the round robin. On May 18 there were seventy-two infectious cases on board. Eight more were added on the 19th, fourteen more on the 20th, and seven on the 21st—101 in all—over three times the normal capacity of the ship. It was impossible for the Solace to avoid congestion by more frequently transferring patients to the naval hospital. The naval hospital was itself overtaxed, and the bungalows and the tents which now enable the ship to accommodate a largely increased number of patients had not then been sufficiently provided.

"On account of its operating facilities and its facilities for taking care of noncontagious medical patients, it was important that the Solace stay by the fleet, avoiding as long as possible the loss of the time required for the trip to the hospital and back. Within the last few days an ambulance transport previously arranged for has been provided for carrying patients from the Solace to the naval hospital.

"Immediately upon the increase of the number of patients to be landed, the staff of the Solace was increased to seventy. Cots and army stretchers were as rapidly as possible provided, and tents were erected on deck. At no time was there the slightest relaxation in the enforcement of strict sanitary precautions, with a view to preventing the spread of infectious diseases. That the precautions taken were effective is evident from the fact that both on board the Solace and at the naval hospital cross-infections have proved to be extremely rare."

Shameful Attack, Says Daniels.

Commenting on the report, Secretary Daniels said:

"Not only do the findings of these three famous health experts clear the navy of a shameful attack, but they should carry a message of reassurance to the parents of the nation. The [illegible] that our sailors had been ill-treated and neglected made in a round robin, first receiving publicity through Senator Calder and then given countrywide circulation, are shown to have no other base than malice and falsehood.

"Dr. Welch, Dr. Flexner, and Mr. Straus not only investigated the Solace but likewise studied conditions in the fleet and shore hospitals. The report is a testimonial to the humanity and efficiency of Surgeon General Braisted and the medical staff and methods of the navy.

"Too much importance cannot be attached to this unhappy incident. There is no more skillful appeal to the fears and prejudices of the population than attacks upon the army and navy with regard to health measures, sanitation, and the treatment of the sick. The result is the same, whether reckless charges be inspired by sincerity or disloyalty. Enlistment is discouraged, popular confidence is weakened, and the very foundations of the national defense are sapped.

"The decisive manner in which these first attacks have been proved to be without foundation should serve as a warning to the people and a discouragement to future recklessness. The policy of the Navy is one of absolute openness. We have nothing to conceal. All that we ask is this: That before wide publicity is given to brutal charges some slight attempt be made to ascertain their truth."

The investigators in their report take up seriatim, the seven charges contained in the round robin, and answer each separately, the charges and their conclusion being as follows:

1. When we were sent from our ships lying at different points in the fleet base we were compelled to carry our own baggage with fevers ranging from 100 to 103 degrees.

"We find that patients are brought in a launch from the various ships in the fleet to the Solace, those who are very ill lying on stretchers, others occupying seats in the launch. Three officers of the Solace stand at the head of the gangway to receive the patients. Those who are able to carry their own bags up the gangway do so, those who are unable leave them to be removed subsequently by others. Occasionally they help one another. We were unable to find any one except the author of the round robin who stated that patients 'were compelled to carry their own baggage.' Of the other two signers of the round robin, who, as has been said above, were identified, one stated that he 'knew of no general complaints about carrying bags,' that he himself 'was able to carry his own bag.' Another stated that he hardly felt sick at any time. The charge, therefore, of inhuman or unfeeling treatment in this respect is in our judgment absolutely untrue.

Plenty of Water for All.

2. Drinking water, very scarce. I had three glasses while on board, (C. K. E.), and some men had only one glass apiece. I might add that there was no ice water and the water was very warm.

"Under ordinary conditions on board the Solace water is kept in a water cooler in each ward. This water has been cooled, but except in very warm weather does not contain ice. During the prevailing cool weather this Spring the use of ice has not been considered necessary. For some unexplained reason the cooler in the measles ward was not in use during the period to which the round robin refers; instead water was brought up by the apprentice in pitchers or drawn by the patients from the faucet in the lavatory. Most of the persons interviewed stated that they got all the water they wanted, and that in their judgment no one needed to go without water. On the other hand, it is evident that the apprentice was so busy waiting on forty-odd persons that he was not able to serve water promptly. A patient who lay in a bunk close to the one occupied by the author of the round robin, and at the same time stated he 'had plenty of water and whenever he wanted it.' Another, referring to the same subject, stated that he 'could get a drink within five or ten minutes after asking for it,' and that he 'did not always have to wait.' Sometimes he 'did not have to wait at all.' Several patients stated that sometimes 'the water was warm.' In our judgment the charge in reference to the drinking water is grossly exaggerated and the implication of lack of care is entirely undeserved.

3. The dishes used by men sick with measles were washed in lavatory, where vessels were standing around with germs of scarlet fever and mumps which said germs were thrown in same receptacle used by men with measles; the dishes, forks, and knives were wiped with toilet paper.

"Two of the three wards have small apartments for washing dishes and other utensils. The measles ward has no such apartment. Orders require that the dishes used in this ward be washed in large pans outside on the deck. It appears that occasionally some dishes were, contrary to orders, washed in the basin, but it was, in our opinion, exceptional and did not take place frequently enough to interfere with men who desired to use the basin for its proper purpose. In any case, the only dishes or vessels thus washed were dishes and vessels which had been used by men suffering with meales. The charge that vessels were standing around with germs of scarlet fever and mumps in the measles compartment is impossible and absolutely absurd.

4. All food was served to the men on one large platter, the motto of which was "help yourself or go without."

"Men in bunks are served on trays. For those who are up and about food is brought on large platters, each platter containing a separate article."

The officers of the Solace were exonerated from other charges made in the round robin. The most serious of these was that blankets used by men with measles, mumps, and scarlet fever were piled together and afterward issued to the first patients who came for them. The blankets, it was alleged, were not sterilized. In answer to this charge the Commission states that the author of the round robin was not in a position to see what he claimed in this charge. It is stated that there was no indiscriminate piling together of blankets, that men with various diseases were kept in separate tents erected on deck, and that "the charge that blankets were not sterilized is absurd."

In conclusion, the Commission says:

"In our judgment, Surgeon General Braisted of the Navy; Dr. Blackwood, the medical inspector in command of the Solace, and his staff, as well as Dr. Pickerel, medical director in charge of the Naval Hospital, and his assistants are all entitled to the highest praise for their devoted and untiring efforts and for the success which they achieved under extremely difficult conditions."

Tea time in the village now has an American flavor. In all the little inns and shops, and further afield, even well into the wonderfully green countryside and along the cliffs, which remind the seamen of the Palisades along the Hudson anchorages, one may any afternoon find groups of British and American sailors drinking their tea and swapping yarns in true seamanly fashion. The American quickly acclimates himself to the afternoon tea habit, and finds it an amiable and satisfactory substitute for other things, with plenty of opportunity for confidential chats with his new allies on a thousand and one subjects which his active mind has been turning over since his arrival here.

There are other places where one may almost always find groups of blue-uniformed Americans. One is the local cemetery in a green wood atop the cliffs, where are buried many victims of German submarines whose graves are kept green by the visitors.

FRENCH SHIP DROVE OFF FOE.

Submarine Turned About and Fled After Steamer Opened Fire.

PARIS, June 6.—The defeat of a German submarine in a battle with the French steamer Orenoque is reported by the Ministry of Marine. The Orenoque, a vessel of 2,372 tons, was attacked in the Atlantic on April 22 when on her way to a West African port.

The submarine was sighted, half submerged, and headed for the steamer while a heavy sea was running. The steamer Captain immediately beat to quarters and opened fire. After the fourth shot the submarine disappeared.

DRAFT SLACKERS MUST FACE TRIAL

TEACHER GIVES HIMSELF UP

H. P. Levine Tells U. S. Marshal He Refused to Register and is Immediately Put in Jail.

The work of rounding up those men of draft age in New York City who willfully failed to register under the provisions of the Selective Draft law, is now under way. Several hundred cases reported to the United States Marshal's office, the Department of Justice Bureau of Investigation, and the Police Department, were under investigation last night, and those who prove unable to make affidavit showing a reasonable excuse for their failure to obey the law will shortly find themselves under arrest. All who can give a reasonable excuse and make affidavits to support them will undoubtedly be given a chance to do their duty as required by the law.

Just one arrest in New York, due to a willful failure to register, was made yesterday. Herman P. Levine, a public school teacher, went to the office of United States Marshal Power, in Brooklyn, and said he had not registered on Tuesday, and, furthermore, that there was no law which could compel him to do so. He submitted a long document to the Marshal in which he justified his course on various grounds, one of them that all wars, particularly the present one with Germany, were wrong. Marshal Power confiscated the packet of documents and United States Commissioner McGoldrick committed the prisoner to the Raymond Street jail in default of $1,000 bail.

Charles Francis Phillips, former Columbia student, who was arrested Tuesday night for failure to register and who at first showed a defiant attitude toward the authorities, repented after he was indicted by the Grand Jury yesterday. He went before United States District Judge Julius M. Mayer and said he was willing, if given the chance, to register. His repentance came too late, however, and he will have to stand trial, although Judge Mayer and Assistant United States District Attorney Harold A. Content stated that they appreciated that Phillips had done a manly thing in finally realizing his mistake. Mr. Content explained that under the law Phillips would be automatically registered as soon as the indictment against him was disposed of.

Anarchist Also Indicted.

Louis Kramer, the anarchist, who is in the Tombs waiting trial for engaging in a conspiracy with three other men, also in the Tombs, to dissuade men of draft age from registering, was also indicted yesterday. He remains defiant, and as soon as the conspiracy case against him is finished he will go on trial or refusing to register.

These three men are the only persons so far officially charged with failure to register. However, the authorities have the names of scores of others who have been reported by letter, by telephone, and in person by men who registered. In several instances women and girls are also said to have informed the authorities concerning "slackers" they know.

The speed with which the Government is prepared to act in the case of all violators of the Selective Draft act is indicated by the fact that Kramer and Phillips were indicted by the Grand Jury before noon yesterday. As soon as the indictments were filed the prisoners were brought into court and arraigned before Judge Mayer. Winter Russell, who was advertised as one of the speakers at the anarchist meeting held in the Bronx Monday night, but who failed to appear, represented Phillips, while the interests of Kramer were looked after by Harry Weinberger, who was one of the speakers at the first big anarchist anti-conscription meeting held in Harlem two weeks ago. Weinberger announced as soon as he had entered a plea of not guilty for his client that he intended to demur to the indictment on the ground that the selective draft law is unconstitutional.

"Very well," said Judge Mayer, "we will hear argument on the demurrer at 4 o'clock this afternoon."

Judge Mayer thereupon fixed bail in the sum of $2,500 for Kramer and the prisoner was taken back to the Tombs. Phillips also pleaded not guilty, and was held in bail of $10,000. Kramer was already under $10,000 bail in the conspiracy case.

When the demurrer in the Kramer case came up for augument Mr. Russell appeared with Phillips. The latter was a very much subdued young man and said that he had undergone a change of mind and was ready to plead guilty to the charge of violating the registration law. He then read the following statement to the court:

Insists Law Is Wrong.

"Believing that the so-called conscription law is in direct violation of our constitutionally guaranteed liberty of conscience and freedom from involuntary servitude, and that conscription is a menace to the democratic institutions of our country, and believing, further, that registration is an integral part of the draft, I refused to present myself before the Registration Board on June 5. I now make the plea of guilty, withholding the right to test the constitutionality of this law upon the trial on the charge of conspiracy for which I stand indicted. I make this plea of guilty in order that my stand will not be misunderstood, and that I may not appear to be defiant and rebellious, cowardly, or indifferent to the duties of citizenship. In all my actions I have been moved solely by the desire to promote the cause of peace, which I believe to be for the true interests of democracy and of my country. I am now willing to register."

Phillips's change of front was due in large part, it was said, to the pleas of his parents and his sister. After he announced his willingness to register Judge Mayer said he would not require the $10,000 bail and permitted him to go under the bail which he had furnished in the conspiracy case in which he is a co-defendant with Owen Cattell, a son of Professor Cattell of Columbia, and Miss Eleanor W. Parker, the Barnard College senior.

As soon as Phillips had read his statement Lawyer Weinberg started to argue on his demurrer to the Kramer indictment. He held the selective draft is unconstitutional on five grounds. Judge Mayer overruled the demurrer and Kramer, along with his co-defendants, Louis Sternburg, Maurice Becker, and John Walker, will go to trial on the conspiracy charge at 10:30 oclock next Monday morning.

Levine, the man under arrest in Brooklyn, is 23 years old, and is a teacher in Public School 160 at Rivington and Suffolk Streets, Manhattan. He was born in Russia and is a naturalized citizen.

Abraham Jordan, 50 years old, of 301 West 150th Street, was discharged last night by Magistrate Fuchs in the Men's Night Court after his arraignment on a charge of disorderly conduct. He was arrested on Tuesday night in a registration booth where he endeavored to copy the registration cards. Jordan's explanation that he was merely endeavoring to assist the Government in checking up "slackers" satisfied the court.

The first draft slacker to be arrested in the Bronx is John Katz, 22 years, a Russian baker, who has been in America four years, and lives at 3,802 Third Avenue. He was locked up last night under the technical charge of larceny on the complaint of his roommate, Samuel Sechuk, who alleged that Katz had taken $80 from his clothes yesterday morning. While searching the prisoner at the police station Detective Duane found that he had no registration card and asked if he had registered on Tuesday. Katz admitted that he had not, but denied that he had stolen the money. Katz will, therefore, be held for the Federal authorities.

Charged with urging 600 persons at a street meeting at 110th Street and Fifth Avenue last night to resist the selective draft Abraha Tuvin, 23 years old, of 18 East 108th Street, and Julius Codkind, 23 years old, of 110th Street and Fifth Avenue, were arrested by Sergeant Benjamin Silverman and Corporal Max Repstein of the Eighth Coast Artillery, U. S. A. Both prisoners were arraigned before Magistrate Fuchs in the Men's Night Court. Tuvin was held in $5,000 bail for examination this morning by the United States District Attorney. Codkind was discharged.

According to the testimony, the men urged the crowd to resist the draft and asked all in favor of such resistance to raise their hands. Alexander Karlin, attorney for the men, pleaded for their discharge on the ground that they had registered on Tuesday in compliance with the law.

Magistrate Fuchs, after hearing the testimony, said:

"Several weeks ago, in this very court, I announced my opinion, and I again say it tonight. If this young man, Tuvin, is guilty, and I am not prejudging him by any means, he is most certainly guilty of treason."

The courtroom was crowded with spectators, several of whom were recognized as having been arrested a short time ago for activities in denouncing the draft law. One of the spectators, a young woman, fainted and was carried out of court by attendants when Tuvin was held for examination.

OUST TRAITORS, SAYS BUTLER.

Tells Alumni Columbia Rejects All Who Resist Government.

President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University, in an address at a luncheon of alumni held in the university gymnasium at the close of the commencement exercises yesterday, denounced members of the university who resist the Government in time of war.

"Virtue and valor are so general among American youth," he said, "as to be in danger of becoming commonplace, while vice and cowardice stick out their horrid heads in ways that, at least for the moment, attract and often enchain public attention. For every instance of failure to rise to the high plane of patriotic duty and loyal service there have been here a hundred, yes, a thousand, instances of a splendid and a contrary sort.

"So long as national policies were in debate we gave, as is our wont, complete liberty of assembly, of speech and of publication to all members of the university who, in lawful ways, might wish to influence and guide public policy. Wrongheadedness and folly we might deplore but were bound to tolerate. So soon, however, as the nation spoke by the Congress and by the President declaring that it would volunteer as one man for the protection and defense of civil liberty and self-government, conditions sharply changed. What had been tolerated before became intolerable now. What had been wrongheadedness was now sedition. What had been folly was now treason.

"I speak by authority for the whole university—for my colleagues of the Trustees and for my colleagues of the Faculties—when I say, with all possible emphasis, that there is and will be no place in Columbia University, either on the rolls of its Faculties or on the rolls of its students, for any person who opposes or who counsels opposition to the effective enforcement of the laws of the United States, or who acts, speaks, or writes treason. The separation of any such person from Columbia University will be as speedy as the discovery of his offense. This is the university's last and only word of warning to any among us, if such there be, who are not with whole heart and mind and strength committed to fight with us to make the world safe for democracy."

Ambassador James W. Gerard of the class of 1890 also made an address at the luncheon, in which he brought the alumni to their feet with applause as he said: "Nothing this country has in life, property or honor will be worth while if the German Empire wins this war."

REGISTRATION HEAVY IN UP-STATE CITIES

Some Reach 12½ Per Cent. of Population—Whitman Pleased with Results.

ALBANY, June 6.—Twenty-five out of the fifty-seven counties outside of Greater New York registered a total of 93,590 men of conscription age yesterday, according to returns received late tonight at the Adjutant General's office. Ten of the eighteen up-State cities having a population of more than 30,000 registered a total of 129,487.

An analysis of the returns thus far received convinced Governor Whitman tonight that New York State had responded patriotically to the call of the nation.

Figures so far received show that the registration in cities was something more than 11 per cent., in some cases going as high as 12½, and in some dropping below 8 per cent. of the population.

Eleven of the eighteen cities reporting, including New York, give a total registration of 690,901 from a total population of 6,181,538. Outside of New York ten cities registered 129,437 out of a population of 1,134,317. Of this number the exemptions for legislative, judicial, and executive officers, persons totally disabled, those with dependent relatives indicated, and those with other probable exemptions totaled 66,530, or slightly less than 50 per cent. of the registration. In the counties figures so far presented show of the 93,590 registered, 46,676 probably are exempt.

Unofficial returns from thirteen of the fifty-seven counties outside of New York City were received here last night. These showed that the registration was not up to the official estimate. The total for the thirteen counties was 146,365, or 28,690 behind the official expectation.

The heaviest registration was in Monroe County, which returned a total of 33,652. Rochester, one of the largest cities up State, helped to swell the result. The official estimate for the county was 37,434. Westchester came next with a total registration of 29,508. This was 8,895 behind what the officials expected. Onondaga, whose chief city is Syracuse, stood up well with a total registration of 23,921, only 1,105 behind the expected total. Syracuse itself showed a registration of 18,002. The following table shows the registration in the counties together with the estimated figures:

County.	Number Registered.	Estimated Number.
Broome	10,856	9,364
Delaware	3,247	4,986
Dutchess	7,581	9,772
Franklin	3,642	5,163
Lewis	1,710	2,850
Monroe	33,652	37,434
Onondaga	23,921	25,026
Orange	12,000	13,485

Through a blunder the registrars in sections of Nassau County did not fill out their report sheets showing the totals on the registration on Tuesday night, but returned the names without any summarization. Two or three days will elapse before the details are worked out at the county seat at Mineola.

FAR WEST RETURNS SLOW.

Indications Are That Registration Will Exceed the Early Estimates.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.—Registration under the Selective Draft act in the Pacific Coast States, Idaho, and Montana exceeded the estimates made by the Provost Marshal General's office at Washington, the partial returns today indicated. The response for registration was enthusiastically heeded in every city and hamlet in the Far West. Approximately 51,000 responded in this city.

The Police Department of San Francisco conducted a systematic search today for persons of military age who evaded registration. As fast as they are found they will be turned over to the United States Marshal.

DENVER, June 6.—With one precinct missing, registration in Denver is almost 7,000 under the number expected. Returns from the State are coming in slowly, and the result may not be known for three days. The number enrolled here were 18,166, and more than 10,000 made claims for exemptions.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 6.—With reports of only eight shirkers throughout the entire State, Oregon is believed to have established a record in the war registration yesterday. Five of these shirkers were reported in Portland and the other three outside. The registration in Portland totaled 25,430 and the State probably will run it up to 86,000.

FEW DEFIED THE LAW.

Chicago District Leads in Number of Registration Arrests.

CHICAGO, June 6.—Hinton G. Clabaugh, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation announced today that twelve arrests had been made in the district under his jurisdiction in connection with registration. Three of the arrests were in Chicago, three in Gary, Ind., and six in Rockford, Ills.

DETROIT, June 6.—Four young men were arrested here today for failure to register yesterday. Persons of military age employed at automobile plants and other factories were not permitted to go to work until they showed registration credentials.

TOLEDO, June 6.—Four men were arrested today accused of failure to register for conscription service. They are August Bruns, Ray Holbein, John Heckman, and Albert T. Werthoff.

BRISTOL, Conn., June 6.—Anthony Crasnikisky, 29, was arrested today far failing to register. He persisted in his refusal today.

ORDER RESTORED IN BUTTE.

BUTTE, Mont., June 6.—After the streets had been cleared and sixty-five disturbers arrested, National Guard troops, which were called by the local authorities to assist in thwarting an anti-war demonstration in this city last night, returned to their barracks this morning and order was restored.

According to the police the disturbance resulted from an efort of Finns to hold an anti-draft demonstration.

IGNACIO, Col., June 6.—All except eleven of the Ute Indians who refused to register yesterday under the selective draft law came in today and submitted to registration. A posse, led by Sheriff John Alexander, went in search of the remaining eleven. The men who surrendered were under the impression that registration meant that they would have to go to France to fight.

WEBSTER CITY, Iowa, June 6.—Several natives of Alsace-Lorraine protested strenuously yesterday when they came to register under the selective draft law, and were listed as of German nationality. Finally an appeal was taken to the County Attorney. He ruled that the men should be classed as Germans because the province was a part of the German Empire when the men were born, despite their French antecedents and sympathy.

NEW ENGLAND SHOWS UPWELL

Massachusetts Officials Assert Registration Exceeds Expectations.

BOSTON, June 6.—Massachusets exceeded all expectations in the extent to which her youth registered yesterday for military service, Charles F. Gettemy, Director of Military Enrollment, said tonight.

His figures were not complete, but, with 300 of the 354 cities and towns in the State accounted for, the total was 344,289. These figures, which include unofficial returns from ten cities, compare with his previous estimate for the same places of 324,412 eligibles and are only 2,600 less than the estimate of 346,865 for the entire State. Returns from the missing places and from various institutions will add materially to this total.

The figures for the registration will not be at hand for several days, the failure of registrars in this city and other places to classify and tabulate the cards properly having caused confusion in some of the returns.

Mr. Gettemy said that the State would be divided for selective draft purposes into 122 districts, 25 of which would be in this city.

HARTFORD, Conn., June 6.—Tabulation of Connecticut registration is still incomplete, less than 100 of the 168 towns in the State having reported to the Governor's office. The indications were, it was said, for a State registration close to 170,000. The figures for the ninety-eight towns reporting gave a total of 86,804.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 6.—Rhode Island's total registration was estimated today by George H. Webb, Director, at 52,800, as compared with a Census Bureau estimate of 54,875. The total in Providence was 21,910.

AUGUSTA, Me., June 6.—Although total registration figures will not be available for several days because of the difficulty of obtaining returns from the outlying districts, Adjutant General Presson said today that available reports indicated the State had exceeded the Census Bureau's estimate of 63,578.

REGISTER LATE COMERS.

One Man's Wife Went to Movies and Failed to Waken Him.

Scores of men who failed to register because of ignorance of the law, or unintentional negligence, or because of absence from the city, appeared at the office of City Clerk Scully yesterday to file affidavits and to register. In Manhattan the number who thus registered was about 800, while in Brooklyn there were about 125. In many cases the excuses were unusual. For instance, one man asserted that he fully expected to register at 8 o'clock, but his wife went to a moving picture show after he went to sleep and did not return to wake him until 11 o'clock, two hours after the polls closed.

"It was this way," he said to United States Marshal Thomas D. McCarthy, to whom he told his tale of woe. "I got home at the usual time, had my supper, and told my wife I intended to go to the registration place at 8 o'clock. She promised to wake me up if I happened to fall asleep. Well, I went to sleep, and she went to a moving picture show, and when she got back it was 11 o'clock. I did not intend to violate the law, and I am ready to register now."

The man made an affidavit and was sent to City Clerk Scully's office, where he registered.

A letter was received from a sailor who reported his failure to register. He said he had stood in line until fifteen minutes before his ship sailed. He wrote out the answers to the questions and mailed them in, adding, "I will be back some weeks hence ready to be drafted or do anything the country wants me to do. I am no slacker, just a plain sailor who is willing to do his bit."

The letter was placed on file, and the sailor will be registered on his return to New York, if his ship escapes the submarines.

In another case a man who appeared at the office of Marshal McCarthy said that he was on his way to New York, by automobile, Tuesday night and expected to arrive at his registration place at 8 o'clock. When about ten miles out he said he was held up by a punctured tire and when he got the new tire on it was 8:35 o'clock. The registration place was closed when he arrived. He made an affidavit and was registered by the City Clerk.

At least 100 men who said they were at sea on Tuesday appeared at the office of the City Clerk. In nearly every instance they were sailors, and after filing their affidavits they were registered.

A traveling salesman who was on the train all day yesterday and did not see why he should stop off at some country Court House to register, arrived at the Federal Building in the afternoon. He was permitted to register.

OTHERS NAMED IN SPY PLOT

Prisoners Make Statements to Roosa and Arrests of Leaders Expected.

All five of the prisoners who have been arrested or detained in connection with the plot to smuggle mail into Germany and to establish German wireless stations in Mexico have made statements to Assistant United States District Attorney Frank M. Roosa implicating others, and arrests of the directing heads of the conspiracy are expected.

Harry F. Perissi, the agent in this country of the German General Electric Company, who was indicted for his part in organizing a secret mail service to Germany with the help of sailors on Scandinavian ships, was released yesterday on bail of $25,000 after he had talked freely to Government officials. His clerk, Irving Bonparte, and an alleged fellow-conspirator, Axel E. Melchar, a saloonkeeper, were released on bail of [illegible] each.

TWO STATES REPORT ON REGISTRATION

a man's own neighbors will be the judges to pass upon his case. There were more than 125,000 precincts and equal decentralization will characterize the exemption machinery.

President Wilson, upon whom the law imposes the duty of selecting and appointing all these boards, probably will delegate this authority to the State officials. Their loyal and enthusiastic response, exemplified in the registration, is certain.

Then comes the appointment of the Boards of Review, to which each man who may be chosen by his local board for army duty may carry his case if he feels himself wronged. These, broadly speaking, will be created for each Federal judicial district and the President may appoint them himself.

There is no statement yet available as to the process by which men will be drawn to appear before the exemption boards. Secretary Baker has said that something in the nature of a jury wheel might be employed, but beyond that no information has been given out.

Reports today from all parts of the country bore out the indications of last night that the great enterprise had been carried through without objection or opposition from a sufficient number of citizens to be worthy of mention. Registration was completed virtually without disorder—certainly with only a small part of the disturbances that usually characterize national elections.

General Crowder tonight outlined what is to follow registration:

"Registration marks the completion of the first well-defined step in the execution of the selective service law," he said. "The actual recording has been practically finished in a single day, but the arrangements and copying of the cards, their aggregation into appropriate groups, the publication of lists and the garnering in of delayed registrations will consume a week or ten days. In the meantime the machinery of the registration is being readjusted to serve as machinery for the further execution of the law. This work is proceeding rapidly and should be completed coincidently with the tying up of the loose ends of registration.

"When this is all done regulations governing the jurisdiction of the local boards will be issued and the machinery will then be ready to proceed to the drawing which will result in a determination of the order in which registered men will be examined for the purpose of their selection for military or industrial service.

"When this list of order is determined, it is expected that the War Department will be able to make a definite call for men, and as soon as this data is available the quotas necessary to fill the first call will be assigned to the several States.

"The policy of decentralization, the application of which has so successfully consummated the registration, will be adhered to throughout. The various States, knowing the number of men which they must call and the order in which each particular man is to be examined, can then assign to the various local boards the task of selecting the number of men necessary to complete the quota for the locality under the jurisdiction of each board.

"Precise time limits cannot be set at present for the reason that it is desired to have uniformity of operation of the machines throughout the United States and to have each step taken simultaneously throughout the nation. Mountainous, heavily wooded and sparsely settled States cannot move with the expedition of compact and densely populated States. While dates are not to be named precisely, these steps will follow each other promptly with a fixed purpose of giving as much time as possible to men who are selected to adjust their affairs, to make their farewell and to avoid the inconvenience and suffering that would result from a hasty change from civil to military status."

Attorney General Gregory reiterated tonight his gratification over the absence of any serious disorders yesterday. A statement from the Department of Justice said:

"The reports received at the department throughout the day from officers and agents in widely separated sections of the country reflected the same absence of trouble and general response to the provisions of the Conscription act that characterized the reports received yesterday. These reports indicate that the registration may exceed materially the estimates prepared by the War Department on a basis of census figures. Department officials have been led by the heaviness of the registration to believe that the number of evasions of the law would prove even fewer than had been anticipated.

"Already several arrests have been made because of the willful refusal of the individuals in question to register, and the officers and agents of the department, acting on the instructions given them several days ago, will continue to take men into custody wherever such cases come to their attention and prosecute them in accordance with the criminal provisions of the Selective Draft act.

"The fact that a man has registered does not in any way curtail his freedom of action. Until he is actually selected he is at liberty to go where he pleases. Should he see fit to leave the country he may do so, but he must return immediately if he is selected for the draft."

JOFFRE'S PLANS ADOPTED HERE

French Say He Will Prepare Our Troops for Best Service.

PARIS, June 6.—A semi-official note says that Marshal Joffre while in America had a conference with American military chiefs, at which a plan of organization for the new American army was elaborated in agreement with the British leaders. The note says:

"It will surprise none that the Marshal took a preponderating part in the plan, literally everything which he advised being adopted. His collaborators styled him themselves 'the godfather of the American army.'

"At a moment when the first elements of this army are getting ready to take their place on our front beside our allies, the French Government considered it only fitting to confirm the Marshal in this sponsorship. The Minister of War feels that the moral authority attaching to his person and high situation, as well as his great experience gained in the present war, will enable him, in accord with the American high command, to give to the new troops all the necessary advice and direction, so as to prepare them morally and materially for the efforts they are called upon the make.

'The programme for this collaboration has already been drawn up. Marshal Joffre is officially intrusted with the mission of putting constantly at the disposal of our great sister republic what France has learned in three years of hard campaigning."

RESULTS PLEASE FRANCE.

M. Cambon Comments on Enthusiasm Shown in Registration.

PARIS, June 6.—M. Cambon, Secretary to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, said today:

"The news of the enthusiasm with which the Americans celebrated June 5 and the results of the registration has been received with the greatest satisfaction by Frenchmen."

WHITMAN PROCLAIMS STATE'S WAR CENSUS

TO ENROLL MEN AND WOMEN

All Persons from 16 to 51 Years Called Upon—State Will Issue Identification Cards.

ALBANY, June 6.—A proclamation ordering a census and inventory of the military resources of the State to be taken between June 11 and June 25 was issued by Governor Whitman tonight. All persons, both male and female, who have attained the age of 16 years and have not reached their fifty-first birthday will be required to give such information as the State desires concerning themselves and their property.

No one between the prescribed ages will be exempt from answering the census questions, except persons in the military or naval service of the United States, those detained in penal institutions under sentence of felony, or in State hospitals or licensed private institutions for the insane, and Indians having a permanent residence on Indian reservations in the State.

The proclamation contains a warning of liability to arrest and imprisonment for any one "who neglects or refuses to appear personally, when called upon to do so, by or before those authorized to command his presence, or who makes incomplete or equivocal or willfully false or misleading answers, or who refuses to be sworn, or in any manner neglects or fails to comply with this proclamation."

Identification cards will be issued to all persons who personally give their answers to the census questions as evidence of such enrollment. Each census enumerator also will have a special card to be employed when he finds a man between the ages of 18 and 45. The enumerator will serve upon such a man notice that he is thereby enrolled upon the State Militia list.

All persons subject to the census who through illness or absence are unable to furnish the information called for in the manner prescribed shall within the dates specified obtain from any director of census and enrollment officer or from the Adjutant General a form on which such information will be furnished, and properly fill out and execute the same under oath, returning the form to the enrollment officer at his permanent address in time to reach that official on or before June 25. In cases when this rule can not be complied with on account of exceptional circumstances application should be made to the enrolling officer, giving the grounds for such disability and requesting instructions.

An army of 50,000 volunteer census takers will be kept busy for two weeks in taking the census of the 5,600,000 persons who it is estimated come between the designated ages.

The police will begin taking a census of all male and female residents of New York, between the ages of 16 and 50 years, beginning at 8 o'clock this morning. The census will be taken in accordance with instructions received from the directors of State military census and will provide a check for Tuesday's registration. It will also help the authorities in the State military registration, June 11 to June 25.

The Home Defense League has been called in to assist the police in obtaining the desired information. Each Police Captain will be held responsible for the census in his precinct, which will be divided into sections and blocks, according to the population.

The patrolmen will be provided with cards, upon which they will fill out the name, address, age, and sex of the person recorded. It is expected that the census will be completed by Saturday.

In the event that a family is absent when the census taker calls, a circular will be left, requesting that the desired information be supplied and left with the janitor of the house, where it will be collected by a patrolman, or the card can be given to any patrolman on post, who will return it to the police station.

Persons who refuse to comply with the order will be reported to the military authorities.

FILIPINOS READY TO FIGHT.

President Is Told Force of 25,000 Will Be Available in 10 Months.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—A force of 25,000 Filipino troops, wherever they may be needed, was offered to President Wilson today by Manuel Quezon, former Philippine Delegate in Congress, and now President of the Philippine Senate.

Mr. Quezon said the force was being organized and could be made ready in ten months.

After his call at the White House Mr. Quezon issued a statement saying the Filipina people were ready to stand on "the democratic principle that he, who is unwilling to serve his country in the hour of need as a soldier, is unworthy to help govern his country as a citizen.

"There are no slackers in the Philippines. We have more volunteers than we shall possibly be able to use."

U-BOAT BASES HARD HIT IN AIR AND SEA ATTACKS

British Bombs Wrecked Zeebrugge Shipping; Shells Damaged Ostend Dockyard Shops.

LONDON, June 6.—An official statement issued today by the British War Department announces that a successful bombing raid was carried out against hostile shipping at Zeebrugge on Monday night. The text of the statement reads:

> On Monday a hostile machine was attacked by one of our Royal Air Service pilots from Dunkirk fifteen miles out to sea and was driven down in a vertical nose dive into the sea.
>
> During the night a successful bombing raid was carried out on hostile shipping in the harbor of Bruges (Zeebrugge.) A big explosion was observed and many smaller ones. This was followed by another raid on the same objective at daybreak. In all many tons of bombs were dropped.
>
> A hostile kite balloon was shot down by one of our machines. In every case all our machines returned safely.

Another official report dealing with yesterday's bombardment of Ostend says:

> A photographic reconnoissance over Ostend shows as a result of yesterday's bombardment from the sea that a majority of the workshops in the dockyard were either seriously damaged or totally destroyed.
> The entrance gates to the dockyard basin, the wharf, the submarine shelter and a destroyer under repair were badly damaged. It appears also that several vessels were sunk.

COALITION IN CANADA SEEMS TO HAVE FAILED

French Canadian and Labor Hatred of Conscription Regarded as Insuperable Obstacles.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 6.—Premier Borden and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, leader of the Opposition, appear to have failed to reach an agreement for the formation of a coalition Ministry representative of the two parties in Parliament. Coalition was proposed by the Premier for the purpose of bringing support to the bill for compulsory military service to furnish reinforcements for the 400,000 Canadians at the front.

Great hostility to the compulsory service measure has developed in Quebec and in Canadian organized labor circles. Considerable dissatisfaction also has been expressed in the agricultural districts. These conditions are believed to have led Sir Wilfrid finally to reject the proposal that he bring his followers to unite with the Conservative Party which they now oppose. The railway, banking, manufacturing, and other large interests of the country have strongly supported coalition.

Today the Opposition leader called upon the Premier and is understood to have expressed his regret that he could not join with him in the coalition offered. Tonight Sir Robert called twice on Sir Wilfrid in the hope of inducing a modification of his views, but it is understood that he failed to do so, and that formal statements will be made in Parliament tomorrow by the two leaders.

There is an intimation that the next move contemplated is for the Premier to go over Sir Wilfrid's head to some of his Liberal followers with an invitation to enter the Borden Administration, which would then be termed a Union Government. An effort will be made to get the compulsory service bill through Parliament with the Conservative and Liberal votes which the Premier believes he can command.

2,276 MORE ARMY RECRUITS.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—New York continued to lead in daily recruiting for the regular army on Tuesday, turning out 325 men, while Pennsylvania was second with 230, and Illinois third with 216. The total for the country yesterday was 2,276 men, and since April 1 103,771 men have been recruited.

New York State has furnished 9,543 men since April 1, and should pass the 10,000 mark tomorrow. Pennsylvania has furnished 11,530 men and Illinois 10,442 men since April 1.

ALLIED LABORITES RESENT PEACE CALL

HINT AT BROKEN FAITH

PETROGRAD, June 6, (via London.)—Arthur Henderson, British Minister without portfolio; Albert Thomas, French Minister of Munitions, and Emile Vandervelde, Belgian Minister of Munitions, have sent a letter to the Council of Soldiers' and Workmen's Delegates expressing seurprise that a call had been issued by the council for an international conference to consider means of ending the war before the negotiations between the British, French, and Belgian delegations and the council had been concluded. The letter mentions the fact that the council invited the British majority and minority organizations representing the laboring classes to come to Russia to discuss conditions under which such a gathering would be called, and adds:

"We could not expect you would convoke a conference under conditions which the previous negotiations did not allow us to foresee. During these negotiations we showed our agreement with you on the peace formula of the Soldiers' and Workmen's Delegates, on the express condition that this peace formula should be clearly defined and drawn up in such a manner as to exclude neither liberation of territories in accord with the wishes of their inhabitants nor reparation for damage caused to invaded countries. On the other hand, we formally declared it was impossible for us to support a plenary conference before having drawn up in common agreement a series of conditions definite enough to remove all doubt, to discourage all diplomatic manoeuvres by our enemies, and to repudiate Socialist factions which would not be willing to co-operate in the work of anti-imperialism for which you are convoking the International. We are more than ever convinced that a plenary meeting to which would be admitted those supporting the present policy of the majority Socialists in the Central Empires would be harmful and dangerous."

The letter adds that it would be possible to think of common action only when the German Socialists had issued a declaration proclaiming a rupture with the imperialism of aggression and with the Emperor. It concludes:

"Finally, we draw your attention to the passage in your declaration concerning political liquidation with imperialist Governments and classes. We are in complete agreement with the council in affirming the necessity of a rupture between Socialism and Government or classes whose war aims are tainted with imperialism, but we have not ceased and shall not cease to consider that national union against aggressive imperialism is the duty incumbent upon all classes, and one from which the Socialist proletariat could not hold aloof without abdicating and compromising vital interests of democracy and socialism. We shall be glad to attend the meeting in order to explain ourselves more fully."

The organ of the Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates refrains from publishing the letter of Mr. Henderson and his colleagues.

Henderson Cordially Received.

By HERBERT BAILEY.

Copyright, 1917, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PETROGRAD, Monday, June 4.—Arthur Henderson informed me this afternoon that he had been received with every cordiality by the members of the Provisional Government, who keenly appreciate his mission and expressed great willingness to avail themselves of his experience and services. He has already addressed the Government in session and has had private interviews with M. Terestchenko, the Foreign Minister, and M. Skobeleff, the Minister of Labor, and saw M. Kerensky, the War Minister, today.

Mr. Henderson is very desirous of bringing the Russian Socialists into intimate touch with the allied Socialists in order to thrash out questions of war and peace, while he is not less anxious to remove the absurdly false impressions current here regarding the strikes in Great Britain last month. The British Government has set no time limit to his mission. All he is asked to do is to render such services as Russia may require, remove misunderstandings, and report regularly on the labor and general situation.

POLICE CHARGE CROWDS IN STOCKHOLM RIOTS

Disorders Occasioned by Socialist Interpellations Negatived in the Riksdag.

LONDON, June 6.—Encounters between crowds of workers and the police and soldiers in Stockholm in the course of a debate in the Riksdag on Socialist interpellations are reported in a Reuter dispatch from the Swedish capital.

During the debate the streets near the Parliament building were barred by a double line of soldiers and police. Considerable crowds gathered and stones were thrown. The police used their swords and clubs, and several persons were injured.

APPROVES RIBOT'S WAR AIMS.

French Senate Indorses Premier's Statement Which Quotes Wilson.

PARIS, June 6.—The Senate today unanimously adopted a resolution, introduced by Senator Regismanset, President of the Radical Left, in support of the Government's attitude as to France's war aims.

Addressing that body, Premier Ribot defined the Government's attitude toward peace in the same general sense as in his speech in the Chamber of Deputies on Monday—restitution of Alsace-Lorraine and reparation for the damages in the invaded territories of France. After examining into the justice of these aspirations, M. Ribot referred to the resolution passed in the Chamber and added:

"What we voted in that resolution we shall again find, I am sure, in the note President Wilson is sending to Petrograd. We are in accord with the elevated and clear conception of President Wilson. He has said so himself. In the eyes of the United States, the restitution of Alsace-Lorraine will be neither conquest nor annexation; reparation for damages will not be indemnity of war, but a simple act of justice."

The Premier, discussing the future of the world, said:

"It is necessary that a league of peace be founded in the same spirit of democracy that France has had the honor of introducing into the world. The nations now in arms will constitute the society of nations. This is the future of humanity, or one might well despair of the future. President Wilson upon this point is with us. All nations not predatory must unite to prevent others from disturbing the peace. They must unite in an armed league to maintain throughout the world peace, justice and liberty."

LADY DECIES ON MISSION.

Former Miss Gould Going to Rumania with Hospital Contingent.

LONDON, Thursday, June 7.—The Daily Sketch announces that Lady Decies, formerly Miss Vivian Gould, is leaving for Rumania to work with the Scottish Women's Hospital contingent.

Since the beginning of the war she has worked hard in various charitable schemes, mostly connected with nursing the wounded.

hind the Entente front greatly puzzles the German press, which speculates as to what will be the next move.

BERLIN ADMITS A SETBACK.

Say Their Position Was Penetrated Near Roeux Railway Station.

BERLIN, June 6, (via London.)—A British attack delivered yesterday only succeeded in penetrating the German position at the Roeux railway station, where fighting continues for small sections of trenches, says today's Army Headquarters statement.

The text of the statement reads:

During the evening and at night the fighting activity also increased in the neighborhood of the coast and also along the Artois front. At nightfall the British attacked with strong, deeply ranked forces on the northern bank of the Scarpe. Between Gavrelle and Fampoux the enemy was driven back with heavy losses by our Bavarian regiments. Further south the enemy's storming troops only succeeded in penetrating into our positions at the Roeux railway station. Fighting continued there for the possession of small trench sections.

Army Group of the German Crown Prince—On the Chemin des Dames and in Western Champagne the artillery activity was variable in intensity. During Monday night the French attempted a third attack northwest of Braye. This assault also failed to yield them any gain, but cost them considerable sacrifices. Strong French forces attacked our trenches on the Winterberg in the morning with equal lack of success and equally great sacrifices.

Army Group of Duke Albrecht—Nothing of importance occurred.

The German evening communication says:

The tense situation in the Wytschaete sector continues. On the Chemin des Dames infantry engagements have taken place which were successful for us. Otherwise there is nothing new to report.

GERMANS ATTACK ON AISNE.

Heavy Encounters at Several Points Net Small Gain Near Braye.

PARIS, June 6.—The Germans have not yet given up hope of driving the French from the Chemin des Dames, the high road that runs along the ridge north of the Aisne River. After their sanguinary repulse on the plateaus north of Craonne, where they sacrificed large numbers of men in useless attacks, the Germans have turned their attention again to the western end of the Aisne ridge.

A very violent bombardment on the front extending from the Ailette River to the Soissons Laon road continued throughout the night, the Germans also paying particular attention to the region northwest of Braye-en-Laonnois. Several attacks were delivered in this sector this morning. Two of these were directed against the Bois du Mortier, north of Vauxaillon, both of which broke down with losses under the heavy French gunfire.

On the front northwest of Braye-en-Laonnois the Germans had a little more success. They concentrated their efforts on a front of about a mile between the hamlet known as Le Pantheon and La Royèn farm. The attack was repulsed after heavy fighting except at one point, at the Bovettes salient, where the enemy occupied some parts of the French first line.

Late yesterday the Germans delivered two attacks on the Hurtebise farm, near Craonne, but they were driven back to their trenches with considerable losses.

This morning, after the bombardment of our positions between the Ailette River and the Laon road and northwest of Braye-en-Laonnois, the Germans delivered several attacks at various points in this sector. Two attempts against the Bois du Mortier, north of Vauxaillon, broken down immediately by our fire, gave to the enemy no other result than appreciable losses.

The Germans concentrated their efforts north of the Chemin des Dames, where they attacked on the front of Le Pantheon-La Royère Farm. The enemy attack, repulsed in its entirety, was not able to reach our lines except at one point south of Filain. In the neighborhood of our Bovettes salient, after a stubborn engagement, some trench elements of the first line remained in the hands of the enemy. Everywhere else our assailants were driven back to their own trenches.

The day was calm on the remainder of the front, save in Belgium, where spirited artillery fighting took place in the sector of Nieuport.

The statement issued this afternoon follows:

There was great activity during the night over a large part of the Chemin-des-Dames and further west, between the Ailette River and the Laon road. The artillery fighting became very intense late at night, especially east of Vauxaillon, north of the Laffaux mill and over the whole region northwest of Braye-en-Laonnois.

Near Hurtebise, after a spirited bombardment, the Germans late yesterday made two attacks in vain on our positions northeast of the monument. The Germans were driven back to their trenches after a violent engagement in which they suffered heavy losses at the hands of our soldiers, and our line was maintained everywhere. Over the remainder of the front there was intermittent cannonading.

Our pilots engaged in numerous fights with the enemy yesterday. Seven German airplanes and one captive balloon were brought down. It is also learned that another German airplane was forced to earth east of Filain on Monday.

KERENSKY SENDING SOLDIERS TO FRONT

All Men Up to 40 in Medical Services, with All Officers, Go to Fighting Lines.

PETROGRAD STRIKE IS OFF

Six-Hour Day and Other Demands of War Workers Granted—Kronstadt Reds Yielding.

PETROGRAD, June 6.—Minister of War Kerensky has directed that all officers employed with the Red Cross and other medical services behind the lines and all rank and file under the age of 40 years in those services shall be sent to the front within three weeks. The minister has left Petrograd for the northwest front.

The threatened strike in 140 factories in Petrograd, engaged in metal manufactures and other war work, which was fixed for today, has been averted. The strikers' claims were granted, including the six-hour day.

In south Russia the employers in the factories of the Donetz district offered the men a 50 per cent. increase in wages. Representatives of the workers, however, refused to accept the offer.

The Executive Committee of the Kronstadt group of workmen's and soldiers' delegates has adopted a resolution disavowing any intention of separating from Russia or of forming an independent republic, and declaring that on the contrary they will continue to recognize the Provisional Government until an all-Russian Central Council of workmen's and soldiers' delegates is able to take the central authority in its own hands.

According to the Russkia Volia a number of Kronstadt sailors landed at Oranienbaum, on the Gulf of Finland, nineteen miles west of Petrograd, recently and tried to induce the garrison to follow the example of Kronstadt, but were received coldly. Some of the more irresponsible men of the detachment said that Kronstadt would not hesitate to fire upon Oranienbaum if it supported the Provisional Government, whereupon those in authority in the town said they would reply with sixteen-inch guns. Several incendiary fires occurred in Oranienbaum during the holidays.

An official announcement, made prior to the departure of the Socialist Ministers Tseretelli and Skobeleff for Kronstadt, reads:

"The Provisional Government, recognizing that the present condition of affairs in Kronstadt is both menacing and intolerable, has requested the Socialist Ministers Tseretelli and Skobeleff to visit the fortress city with the object of clearing up its attitude toward the Central Power.

"They are charged with investigating the defense of the fortresses, the character of the local administration of justice, the conditions under which prisoners are detained and to make a full and detailed report of their investigation to the Government, in order that necessary measures may immediately be taken to deal with the trouble."

It is reported that a thousand soldiers from the Russian front have arrived at Dvinsk suffering from the effects of poison as a result of drinking vodka.

KRONSTADT AS A REPUBLIC.

Governed by a Council, Which Is Controlled by a Parliament.

KRONSTADT, June 6, (via London, Thursday, June 7.)—The Kronstadt secessionist administration is now fully organized and exercising all administrative, military, social, and economic functions of an independent Government.

The supreme executive is a governing council of thirty members, of whom twenty are soldiers and sailors and the remainder workmen, including one woman, who was elected from among the factory hands, and also one representative each of the local Socialist organizations.

Ultimate authority rests in a Parliament of 318 members, elected by the soldiers, sailors and workmen, with three representatives of each Socialist organization and thre women factory hands, who are said to be extremely active social workers and enthusiastic propagandists.

The party groupings in the Parliament already are defined. The social revolutionaries dominate in the general political questions, being most eloquent and active and mostly related to the peasants, from whom come a vast majority of the military. In pursuance of the Kronstadt program of discouraging dominant personalities as being dangerous to liberty, the Government has no Ministers.

All departmental work is done by commissions, the members of which are to have equal power. There are commissions resembling petty War Ministries, which control the actions of the military and naval commanders, who are all locally elected, and also a General Revision Commission exercising the functions of a Controller General, which will check up expenditures and the work of departmental commissions. The Government publishes an official newspaper with reports of the debates in Parliament and other news.

RUSSIAN PEACE PLAN BREAKS PARTY TRUCE

By HAROLD WILLIAMS.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PETROGRAD, Monday, June 4.—Russian Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates has decided to summon an international Socialist congress at Stockholm on July 8. The announcement of this important decision is accompanied by the still more important statement of the principles on which the proposed congress is to be based.

The aim of the conference is a strict blow at the coalition policy—at the union of parties in Great Britain, at the "Union Sacrée" in France, and the "Burgfriede" in Germany. The bearing of that on the position of the present Russian coalition Government is not clear, but the assumption seems to be that the Russian coalition Government is working for peace, or that at any rate it will act in accordance with all of the workers' council.

For the combinations of national unities that now carry on the war there is to be substituted an international unity of one class that is to insist on peace. Europe is divided into great camps of States which are at war. The daring proposal of the Russian Socialists is to create a cross-division by organizing Europe into two new camps, that of the bourgeoisie and the proletariat, to neutralize the national division line and rob war of its sting. Revolution, in a word, is proposed as the alternative of war and the presupposition of peace.

It is as well that this should be put plainly. The British, French, and Belgian Socialists who are to be invited to the conference will be asked to decide on a radical change of attitude. They will be asked to transfer their energies from the work of active participation in a national war to that of the reassertion of the class principle as a means of securing peace.

The attitude of the council is severely logical, but for the practical success of the congress it would obviously have been better if there could have been a preliminary council of the allied Socialists.

There is another point that must be borne in mind. The views and policy of the council are not necessarily the views and policy of the Russian people. The revolution has thrown the Socialists to the top of the wave and given them an exceptional opportunity for urging their views on the masses of the people. The reception of their appeals by the masses has been enthusiastic, but this does not mean that the watchwords of the council are the final and considered view of the great bulk of the Russian people; still less that the peace policy they propose has the intelligent support of the Russian democracy.

The Russian democracy is politically untrained; its political education and organization have only just begun. The masses are easily swayed in one direction or another, and an audience that unanimously passes a resolution today may reverse it tomorrow. What you have in Russia at present is not a clearly articulate, disciplined, and organized public opinion, but an incoherent mass movement of which the Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates is the most energetic exponent.

M. Thomas, M. Vandervelde, and Mr. Henderson are negotiating now with the Socialist leaders in the hope of insuring that a preliminary conference of allied Socialists may be held in London, as originally proposed by the British Labor Party.

PESSIMISTIC OVER RUSSIA.

French Writer Questions Whether She Has Conscience and Honor.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, June 6.—The Russian situation is viewed here with frank pessimism. Frederick Masson, the French academician and famous historian, says in Le Gaulois:

"The consequences of the Russian revolution cannot be dissimulated. Is it possible to believe the Provisional Government will be able to re-establish order in the army and make possible an offensive in face of the declared opposition of the Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates? There was once a Russian Empire, but is there a Russian nation representing the various peoples inhabiting the territory of Russia? Is there a Russian conscience representing the collective conscience of the people? Is there Russian honor and a Russian fatherland?

"The person of the Emperor was a centre, a binding link. He symbolized the conscience and the honor of Russia. Now its elements are dissolving. Every one will try to realize the conception of his own dreams. In the peasant gatherings projects of unprecedented State control and despotism are looming up."

The Gazette de Lausanne declares that the present German optimism has only one real foundation—the deplorable turn things have taken in Russia. The writer lays the blame principally on the influence of Tolstoy's theories and adds: "However, the Russian armies in the course of the present war have not accomplished such exceptional exploits that defection on their part need be deplored. The aid of the United States will more than remedy the flabbiness, and perhaps even the treason, of the Muscovites."

NEW POST FOR ALEXIEFF.

Ex-Generalissimo Made Military Adviser of Provisional Government.

LONDON, June 6.—According to an official dispatch from Petrograd, General Michael Alexieff, who recently retired from the chief command of the Russian armies, has been appointed military adviser of the Provisional Government.

BY HERBERT BAILEY.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PETROGRAD, June 5.—The resignation of General Alexieff had been expected since the recent attack on him by the organ of the Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates. He had long found the position irksome.

When the council first sent delegations to the front and the soldiers instituted a system of election of officers, he applied to the Government for permission to deal with these anti-disciplinary forces in a drastic manner. His request was refused and he was curtly reminded that no such methods as he proposed would be tolerated. Again, during the crisis that led to the formation of the coalition, he pressed his resignation on the Government, as they refused to give him powers to enforce discipline, but Guchkoff's assistant hurried to Moghilev and prevailed on him to withdraw his resignation.

His speech on the formula "no annexations, no indeminities" and the subsequent attack by the Bulletin of the Council rendered his position intolerable, and when Kerensky visited headquarters Alexieff expressed his determination to resign.

Alexieff is a man of the Cromwellian school, reserved, strict, and vigorous. His successor, Brusiloff, is a man of another type, buoyant and affable.

HEARS TREATIES WERE STOLEN

AMSTERDAM, June 6.—The Hamburger Fremdenblatt publishes a Stockholm report, which is alleged to have emanated from Russian sources, that the original treaties between Russia and western powers, which since 1913 have disappeared from the Petrograd Foreign Office.

The rumor connects the disappearance of the treaties with "recent mysterious burglaries at the Foreign Office and in foreign embassies in the Russian capital."

WITH THE ITALIAN ARMY ON THE CARSO, June 5.—Probably the soldiers of every nation believe that victory is due them as certainly as their pay or their rations, or who would be a soldier? Certainly the Austrians believe it, and have to be led to a more reasonable state of mind.

But the Hungarian Honved prisoners who have come to the rear out of the flames and flying stone splinters on Monte Faiti were the toughest stuff yet encountered upon this diverse and terrible front. They swaggered back along the shrapnel-infested roads, containing themselves with difficulty, to the very gates of the barbed wire compound with the air of men who share the inheritance of victory. They were the best troops the enemy has yet shown us. I was told by a staff officer of the corps which captured these big fellows in the prime of life that they fought like tigers and could not believe they had been beaten.

They were part of the harvest of the fighting which has been going on during the last sixty hours. The Austrians, beaten everywhere, with losses standing, at a conservative estimate, at 85,000, have come back at us with a sort of despairing and frenzied gallantry which these generous Italians are the first to appreciate and admit, and they are fighting so much better than during the offensive that overcrowded the prisoner's camps that one has the impression that the uncomfortable fact of defeat and disgrace has taken this length of time to filter through General Boroevic's skull to his brain.

Their main efforts have been upon the Carso, where, up till yesterday moring, they maintained an intense bombardment upon those rags of their former line, where the Italian infantry was lying, trying, trying, under fire, to scratch itself a trench of some kind in the stone floor of the Carso. From their heavy calibre positions to the rear of Brestovica and south behind Hermada, around Vizovle, they shelled with vast 10-inch guns, while naval guns that were run up from Trieste upon railways to Sistiana or thereabouts bowled their great projectiles over the hump of Hermada upon the ruined Flondar lines and shallow rabbit scrapes where the tenacious Italian infantry were hanging on to their outpost outside Medeazza. Monte Faiti and all the line that extends thence southward to the westernmost cottages of Costagnevizza was enfiladed and spattered with flying steel and high explosives from copious batteries that shelter to the north behind San Marco, opposite Gorizia, where the guns are hidden among the full-leaved oaks of Panowitzer forest.

Upon the night of June 3 and 4, when the moment had ripened, the Austrians threw their sturmtruphen forward to blast a way for their main attacking forces into the new Italian positions. Faiti is one of that chain of blunt peaks which bounds the Carso on the north, and the Italians and Austrians have wrestled for months for possession of its crest. The line ran up the western slope of the mountain and turned south at an abrupt right angle upon its highest point, inclosing an angle which was marked upon the trench maps as the tooth of Faiti.

In the darkness of the night of June 3 Hungarian Honved storming troops came up to the two faces of the Italian position with a tremendous barrage fire shielding their front and shoved their desperate way into the lines. There were two battalions of chosen and eager fighting men, splendidly trained and equipped for their job, and their impetus and the intensiy of the gun fire which supported them availed for a moment to carry them through. The Italians, penned between the two sides of their salient, fell back, and up the slopes began to move in the dark the Austrian supports who shold have taken over the mountain from the storming forces, consolidated it, and held it. But they never got there.

What Italy did not know about gunnery she has learned during the last few months when Cadorna was training his new generation of gunners, and prompt as an answer to a bell came the Italian curtain fire, drawing behind the sturmtruphen and before their supports a very tempest veil of death which none could approach without destruction, and shutting in the stormers as into a chamber with the Italians, who came roaring forward in the shell illuminated night to reattack.

Those who came were the Romans of the Tiber brigade, with all Rome's world-glory and world-glamour behind them for tradition. There were four companies of the two Austrian storming battalions actually in some of the Faiti positions when the Tiber men came back, and they fought like trapped tigers. There were desperate and implacable battles, hand to hand and grenade to bayonet, upon those stony slopes, while all the guns in the south of Europe blazed at them. Sixty-two scowling, arrogant Hungarians went back to their cages behind the Italian line. The rest of those four companies, a thousand strong in all, are lying out under the tyrannous sun waiting for burial parties.

South of Faiti as far as Costagnevizza every Austrian attack was stopped dead, and they were not allowed to reach the ground by the Italians which at one point brought them forward till they stood at the front of the first ruined cottages of trench-tangled Costagnevizza itself. Further south still the fighting is proceeding. There was a certain Italian retirement upon some of the new conquered positions south of Jamiano, notably upon the northern centre of [illegible].

I have been watching the fight boiling back up the slopes all day and can see the [illegible] of the barrage fire that strides ahead of the attackers. What is [illegible] but as steadily as water runs down hill, but the details are lost in a surge of smoke that spouts and drifts upon the hillsides and makes cauldrons of valleys. We shall know more tonight but in the meantime the Italians have the habit of victory, and they are proving themselves slaves to the habit.

AUSTRIANS TELL OF GAINS.

Say They Took 6,500 Italians in Recovered Positions.

VIENNA, June 5, (via London, June 6.)—The Austrians have regained positions taken by the Italians south of Jamiano, on the front above Trieste, and captured more than 6,500 Italians, the War Office announces. The statement follows:

South of Jamiano, halfway between Montfalcone and Hermada, our troops, in a counterattack systematically prepared and carried out, recaptured a considerable portion of the trenches captured in this sector two weeks ago by the Italians. The enemy vainly threw into the battle his reserves, which arrived on foot or were brought in motors, in order to snatch again from us the territory which we conquered. In a struggle lasting a day and a night and which early today, owing to fresh Italian reinforcements, increased to the utmost violence, our heroic infantry remained victorious on the entire line and the enemy was repulsed everywhere.

Italian attempts to bring relief to the southern wing by thrusts near Costagnevizza and east of Gorizia failed completely before the brave defense of our troops.

The number of prisoners brought back yesterday near Jamiano amounts to 271 officers and 6,500 men. The total announced in the last report is thus increased to the extraordinary number, for a defensive battle, of of 22,000 prisoners.

An enemy biplane was shot down in an aerial fight over Dampazzo.

Italians Admit Falling Back.

ROME, June 6.—The Italian line before Flondar, on the front above Trieste, has been withdrawn slightly, the War Office announced in the following communication:

Lively artillery duels continued yesterday on the front from the Monte Nero area to the heights east of Gorizia. On the Carso the violent shelling of our positions from Vercia to Jamiano was resumed, provoking an energetic reply from our batteries.

South of Jamiano the fighting was less intense after the heavy action of Monday. Our new line fronting Flondar, however, has been withdrawn slightly to a position which is more advantageous tactically. In yesterday's action we took 256 prisoners, including 10 officers.

There was intense aerial activity. One enemy machine was beaten down by gunfire near Moos, in the Sexten Valley. Another was brought down in an aerial fight between the Vodice and Monte Santo.

Last night our bombing squadrons, notwithstanding violent shelling by anti-aircraft guns, dropped more than two tons of high explosives on the St. Pietro station of the Trieste-Lubiana Railway. Our machines returned safely.

8 GERMAN AIRPLANES FELLED IN RAID ON KENT

British Report Four Destroyed, Two Totally Disabled and Two Driven Down.

LONDON, June 6.—Eight out of eighteen German airplanes that took part in yesterday's air raid on Essex and Kent were driven down by British airmen. Four of these were to a certainty completely destroyed, while two others are believed to have been put totally out of commission.

Of the eighteen machines that started in the raid, two were brought down near the British coast after having dropped their bombs, as reported in the official British statement. The remaining sixteen were engaged by ten naval airmen from Dunkirk, who in a great battle over the sea destroyed two more of the Germans and drove down another four, two of which, it is reasonable to believe, according to the official report, were completely put out of action.

After the lesson of the Folkestone raid the British were ready for yesterday's visit, and from the moment the Germans left the Belgian coast they were engaged, first with patrols over the Channel, then with the land forces in England, and later, on their return, with the squadron of airplanes from Dunkirk.

The official statement follows:

Yesterday afternoon four Royal Naval Air Service pilots on patrol off Dunkirk observed about eighteen enemy aircraft off Ostend, well out at sea, proceeding in a northwesterly direction. Indecisive engagements took place, and the enemy were chased to England.

On their return journey the enemy were pursued and engaged by a naval machine from an air station on the Kentish coast. Two enemy aircraft were in turn attacked and driven down by this pilot, who then landed at Dunkirk. Meanwhile, [illegible] between Royal Naval Air Service machines from home stations and the enemy [illegible] over the Thames estuary.

Later ten naval pilots from Dunkirk encountered seventeen hostile aircraft off Ostend, returning from their raid on England, and numerous fights took place. Two of these hostile aircraft were completely destroyed and two others were driven down out of control, of which two are considered also to have been destroyed.

In addition to this prompt defensive action, a warning was given the inhabitants of the districts visited, and they were able to take cover, so that the casualties, while considerable, aggregating twelve killed and thirty-six wounded, were smaller than in the former visit to Folkestone, which had no warning.

Anti-aircraft gun fire and airplanes succeeded in keeping the raiders from the naval and military centres, and the casualties occurred chiefly in small towns and villages, on which bombs were dropped indiscriminately.

The increasing importance of airplane attacks upon England and counterattacks in Belgium by the British is being much commented upon, and it is expected the Summer months will see many repetitions of yesterday's activity.

Germans Claim Success at Sheerness.

BERLIN, June 6, (via London.)—A German air squadron has dropped more than 5,000 kilograms (11,000 pounds) of bombs on military establishments at Sheerness, England, German Army Headquarters announced today. Good hits were observed.

Reporting on the aviation activities of the Western front forces, the official statement says:

One of our airplane squadrons dropped more than 5,000 kilograms of bombs on military establishments at Sheerness, at the mouth of the Thames. Good hits were observed.

During numerous aerial battles along the front the enemy lost eleven airplanes. Lieutenant Allmenroeder won his twenty-fifth and twenty-sixth victories, and Lieutenant Voss his thirty-third.

The raid alluded to in the official statement is that reported by the British authorities as carried out by the Germans over towns and villages in Essex and Kent. Sheerness is a fortified seaport and naval arsenal in the northwest corner of the island of Sheppey, in Kent, a vast dockyard being located there. It has a population of more than 18,000, according to the latest available figures.

ELATED OVER AIR DEFENSE.

LONDON, Thursday, June 7.—The morning newspapers today display with gratification the news of the toll exacted from the German air raiders, which, they remark, was a terrible price to pay for a raid which effected virtually nothing of military importance.

It is generally assumed that ten German machines were lost, which, some of the commentators express the belief, is almost enough to cause the Germans to cease repetitions of their airplane raids.

The damage inflicted on the raiders, taken in connection with the reduction in the sinkings of vessels by submarines and the success of naval and airplane attacks on enemy bases in Belgium, has instilled a spirit of elation in the editorials and news columns generally.

PRESIDENT URGES FOOD MEASURES

passed. One provides for food survey and food stimulation. It has gone through both houses, and now only awaits being reported out of a joint conference committee, which is expected to reach an agreement next week.

The vital feature of the bill as passed is the provision for a food census to ascertain agricultural stocks and for aiding farmers in supplying them with seed at cost price. It also enables the President to control shipments of food so that they do not go to enemy destination.

Another bill passed by the Senate provides against food hoarding and against speculation in grain futures. This is to go to the House early next week. The only remaining bill of importance to the Administration is the food control measure, carrying the appointment of Mr. Hoover as food controller. It was said tonight that all the bills probably would be disposed of within three weeks.

Delay Makes Britons Anxious.

LONDON, Thursday, June 7.—In the House of Commons today, in reply to a question on the food situation, Captain Charles Bathurst, Parliamentary Secretary to the Food Control Department, said it was not in the public interest to give any information regarding food supplies, but it was of the greatest importance to the success of the Allies' cause that food exports from America should be on the highest possible scale for the remainder of the war.

Captain Bathurst's statement is somewhat disquieting to the public and the press. The Daily Chronicle, in an editorial on the subject, thinks there is more in it than meets the eye, and proceeds to refer to the delay in the execution by the Washington Administration of the food plans owing to the disagreement in Congress.

"It is not for us," says the paper, "to criticise the course of American legislation, but in this case we may be pardoned for feeling considerable anxiety at delays, which, if extended further, might entail most serious consequences for the allied countries."

The Daily News, after remarking that the whole situation with respect to the production of food in Great Britain is thoroughly unsatisfactory and likely to remain so as long as men continue to be drawn from agriculture for the army, says:

"Increased importation is no less vital than increased home production, and the public will become greatly reassured when the measure that makes Mr. Hoover food controller in America and confers upon him plenty of powers becomes a law. Without desiring either to question or discuss the procedure of the United States Legislature, we may be permitted to emphasize the importance of setting the direction of food exportation from America at the earliest possible moment. There is no doubt that exportation [illegible] on the highest possible scale [illegible] when Mr. Hoover's appointment is made definite.

"We are looking to the American Continent, North and South, for vital supplies for ourselves and our allies. [illegible] more organized system. Confidence in [illegible] is a fine exhibition of voluntary discipline and [illegible] a fine impression in Europe. [illegible] the food department [illegible] it will display equal efficiency."

AVIATORS FLY TODAY FOR LIBERTY LOAN

LEAVE CITY HALL AT 12:30

Public to Get an Idea of a German Air Raid—No Oversubscription Yet, Committee Reports.

The greatest fleet of airplanes that ever appeared over an American city will circle around City Hall at 12:30 today, and will then sweep from the Battery to the Bronx, distributing Liberty Loan circulars on the way. It is expected that these airplanes will give the people of New York a fairly good idea of what the residents of London and other British cities have witnessed when their homes were raided by German air fleets.

Captain Kilmer, U. S. A., commanding the aviation camp at Mineola, has completed the plans for today's Liberty Loan aerial rally. Unless the weather is extremely bad or some other unforeseen difficulty arises the fleet will rise promptly at noon and make a bee line for the City Hall, where it will be met by two planes from Governors Island. Before leaving their stations the machines will be stocked up with Liberty Bond circulars. Each machine will carry fifty pounds of circulars, which have been packed in such a manner that they will disperse automatically as they are thrown from the machines. If they should fail to disperse and if the packages should fall intact to the ground they would crush the life out of any one that they might strike.

As soon as the entire fleet assembles at the City Hall, Captain Kilmer will give the signal for a military formation, which will visualize for spectators below the precise manner in which a German air fleet moves out after its defenseless prey in English and French cities.

Following the completion of the military formation the squadron will disperse. Two of the machines will go down Broadway into the financial district, scattering circulars on the way. The other eighteen will fly toward Harlem and the Bronx. Some of them will take a course over Fifth Avenue, others will work up Broadway, while the remainder flank them on each side.

When the main section reaches Central Park they will dip close to the ground and give the spectators a good view of the movements of a flyer.

The bond circulars will have the following statement printed in red ink:

"This was dropped by a United States aviator. It might have been a German bomb. To avoid bombs buy bonds."

Various unofficial reports having been published to the effect that the Liberty Loan had already been fully subscribed and would be largely oversubscribed, the Liberty Loan Committee of the New York District took occasion yesterday to authorize the statement that the amount subscribed to date would not bring about an oversubscription and it is felt that there should be no let-up in the vigorous campaign for subscriptions, both large and small.

The committee announced that banks in two communities in this district, Millbrook, N. Y., and Verona, N. J., had sent in applications exceeding their theoretical allotments, made on the basis of banking resources. It is requested by the Liberty Loan Committee that the amount of subscriptions collected by banks be reported as rapidly as figures are available. It was also announced that within a few days the total of subscriptions in this Reserve District and throughout the nation would be published.

Among large subscriptions reported yesterday were: Harry Payne Whitney, $1,000,000; Johnson & Higgins, $1,000,000; the American Metals Company, Ltd., $1,500,000; August Belmont & Co., $1,000,000; J. S. Bache & Co., $1,500,000; Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, $2,000,000; Ambrose Monell, $500,000; Lawrence Turnure & Co., $500,000; the Minerals Separation North American Corporation, $100,000; Oelrichs & Co., $100,000; J. H. Rossbach & Bros., $100,000; Eagle Pencil Company, $100,000; the MacAndrews & Forbes Company, $100,000; the Freeport Sulphur Company, $500,000; New York Library, $100,000; Mrs. Anna M. Harkness, $650,000; Edward S. Harkness, $500,000; the Hong Kong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, $50,000, and the First National Bank of Tenafly, N. J., $112,000; B. Y. Frost & Co., $200,000.

The Liberty Loan Committee announced yesterday that about $500,000 worth of the $10 participation certificates, issued by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, had been sold. The following list gives the sales of certificates in amounts of $5,000 or more, but it does not include purchases made by stores, for most of them have taken the certificates from their banks. The United Cigar Stores Company purchased a large amount of certificates and put them on sale yesterday. The total bought by the company is not available.

Those who desire to purchase blocks of the $10 certificates should apply at the bond sales division of the Liberty Loan Committee, 50 Wall Street, or through the Federal Reserve Bank.

Secretary McAdoo has written to the Aero Club of America concerning the possibility of its getting Liberty Loan bonds numbered 1 of every denomination, from $10,000 down, to be resold at a premium, the premium going to the Red Cross. The Secretary says that many similar requests have been received and that all will be considered.

Plans are under way for Liberty Loan clubs in the public schools, particularly the high schools. B. K. Marcus of the Bank of United States has proposed to have school pupils subscribe to the loan by paying $1 a week, the club to be conducted along the lines of Christmas clubs. With the approval of President Willcox of the Board of Education he has made a canvass of the high schools, the Principals of which have shown a great interest in the plan and have indicated willingness to co-operate.

William H. Maxwell, City Superintendent of Schools, has directed that all Boy Scouts attending the public schools be excused at noon on June 11, 12, 13, and 14, when, at the request of President Wilson, the Boy Scouts will conduct a nation-wide Liberty Bond campaign.

At the Liberty Loan booth of operatic and concert stars at the Metropolitan Musical Bureau where Liberty bonds are being sold on TIMES subscription blanks, the operatic sales staff yesterday sold forty-one $50 bonds in two hours, making a total of sixty-five bonds for the first two days. Marie Tiffany, soprano, and Thomas Chalmers, baritone, both of the Metropolitan Opera company, were the sales force. Giovanni Martinelli, tenor of the Metropolitan, sent his representatives, Mr. Boucher, with an order for bonds. On Thursday Alice Nielsen, soprano of the Metropolitan, and Mabel Peterson, the newly engaged lyric singer, will officiate from 3 to 5 at the salesrooms, 603 Aeolian Hall.

"Liberty Bond Day," with an eight-hour sale of the bonds, will be celebrated tomorrow afternoon with a rally at the headquarters of the National League for Women's Service, 257 Madison Avenue. Five thousand invitations have been sent out. The sale of the bonds will begin at 3 o'clock and last until 11. Mayor Mitchel will address the rally and help with the sale of the bonds. Refreshments will be sold, the receipts being used to purchase bonds.

The 3,000 life insurance agents continued their canvass of the city yesterday, adopting the slogan, "Buy a Policy to Insure Liberty." An indication of the results of their work is furnished by the statement of one manager of a "team," who said that 122 agents had sold 335 bonds totaling $51,450.

The Railroad Committee on Liberty Loan announced yesterday that subscriptions received to date total $26,499,650, this figure including some of the large applications of railroad companies previously reported.

Through an arrangement made by the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company with the Merchants Loan and Trust Company of Chicago, the 60,000 employes of the road will have an opportunity to subscribe to the loan on the installment plan.

The employes of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company have already invested $574,000 of their savings in Liberty bonds. Of the 7,690 employes, over fifty per cent. have filed subscriptions.

The four-day Liberty Loan rally among the 30,000 Bush Terminal employes has resulted in subscriptions totaling $15,000.

Felix M. Warburg, Chairman of the Joint Distribution Committee for the Funds for Relief of Jewish War Sufferers, has sent a letter to the chairmen of the various committees urging their co-operation for the sale of Liberty bonds.

Superintendent Frank of the Beth Israel Hospital announced yesterday that every doctor, orderly and nurse had subscribed to a Liberty bond.

Directors of the Union Carbide Company adopted a resolution yesterday permitting subscribers to new stock of the company to make payment in Liberty Loan bonds.

Subscriptions to the Liberty Loan, made out on TIMES blanks, continue to come in at the various banks and trust companies. Following is a record of applications reported:

FORD SUBSCRIBES $5,000,000.

Helps to Fill the Quota of Detroit, Where McAdoo Speaks.

DETROIT, June 6.—It was announced here this afternoon that Detroit already had oversubscribed its Liberty Loan allotment of $33,000,000. Henry Ford assisted the local committee in its final drive this morning by making a $5,000,000 subscription.

BERNHARDT AT LOAN MEETING.

Gathering at the Castle, Tarrytown, Gives Silent Tribute.

Special to The New York Times.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., June 6.—Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, who is recuperating from her recent operation, drove down from Briarcliff Lodge this afternoon to attend a Liberty Loan meeting at the Castle. The speakers were Mrs. August Belmont, Judge Charles Moore, and Robert E. Patterson. Mrs. Mme. Bernhardt's car entered the Castle grounds the audience rose and paid the great actress a silent tribute. Her physician had requested that there be no demonstration, not even the waving of a handkerchief, for he did not want his patient excited.

Two little girls from the school presented Mme. Bernhardt a beautiful bunch of irises and a French flag, and Miss Mason made a welcome address. Mme. Bernhardt smiled at those who greeted her, but did not speak. She remained quiet in her car until the meeting was over and then drove away.

BOND CAMPAIGN NOW IS IN FULL SWING

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—All the various and manifold activities of the campaign to push the Liberty Loan of 1917 were reported today at the Treasury Department to be in full swing, with progress recorded every hour. The effect of Secretary McAdoo's speech in New York on Monday night was reflected in many letters and telegrams received. The argument that Germany, if successful in defeating England and France, would seize the fleets of England and France, and, adding her own ships and submarines, proceed to attack the United States coast, seems to have made the deepest impression. The first letter in to-day's mail was the following from a New York subscriber:

> Inclosed herewith find check for $1, being 2 per cent. of my subscription for a fifty-dollar bond. After reading your great speech delivered in New York last night which so clearly describes the dangers confronting this Republic, and the well-founded reasons existing for our participation in this awful war, I fail to see how any citizen can neglect to buy a bond, even if they carried no interest.

In recognition of the celebration today of Liberty Loan Labor Day, Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, sent the following letter to Secretary McAdoo:

> Application is hereby made for a registered Liberty Loan bond of 1917 in the sum of $10,000. Inclosed please find check for $200, being 2 per centum upon the bond applied for. Please make out the bond in the name of the American Federation of Labor. This purchase is made upon Labor Day dedicated for Labor's Liberty Loan bond purchase.

Secretary McAdoo issued the following statement tonight:

"A number of letters have been recently received at the Treasury Department inquiring whether or not the Liberty Loan bonds are obligations of the United States Government. I am surprised that there should be any misunderstanding on this point. The Liberty Loan bonds are United States Government bonds. They are the direct obligations of the United States Government and the honor and the resources of the American people are the security therefor. They are called Liberty bonds because their proceeds are to be dedicated to the cause of human liberty."

The German Roman Catholic Knights of St. George, with headquarters at Pittsburgh, it was announced today, had subscribed for $25,000 of Liberty Loan bonds. The German-American Publishing Company of Columbus, Ohio, publisher of several newspapers, has sent a subscription for more than $10,000 of Liberty Loan bonds for itself and its employes.

Johnson & Adams, managers of the Southeastern department of the Continental Casualty Company, with headquarters at Washington, received instructions today from H. G. B. Alexander of Chicago, President of the company, to invest all premium receipts in the Southeastern department in June in Liberty Loan bonds. This will result in an estimated subscription of $25,000.

Ruth Law, who is making a long airplane flight to aid the Liberty loan, sent this telegram to the Treasury Department today:

> Mansfield, Ohio, June 6.
> Flight started at Cleveland, 11 A. M. Thence Warren, running into a blinding rainstorm; continued in same for one hour. Spending the night at Mansfield.
>

CERTIFICATES SELL QUICKLY

$200,000,000 Treasury Issue Again Is Heavily Oversubscribed.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—For the third time within six weeks an offering of $200,000,000 in Treasury certificates of indebtedness, convertible into Liberty Loan bonds and bearing a lower interest rate than the bond issue itself, has been heavily oversubscribed. The entire offering, which brings the total of outstanding certificates isued under the War Revenue bill up to approximately $870,000,000, was placed through the Federal Reserve Banks.

The extent of oversubscription of the latest issue has not been ascertained, but estimates places it as high as one-third. The last issue was oversubscribed approximately 40 per cent.

Because of the quick response the subscription books were closed today ahead of time. The issue was offered June 1. The certificates bear 3¼ per cent. interest and mature July 30, the date of the second installment on the Liberty Loan subscriptions. Another issue of $200,000,000 of certificates probably will be offered within the next ten days.

A Message from JOHN WANAMAKER

There isn't an accountant, engineer, statistician, efficiency man—anyone who handles figures—who doesn't realize his need of a Calculating-Adding Machine that he himself, without special training, can use with speed on all figure work and get results the first time.

There is one machine that fills this need. It is the MONROE Calculating-Adding Machine.

The most efficiently conducted offices in the country have standardized on the Monroe after testing it in comparison with other machines. Referring to intricate discount and customs work in their office, the firm of John Wanamaker says:

> "Since installing Monroes in our office, on this character of work alone, we have saved at least 33⅓ per cent. of the time formerly required by the work, and I take pleasure in telling you how successfully the Monroes have worked out with us."

For all around service and utility the Monroe stands absolutely alone. Anyone in your office can operate it. Simply set the numbers on the keyboard and turn forward for Addition or Multiplication, backward for Subtraction or Division. No complements or reciprocals necessary. Visible proof at every stage insures positive accuracy without re-checking.

BELL SYSTEM

"SINEWS OF WAR"

Money has been called the "sinews of war"

IN the case of your telephone system, however, the real sinews of war are the things that money buys—cable, wire, pole lines, switchboards, and other equipment necessary in furnishing telephone service.

The Bell System's "sinews of war" include a billion dollar telephone plant, of which the following are parts:

Lead and Tin enough to load more than 8,150 coal cars and make a train 62 miles long.

Buildings enough to house 180,000 trained telephone workers.

Liberty Loan of 1917

We appeal to every American to help make the Libert Loan subscription worthy of the Nation.

We urge you, as a matter of patriotism, self-interest and self-preservation, to subscribe as generously as you can to this loan.

No matter how small your subscription may be, from $50 upward, any New York Stock Exchange House will be glad to co-operate with you in every way and to see that your subscription is properly entered and cared for, and will put all its facilities at your disposal without charge and without profit.

A large majority of New York Stock Exchange houses have adopted a partial payment plan which will make it possible for any individual to invest his savings in the Liberty Loan.

To assure the success of the Liberty Loan, every individual must do his part, and we urge immediate response to this appeal.

GERMANY ANXIOUS OVER TRADE FUTURE

SURE OF A GERMAN PEACE

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

THE HAGUE, June 6.—The furious annexationist propaganda, having its origin in the industrial centres of the Rhine Province and Westphalia, which is flooding all Germany, is met by increasing anxiety in banking and export circles regarding Germany's economic situation after the war. Although they are howled down by the Reventlowians and other annexationist enthusiasts, the great German banking papers constantly repeat their warnings. Apparently cooler-headed Germans realize fully that they would pay for annexing the smallest portion of France or Belgium by losing all hope of recovering their world markets.

In order to overcome this less noisy, but increasingly powerful opposition, the annexationists resort to a new argument, namely, that American selfishness will not allow President Wilson's administration or any other Government to deprive America of the advantage of reciprocal trade with the Central Empires. The National Liberal organs of the industrial magnates now assert, in direct contradiction of what they said a month ago, that the entry of the United States into the war will not produce economic disasters outweighing Germany's military advantage in Europe. The Weser Zeitung reprints the cable dispatch sent by The Hague correspondent of THE NEW YORK TIMES on May 8, as reprinted in the London papers, in which it was pointed out that America, with the Entente Powers, could so close the world's markets to German trade that, whatever her military position might be, her financial ruin would be certain. This assertion was openly admitted by several German papers at the time.

This great National Liberal annexationist shipping organ now declares that this idea of closing the world markets is "typically American in its exaggeration." Under the prominent headline, "Dollar War; Dollar Peace," the Zeitung proceeds to argue that America, as heretofore, will fight Germany economically, and more with dollars than with soldiers. But, it says, the economic truth is somewhat different than people imagine "over there." It admits that America's economic strength is great, but says that Germany's is not less, as thirty-three months of war have shown.

"Germany's foremost enemies," it says, "are European, and these Germany has mastered in such a way that she can hope for a German peace; and when peace is made it will be shown that the Paris Conference has hatched an egg out of which no dragon will appear to strangle German trade. The Central Powers command too large and too well populated an area for the Allies to give up their trade lightheartedly, and Germany also possesses potash with which her enemies are obliged painfully to dispense. When peace comes Germany will see that her economic future is not fettered, but assured, and that applies to the rest of the world. So we need not be frightened at America's warnings, as America was always a braggart. Neither America nor her allies will give up the market of the Central Powers.

"We do not intend to send troops over the Atlantic to defeat them in their own country, and they will be able to say that they are unbeaten; but an unbeaten America is no counterpoise against her unvictorious allies. We need not beg peace of the United States, as we did not declare war. If America wants peace, good; but she must first get down off her high horse, and she cannot expect that we will hold the stirrup."

American Homespuns

Woven by Hand of Hand-Spun Yarns--

To those who are particular about the materials which enter into their clothing, we announce a first shipment of honest-to-goodness - American - made-homespuns

Made by a Colony of Hand Weavers in one of our Southern States, on old-fashioned handlooms, from the wool of sheep raised on Southern hillsides. Dyed with old-fashioned dyestuffs and vegetable dyes from herbs gathered in neighboring forests.

Some Who Have Seen These Homespuns say they are better than the hand-woven Scotch or Irish fabrics and decidedly superior to the Canadian. We are pleased to offer them to those of our customers who want individual lounge, golf or country-side suits made from cloths woven of hand-spun threads, in America by Americans.

Materials possessing all that is so desirable in the old-fashioned hand-woven woolens and all that is necessary in the modern day treatment of a 36-inch-wide cloth. These woolens are to be had at this store exclusively. The price is $3.69 per yard.

RITISH GET 250 RECRUITS IN A DAY

JACK BINNS VISITS OFFICE

On the first floor of 280 Broadway, separated only by a few doors from the headquarters of the United States Army recruiting in the city, the British Recruiting Mission began yesterday to enlist British subjects for service with their own colors. It was the first time in the history of the United States that a foreign Government had recruited men in this country for its own military service. From the moment the doors opened until they closed the office was thronged with loyal Britens who were eager to serve, and before the day was over more than 250 had been enlisted.

The results of the first day were highly gratifying to Brig. Gen. W. A. White and the members of his staff. The throng of applicants was enough to inspire the envy of the American recruiting officers in the adjoining rooms, who usually have to wait for a red letter occasion to get more than 200 recruits in one day.

The British recruits came from all walks of life. There were a few editors among them, a number of actors, and a great many butlers and valets employed by wealthy American families. Just as General White had suggested several days ago, most of them said they had not enlisted before because they could not afford the transportation to the nearest recruiting centre in Canada. They were such a fit and vigorous lot of men that only about 10 per cent. of the 300 or more applicants were rejected.

The first to enlist at the British station was George L. Vezine, 22 years old, a waiter in the Vanderbilt Hotel, who came from England three years ago. He has a brother in the British Army, and he himself hopes to become a member of the aviation corps.

Among the actors who rallied to the colors were George Hassell, Duncan McRae, Colin Campbell, Leonard Mudie, Roland Bottomley, Malcolm Dunn, and Roland Young.

Most of the actors, being over age, could not pass, among them Colin Campbell. He insisted on doing his bit in some way or other, so he was enrolled in the clerical force of the office. The recruiting officers also received a visit from Jack Binns, of wireless fame, who made inquiries about enlistment and said he would return in a few days.

Lieut. Col. C. A. Warren of Toronto arrived yesterday and took charge of the medical department of the recruiting mission. He has six assistants, but at the pace recruiting took found himself in need of several more.

The British officers were faced with a perplexing problem when a man born in one of the British possessions of parents who were citizens of the United States applied at the British headquarters for enlistment in the aviation corps. Captain P. F. Sise put the case before Colonel R. D. Walsh of the United States Army recruiting staff, and the Colonel wired to Washington for instructions, as the applicant insisted that he was a British subject and not an American.

Another applicant who was eager to see service under the Union Jack was a Brooklyn boy, 19 years old, who said he was the son of Austrian parents, but wanted to fight for the Allies. The officers had to turn him down because he was not a British subject, but they advised him to enlist in the American Army.

BIER MUST PAY ALIMONY.

Court Upholds Claim of Wife, Who Is Suing for Divorce.

Dr. Elias Bier, a dentist with offices at the Hotel Majestic, was directed yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Greenbaum to pay $30 a week alimony to his wife, Mildred Dufree Bier, pending a suit for a divorce.

Mrs. Bier says she is compelled to live on the charity of her mother, Mrs. Sarah Dufree, at the Hotel St. Andrew, and by appearing in small theatrical parts, while her husband has an income of $9,000 to $12,000 a year. Mrs. Bier alleges that her husband owns a number of riding horses, one of which he has just purchased for $2,000, and that he lost $6,000 in the stock market last year.

Mrs. Bier, who is 21 years old, married the defendant, who is 43, on Jan. 8, 1916.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., June 6.—County authorities believe that the mystery surrounding Baby Lloyd Keet, who disappeared a week ago tonight, is nearing solution. Six persons were being held in custody tonight, one here, one at Ozark, Mo., and the other four, including a woman, at some unknown place to which they were taken when mob violence began to threaten them.

Confessions were said to have been made by the prisoners in which they told of a plan to abduct C. A. Clement, a local jeweler; another child, and a St. Louis munitions maker. The latter plot, Paul O'Day, the county prosecutor said, was merely discussed by the alleged conspirators after they had been approached by a German agent who desired them to aid in attempts to suppress traffic.

The plots discovered are said to have been outlined by one or more Chicago men whose names Judge Johnson of the Circuit Court of Appeals said had been furnished him. Judge Johnson announced also that several other persons were under surveillance, some for direct connection with the Keet mystery, and county officers said they were confident that the missing baby would soon be returned.

The six persons under arrest are C. J. Piersol, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Adams, their sons, Claytus and Maxie Adams, and Sam McGinnis. McGinnis was taken into custody early today; the others late yesterday. McGinnis denied any connection with the plots.

County officials, fearing mob violence, removed Mrs. Adams, her sons, and Piersol from the county jail. Taylor Adams is held at Ozark, Mo., while Sam McGinnis is in custody here. Adams, in a statement to Judge Johnson, implicated one or more men from Chicago as being the leaders of the band which planned to abduct Clement and possibly others. The plan was given up as impracticable.

GEORGE HUBER'S WILL VALID

Surrogate Decides That Museum Man's Mind Was Sound.

The contest of the will of George H. Huber, owner of Huber's Museum in East Fourteenth Street and of Huber's Casino in the Bronx, which has been on trial for several days in the Surrogate's Court, was taken from the jury yesterday by Surrogate Cohalan and a verdict declaring that the decedent was of sound mind was ordered. The court ruled that the weight of evidence was all in favor of the testator's mental capacity at the time he made the will.

The will before the court was executed on June 18, 1916, a few days before Mr. Huber's death, and in it he left the bulk of his $500,000 estate to his young widow, Mrs. Grace Huber, who married Martin C. Wright a few weeks later. The contestant was George Huber Thompson, nephew of the decedent, who was one of the chief beneficiaries under a will made in 1912. The case for the contestant rested chiefly on alleged admissions by Huber shortly before his death that George Huber Thompson was his son and not his nephew.

Harold Bauer

stands today in the very forefront of the world's greatest pianists. But he is more than an artist. One cannot be in his presence a moment without realizing the strength, the intellect, the keen, analytical insight of the man. Bauer is a big man MENTALLY. The world-wide pre-eminence he has achieved in musical art is the inevitable result of a great genius coupled with a great mind.

THE DUO-ART PIANO

The Duo-Art Piano is the greatest—the most wonderful piano the world has ever known.

In the first place it is a magnificent piano, unequaled in tone, in action, in physical beauty. Secondly, it is an improved Pianola—a "player-piano" for you to play with ordinary Pianola music-rolls. As such, it definitely surpasses anything hitherto known amongst instruments of this type.

And greatest of all—it is a Reproducing Piano of truly miraculous power. By means of special music-rolls, made by pianists while playing a wonderful recording piano, it reproduces their actual performances with absolute fidelity. Every phrase, every nuance, every subtle shade of tone and tempo, every touch of foot to pedal is reproduced.

To possess the Duo-Art Pianola is to command the greatest talent of the world—to be able to hear in your own home, as often as you will, the most glorious music of the world, played for you by the world's most famous artists.

The New MUSICAL ART
An Interview with Harold Bauer on the Duo-Art Piano

"IT is the instrument of a new musical art!" Mr. Bauer arose slowly from his chair as he gave this answer to a question I had put. He went on thoughtfully, choosing his words unhastily.

"I am intensely interested in the Duo-Art Piano. I am spending much time and effort with it.

"Do you know what work I was engaged in when you were admitted?" He turned and took from the top of the Piano which stood against the wall a music-roll. As he drew it out I saw that there were cryptic blue and red pencil marks and annotations opposite many of the perforations.

"This roll," he said, "is a very wonderful record of the Chopin Valse, Opus 42, as I played it a few days ago upon the Duo-Art Recording Piano. Placed in this reproducing Duo-Art Piano, it duplicates my performance with remarkable precision.

"AND I have been sitting here playing the roll a few bars at a time—going over it most carefully—changing here the length of a note, there the strength of a tone—an accent.

"When I first began recording for the Duo-Art, it was the reproducing of my playing that was interesting to me. Now it is the correcting—the 'working-up' of the record, so to speak. Do you see? For the first time I stand aside and impersonally listen to my own playing. I am both critic and artist. Artist, because I can build—improve on the performance.

"I can listen to myself playing. I can hear my performance as a whole and I can repeat a single passage again and again. And I can change what I wish. I can remodel and refine.

"Do you comprehend? It is a new art. When I finally sign the record-roll, it is more than simply my playing. It is my carefully considered artistic conception of the music. As such it is preserved—a new and wonderful form of musical creation."

HE drew a tobacco-case from his pocket and rolled himself a cigarette. Bauer is a man of vigorous mental calibre and like big men in more prosaic callings, inclined strongly towards conservatism. His unexpected enthusiasm and earnestness were therefore all the more significant.

"You consider, then," I asked, "that the Duo-Art is an instrument of real and prime importance to music?"

"Unqualifiedly yes," he answered. "The interesting and authoritative records by all the masters of the pianoforte cannot but make it so."

"And its effect upon musical taste?"

"A magnificent one," he spoke with emphasis. "It will develop a taste for the best in music. For it provides an opportunity to hear interpretations by the great musical artists of the world—an opportunity, I say, for the millions who live today, and the generations of the future to become intimately acquainted with the most wonderful art the pianoforte is capable of.

"Certainly the Duo-Art Piano is a fitting climax to the really great Aeolian contributions to the art of music. Its value is almost incalculable. This is obvious. Need anyone be told that a piano of splendid musical quality, which furnishes everyone a means of musical expression and which, in addition, reproduces the best aesthetic conceptions of the world's leading artists, is a great instrument—a wonderful innovation?"

I have read the above interview in print and find it an accurate report.

POLICE AMBULANCE TO GO TO FRANCE

CHOSEN FROM VOLUNTEERS

Will Stay on Payroll and Wear Uniform if Possible—Other Similar Units to Follow.

A New York policeman wearing his uniform or khaki, with his police shield on his breast, will be sent to France in the near future to drive an ambulance, which is to be purchased by the Honor Legion from its treasury. The Legion has already set aside $1,100 for the purpose and a movement has been started by civilian backers of the legion to raise a special fund with which to send several ambulances with police drivers to France in the name of the legion.

The Honor Legion ambulance will be presented in a few days to A. Piatt Andrews. Inspector General of the American Field Ambulance Service. One of the policemen who volunteered for the purpose will be presented along with it. Police Commissioner Arthur Woods intends to send out a call for volunteers to the whole force for the distinguished post of representing the Police Department in France. The man to be sent will be selected from among those who were chauffeurs or mechanics before they entered the Police Department. The volunteer picked for the post will not lose in salary or chance of promotion while he is on this duty.

The plan of appropriating $1,100 from the reserve fund of the legion, which is not a wealthy body, was carried with great enthusiasm at a recent meeting. It met with hearty approval from Police Commissioner Woods, who decided, with officials of the legion, that, to have the organization properly represented, the machine ought to be driven by a member of the legion in his uniform. The only difficulty which arose was the question of the Commissioner's legal right to create a post under his jurisdiction in France and to assign to it a man who would remain on the payroll of the Police Department. It is believed now that any legal obstacles present no insuperable bar.

The Legion of Honor consists of the medal men of the department who have been decorated for distinguished bravery. Among the honorary members of the legion are many wealthy men, including Vincent Astor and Andrew Carnegie.

The details as to the uniform have not been settled, but the driver will probably wear either the uniform of a New York policeman or a modification of it in khaki, so that with the help of the shield on his breast it will be possible at once to recognize the man running the ambulance as one of New York's finest.

The Automobile Club of America has sent an appeal to members to raise $20,000 to purchase and equip three motor ambulances and furnish six chauffeurs to operate them. Nine thousand dollars has already been provided for the purpose.

24 NEW STORM VICTIMS.

Another Tornado Sweeps Through Kansas and Missouri.

KANSAS CITY, June 6.—Tornadoes last night and early today spread death and destruction through rural districts of Missouri and Kansas. Reports tonight showed fifteen were killed in Missouri and nine in Kansas. The number of injured has reached approximately 150 and estimates of the property damage place it anywhere from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000.

The greatest loss of life apparently was in Boone County, Missouri, where eleven persons were killed. In Caroll, Chariton and Ray Counties, further west four are dead—three at Richmond and one at Whitman. In Kansas the deaths totaled eight in the country southeast and west of Topeka. One other was killed at Savonburg near Iola, where the tornado appeared early today.

The course of the tornado was marked by odd jumps. First it appeared near Topeka, early in the day, and then came to earth again in Ray County, Missouri, shortly after midnight. Then it tore through a wide section of that county, wiped out half the town of Dean Lake, in Carroll County, and then swooped down again, practically demolishing the little town of Whitman.

COLUMBIA CONFERS DEGREES ON 2,440

CALLS ALL TO SERVICE

Issue May Determine "Whether Mankind Is Still in Progress or Has Begun to Decline."

ALUMNI OMIT FESTIVITIES

Tablet in Honor of Seth Low Unveiled—Honorary Degrees to Marconi, Mayor Mitchel, and Others.

With exercises which expressed the spirit of service to the country, Columbia University celebrated yesterday its 163d Commencement. The merriment which in the past has formed a part of the day's program, with thousands of alumni back for a whirl of events, was lacking. A new note of seriousness pervaded the exercises.

In bidding the 2,440 graduates farewell, President Nicholas Murray Butler made a stirring appeal for each student to enter the service of the country, and pictured the world in ferment. He told them "the clock is about to strike the most portentous hour in all history" and that "there must be no faltering by any son or daughter of Columbia."

To emphasize further the need of every student to serve his country, a new feature was added to the exercises. Each dean of the many departments at the university was called upon to tell of the work which the students under his supervision were carrying on for the country. Their reports told of men in training for the army and navy, hundreds of students at the camps, Camp Columbia turned over to reserve officers, university officials in actual service at Washington or volunteering for any work the Government might delegate to them, and women engaged in studying food conservation.

Thousands of visitors, besides the many students receiving degrees, packed the university gymnasium, where the exercises were held.

Distinguished Men Honored.

Distinguished men of letters, science, and religion, and one woman, were the recipients of honorary degrees. Honors were again paid to members of the British and French Commissions and prominence was given to honorary degrees which were recently conferred upon René Viviani, Marshal Joffre, Arthur Balfour, and Baron Cunliffe.

Mayor Mitchel, Judge Frank Harris Hiscock, Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals of New York State, and Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, Chinese Minister to the United States, received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. Mayor Mitchel is a graduate of the class of 1899 and Dr. Koo of the class of 1909. As an undergraduate Dr. Koo took an active part in Columbia student affairs, editing the literary publication of the undergraduates and the daily paper, The Columbia Spectator. Judge Hiscock is a graduate of Cornell.

The honorary degree of Doctor of Sacred Theology was conferred upon the Right Rev. Charles H. Brent, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of the Philippine Islands, and the degree of Doctor of Science upon Robert A. Milliken, Professor of Physics in the University of Chicago; George E. Hale, Director of the Mount Wilson Solar Observatory, Pasadena, Cal., and Guglielmo Marconi, inventor of the wireless. Paul Elmer More, author and critic, received the honorary degree of Doctor of Letters and Anna Caroline Maxwell, directress of the School for Nursing at the Presbyterian Hospital, received the honorary degree of Master of Arts. Richard Townley Haines Halsey, author of works on American art, also received this degree.

The ceremonies of the day opened with the academic procession, which started from the steps of the Low Memorial Library at 10 o'clock in the morning. For nearly an hour the many candidates for degrees poured out from the main doors of the library and proceeded across the quadrangle to the gymnasium. Some of them wore khaki under their academic robes.

The Faculty followed the candidates for degrees in the long procession, their many colored hoods designating their academic ranks. Candidates for honorary degrees were immediately ahead of the Board of Trustees. Dr. Butler wore his Oxford gown.

Butler Sees Abnormal World.

After the procession had entered the hall, Chaplain Raymond C. Knox delivered the academic prayer and Dr. Butler then made his address.

"The hundreds, indeed the thousands, of American youth who pass out from this university today," said Dr. Butler, "go into a new and a strange world. It is more than a world at war; it is a world in ferment. Before such a scene the timid will despair, while the reckless will affect an indifference that they cannot really feel. The wise will follow a different course. They will not be hurried into judging of normal man on the basis of his latest abnormalities, and they will not permit themselves to forget all that human history teaches because the happenings of the moment seem to teach something quite different. The wise will not lose their sense of proportion in judging of events in time, in space, or in circumstance.

"If men and nations are engaged in a blind struggle for material gain, for mere conquest, for revenge, or for future privileges, then what is going on is in high degree a manifestation of bestiality in man. If, on the other hand, the struggle be one for the establishment on the largest possible scale, in the securest possible way, of those institutions and opportunities which make man free, then the contest rises to the sublime. In this latter case every contestant on behalf of such a cause is a hero, and every one who offers his life and his strength and his substance is a sincere lover of his kind.

"It may therefore well be that it is for the issue of this war to determine whether mankind is still in progress or has begun his decline. If the moral, the economic, and the physical power of men and of nations that love freedom is adequate to its establishment on a secure basis, then mankind is still in progress and new vistas of satisfaction and of accomplishment are to be spread out. If, on the other hand, the strength of men and of nations that love freedom is not adequate to this severe task, then man has crossed the Great Divide of his political history and is to begin a descent into those dark places where force and cruelty and despotism wreak their will.

"Nothing less than this is the alternative which now confronts not alone the nations of the earth, but every individual in each one of those nations. Let there be no faltering by any son or daughter of Columbia. The clock of time is about to strike the most portentous hour in all history. May each child of this ancient university take inspiration and courage from Alma Mater herself, who in her long life has in time of trouble never wavered, in time of danger never hesitated, in time of difficulty never doubted."

Tribute to Marconi.

Professor John Erskine presented the candidates for honorary degrees. In presenting Marconi Dr. Butler said:

"Guglielmo Marconi—Plenipotentiary of the Italian Government in delicate and important negotiations relative to the war in which our countries are jointly engaged on behalf of free institutions; to whom has been granted the almost superhuman power to give wings to human speech, that they may fly to the uttermost parts of the earth bearing messages from and to the heart of man, and whose name has already become a common noun, I gladly admit you to the degree of Doctor of Science in this university."

Dr. Butler, in presenting Mayor Mitchel, spoke of him as "sixth in the great series of Mayors that Columbia College has given to the metropolitan city that it loves and serves; bringing to this vast and many-sided metropolitan community all the resources of a high intelligence and a fine character; knowing no end but the public good; the highest type of devoted and courageous public servant."

Following the close of the exercises in the gymnasium memorial ceremonies were held in St. Paul's Chapel in honor of the late Seth Low of the class of 1870, Trustee of the university from 1881 to 1914, and President of the university from 1890 to 1901. A tablet in his memory was unveiled. A presentation of an endowment fund was also made by the class of 1892.

PLEDGE WAR UNTIL VICTORY

At the close of a drill by the College Men's Training Corps at its headquarters, 19 West Forty-fourth Street, last night, nearly 200 of those present pledged themselves to fight against Germany until there was a victory for the Allies. The pledge the men took was chosen from among several which were submitted at the request of Captain R. N. Campbell, U. S. A., in charge of the lectures. The last part of it reads:

"I hereby solemnly vow that, so long as God grants me an ounce of influence with my fellow-man; that, so long as I possess a spark of life, a farthing of wealth, and a jot of honor, I shall freely and incessantly employ them against our enemy; and I further vow, should the cause for which I make this pledge not prevail during my lifetime, to bequeath to my sons and daughters the spirit which now actuates me, and shall continue to actuate me, until a victorious peace is made. This pledge means that, so far as in me lies, the war in which we are now engaged shall never end except in victory for the cause of my country."

Students Not Present to Receive Degrees Conferred by Faculty in Small Room.

EACH GETS PATRIOTIC CALL

Messages Sent with Diplomas Exhort Service in War—Honors to Penfield and Others.

New York University held yesterday a modified commencement, which consisted only of the conferring of degrees, in place of the usual spectacular event. No candidates for degrees except the honorary recipients were present. The ceremony was held in one of the small rooms of the university at Washington Square before about 100 witnesses. There was no music, no speaking, and the only academic gowns in evidence were those worn by Chancellor Elmer E. Brown, Dr. George Alexander, President of the University Council; Dr. Frank A. Fall, Bursar, and the recipients of honorary degrees.

The honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred upon James Byrne, member of the Board of Regents of New York State; Carlos Frederick MacDonald, physician and alienist; Frederic Courtland Penfield, Ambassador to Austria-Hungary, and Lucien Calvin Warner, capitalist. The Rev. Samuel D. Price, pastor of Calvary Presbyterian Church, Camden, N. J., received the degree of Doctor of Divinity; Theodore N. Vail, President of the American Telegraph and Telephone Company, and Paul M. Warburg of the Federal Reserve Board were honored with doctorates of Commercial Science. Mr. Warburg was the only honorary recipient not present. Chancellor Brown announced that Mr. Warburg had been called to Washington on Federal business, and that the degree had been conferred on him the night before at the dinner given by the university to the recipients of honorary degrees at the Hotel Biltmore.

Chancellor Brown, in an address at the beginning of the ceremonies, said:

"At its first meeting after the break with Germany, on Feb. 5, the Executive Committee of the Council sent a message to the President assuring him of the readiness and desire of the university to render all possible aid to the Government of the United States at all times, and particularly in the present crisis, and an expression of confidence that every member of this institution will hold himself in readiness to render whatever service his country may require. At the request of the graduating classes the spectacular ceremonial customary at commencement is omitted this year, our simple formality of conferring degrees here at Washington Square taking its place. The change represents the serious spirit in which we are taking the war with the German Government."

Shows Response to War Call.

Before the college year closed, said the Chancellor, 130 students had enlisted in the Naval Reserve, 30 in the Officers' Training Corps, nearly 300 were preparing for this service, 18 in the Marine Reserve Corps, 18 in the Coast Artillery, 35 in the Red Cross, and 120 had left for farm work. Since that time many more had entered different branches of the service. Among the Faculty at least four were engaged in confidential work, sixteen of the medical Faculty were in the Medical Reserve, four in the National Guard, and one was a Colonel in the regular army. One former Faculty member was a Lieutenant in the Canadian forces and about ten assistant professors and others were in the Officers' Training Corps. Three of the university laboratories have been put in Government service.

The university, said the Chancellor, already had two Red Cross ambulances provided by friends and a fund for another was being raised by the School of Pedagogy. "And only yesterday," he continued, "the Executive Committee of our council, in recognition of the fact that our graduating class has given up the pageantry of graduation, voted to send into service an ambulance to be known as the Ambulance of New York University, Class of 1917." This ambulance will go with the City Club unit and will be driven by William T. Etgen, a graduate of the university.

Message to the Graduates.

In referring to the absent Class of 1917 the Chancellor said the following message would be inclosed with each diploma:

> To the classes of 1917 of all divisions of New York University:
>
> Let it be understood that every man and woman who enters this university is thereby enlisted in the service of his country, and every one who is graduated from this university is doubly dedicated to that service. We hold fast the belief that in serving our country we are rendering service to humanity. It is then for you, as for all of us, a question only of placing your strength where it is most needed, of placing it where, with your native bent and training, you can do the greatest good.
>
> Many of you have already enlisted where the immediate stress and danger are greatest. Many others have entered upon laborious undertakings which are no less necessary and serviceable. All of you are under the same imperative obligation to serve wherever your country may call.
> Some of you may have the high destiny of a short life crowned with transcendent sacrifice. Some of you may undergo the test of a long life filled with conflict and endurance. Many of you will have an inconspicuous career, in which you will do common things a little better, a little more coherently, a little more generously, because you have drawn the breath of college life and the hand of the university has been laid upon you.
> All of you will carry your university in your hearts wherever you may go. You cannot forget that you are not your own, that it is not unto yourselves that you are to live, but that you are consecrated to the making of the greater Commonwealth. And may the blessing of Almighty God go with you, every one.

Degrees Conferred on 880.

Besides the honorary awards, 880 degrees were conferred. These were distributed among the various schools as follows: College of Arts and Pure Science, 49; Washington Square College, 54; School of Pedagogy, 17; School of Applied Science, 63; Medical School, 70; Graduate School, 72; Veterinary College, 7; Law School, 193, and the School of Commerce, 351.

For the first time in the history of the university the degree of Doctor of Public Health was granted by the Medical College and the degree of Doctor of Judicial Science by the Law School. The D. P. H. was conferred on Dr. S. Josephine Baker of the Bureau of Child Hygiene, Dr. Frank Overton, and Dr. Abraham Zinger, all of the university Faculty. The degree J. S. D. has for its requirements a college and a law degree. The recipients of this honor yesterday were Miss Celia M. Allespach, a member of the New York bar, the first woman to receive this degree; Tzon Fah Hwang, a graduate of the Chinese University; Major Frank R. Lang of the War Department at Washington; Morris F. Kinnan, and Homer A. Stebbins.

BERNSTEIN HAS WAR PLAY.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, June 6.—The greatest theatrical event since the beginning of the war is the production by the Comédie Française of Henri Bernstein's war play "L'Elévation." As a work of art the play fulfills every requirement, combining great dramatic intensity with extreme simplicity and directness of appeal. It is a present-day document likely to go down in the history of dramatic art. It is the first synthetic expression of the war spirit of France. It also marks a new manner of Bernstein art, which seems to have risen to a higher plane.

The play was conceived by Bernstein while operating as an aviator with the Saloniki army, and was discussed with his flight comrade, but was only worked out in a hospital at Saloniki.

No work by Bernstein has been produced at the Comédie Française since the famous occasion when his play "Après Moi" caused riots in front of the theatre. Since then the author once more held the public stage when at the Caillaux trial, on the eve of the war declaration, he made a dramatic outburst of justification of his past military career, announcing the imminence of the great catastrophe which, he said, would find him at his post.

Through the war play the action shows the uplifting influence of war on the leading characters. The first act, during mobilization, reveals the love of a doctor's wife for a young society man who leaves for the front. Through his wife's emotion the doctor divines the truth, but the call to duty forces them to bury the secret. The second act shows a conflict between the doctor and his wife, who has been summoned to her wounded lover's bedside. The doctor has proof that the man his wife worships is not worthy of her love, but refrains from using this information against the dying man. The latter on his death bed has written a confession of his past life. In the final scene he tells the woman who has come to die with him that she must live for her husband and reveals how, face to face with death on the firing line, he has accomplished a spiritual union with her.

Profound emotion, which gripped actors and audience alike, marked this première as unforgettable. The views of all critics are enthusiastic.

Long Island R. R. Says Its Cost Increase Will Be $1,250,000 for Year.

President Ralph Peters of the Long Island Railroad appeared before the Public Service Commission yesterday in behalf of a new schedule showing increase of fares within the city. Similar increases outside of the city have received the sanction of the up-State Commission. After Mr. Peters had made a statement showing why the company considers it necessary to advance its rates, the hearing was adjourned until June 18. In his statement Mr. Peters said:

"The Adamson law, which necessitated the adjustment of the wages of engineers and trainmen, costs us $350,000 a year, and other wage adjustments make a total increase of about $550,000. Further increases in the cost of operation must be faced on account of fuel prices and electric power."

Mr. Peters thought that the total increase in costs would be at least $1,250,000 over last year and that it was absolutely necessary to have some relief.

DR. MANNING AWAITS CALL.

Won't Decide as to Accepting Bishopric Before Getting Notification.

The Rev. Dr. William T. Manning, rector of Trinity Church, said yesterday that he would not be able to say for several days whether he would accept the post of Bishop of Western New York, to which he was elected at the diocesan convention at Buffalo on Tuesday.

On Saturday he will receive a visit from a notification committee from the diocese, and it is understood that until their reasons for urging him to take the post are presented his mind will not be entirely made up.

LITTLE BALL ROLLS AT ALLEY FESTA

MAYOR DID NOT LOOK AT IT

It Is No Place for "Pikers," but Then the Other Attractions Provided Are Not, Either.

The little wheel is spinning in Macdougal Alley. After disappearing for some years from the surface of New York life, certain games of chance, once more flourish, and flourish in the open. Nay, more—people are paying a quarter a head to get in and participate in this iniquity; for it is all being done for charity at the Alley Festa.

The Festa, which opened last night to crowds that jammed the little blind alley of studios so tightly that movement was barely possible, is arranged for the benefit of the American Red Cross and the allied war relief funds. For the crowds are provided such diverse attractions as contraltos from the Metropolitan and camels from the menagerie. Once within the alley, visitors are incited to contribute to charitable purposes by devices running all the way from the Coney Island cane-ringing and china-smashing to the pitfalls of roulette, high-low, faro, and klondike.

These last, which drew enormous crowds last night, including, according to rumor, some policemen in uniform, were introduced as a surprise even to the management of the festa. Mrs. Henry B. Harris, representing a stage relief fund, had a concession in a studio on the southern side of the alley, but she kept secret the nature of the entertainment. It was given out, according to representatives of John Moffat, Chairman of the Managing Committee of the festa, that in her concession, entitled "La Cantina della Fanciulla del West," Mrs. Harris would ensnare the coinage of the cautiously benevolent by a unique entertainment, the nature of which would not be disclosed till the opening night. The ground floor of the studio was decorated in the style of an old-fashioned Western saloon, but when the festa opened at 6 o'clock last evening there was no suggestion of drinks except certain obviously empty flasks which once contained Chianti and which hung upon the walls for local color.

But there were complete layouts for the four gambling diversions mentioned. Each table was in charge of a competent citizen dressed in the Wild West costume of a generation back, with faces tanned with walnut juice and eyes masked behind amber glasses. Mrs. Harris, in the costume of the Girl from the Golden West, presided over the establishment, and on the door she had three or four actresses in similar attire who allowed none to pass until they had paid over a quarter each.

Outside the booth a dozen members of the Lambs' Club in Wild West costume picked out the prosperous appearing and urged them to try their luck. Soon everybody in the alley wanted to get at the game. It was not a pikers' game, either, and it may be remarked at this stage that Macdougal Alley for the remainder of the week will be no place for pikers. Silver had no place there and only bills, and many of them of large denomination, were flung about the tables.

Mrs. Harris said that as long as the game was perfectly honest, with no more than the ordinary mathematical percentage in favor of the house, and as it was all for charity, she saw no reason why objection should be made to it. There was some hope of getting Mayor Mitchel and Police Commissioner Woods to look over the layout, but this was not done, though when the Mayor had finished his speech from the balcony of Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney's restaurant across the way, the girls from the Golden West called across the crowd, "Come on over; we want the Mayor." It was said that the city administration was represented early in the evening by three of the policemen on duty at the festival, but that they had been asked to leave by the faro dealer on the ground that their presence aroused suspicion.

There are many attractions in Macdougal Alley, and nearly all of them provide something unusual and notable; but none of them was intended for persons of parsimonious habits. It costs 50 cents to get into the alley, and those inside find that it costs about $2 to draw their breath or hold an opinion. There are several cafés and bars in the festa, but none of them sells liquor. The only establishment where alcoholic refreshment can be found is the restaurant established in Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney's studio for the benefit of the American Ambulance; and here nothing but champagne could be had last night. However, nearby cafés did a large business among those homeward bound.

In the crowd in the alley there was a large proportion of army, navy and marine officers in uniform, and several officers of our Allies. Over Mrs. Lydig's garage the United States Marine Band, conducted by Lieutenant John Philip Sousa, U. S. A., gave a program, and a marimba band played in the restaurant, with songs by operatic stars.

In the theatre a bill of vaudeville topliners, which will be changed daily, held forth. The booths had everything to sell that could stimulate patriotism, and the attractions in the concessions included everything from movies of Charlie Chaplin to the original electric chair in which Leon Czolgosz was put to death.

Former Marist Pupils Celebrate.

W. Bourke Cockran, John McCormack, Bishop Michael J. Curley of St. Augustine, and other former pupils in Marist schools in Ireland and America attended the centennial anniversary of the founding of the schools, held in the Lexington Opera House in Fifty-eighth Street last night. About 1,600 persons listened to the eulogies of the life of Marcellin Joseph Benedict Chanpagnat, who founded the first Marist school in France. The Right Rev. Patrick J. Hayes, auxiliary Bishop of New York, recalled that there were fourteen schools in America now with 5,000 students.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Arthur Hopkins has engaged Jose Ruben to appear under his management next season. The actor's season with the Washington Square Players ended with the last performance of "Ghosts."

Motion pictures of the war as waged by our allies in the Balkans have been acquired by the Strand for exhibition there next week.

Rehearsals will be begun next week of "Leave It to Jane," a musical version of George Ade's comedy, "The College Widow." The piece will be produced by Elliott, Comstock & Gest late next month at the Longacre.

Marc Klaw, President of the United Managers' Protective Association, returned recently from a trip to the Pacific Coast. He will call a meeting of the association shortly to consider the matter of conferring with the Actors' Equity Association about the adoption of a uniform contract.

The title of Anne Crawford Flexner's new play has been changed from "Proving an Alibi" to "Wanted—An Alibi." The farce is scheduled for production a week from next Monday night in Albany. On the same night the Shuberts will produce "A Man's Home," a play dealing with blackmail and tango lizards, in New Haven. This play is from the pens of Anna Steese Richardson and Edmund Breese.

TEN MILLIONS ANSWER.

What they mistook for apathy was gravity. The American people have come in for some pretty hard knocks at the hands of those, mostly among themselves, who wanted more rage and red fire. It is admitted that never before did the American people go to war in such a mood; but it is becoming clearer all the time that the mood in which they are going to war is much deadlier than any in which they ever went to war before. They are not dancing and shouting. But those who misinterpreted that fact might have remembered that neither did France; France, which always before went to war dancing and shouting. There is no excitement, and because there had been excitement, say, in the little Spanish war, men thought there could be no war without it; but in place of that uncalculating effervescence of the little war there is a steady resolve to do what is necessary that this monster of autocracy shall perish from the earth and that liberty shall not. If we go gravely into a grim undertaking instead of going exultantly into a sporting excursion, if our mood of 1917 is not our mood of 1898, yet our mood of 1917 is France's mood of 1914; and our enemy should take no comfort from that.

And democracy had to endure the criticism of the same impatient persons, democracy as seen in all democratic lands. It was slow, unwieldy, ineffective; it could never do things efficiently, in the good despotic way. Democracy has the defects of its qualities, and in all democratic lands has demonstrated them in the last three years. But democracy has its own way of doing things, and it learns, which autocracy does not. Britain and France have learned. Our critics expected us to begin where Britain and France did, make the same mistakes, and learn tardily. What they forgot was that it is not the United States nor Britain which has been learning, but democracy, democracy which is the same in all these three lands and in all the other western lands which Germany threatens. It was not Britain alone which learned from Britain's mistakes, but the democracy of the world; and the United States enters the war not where Britain entered it, but where Britain stands today.

Therefore our enemies and our critics have seen the spectacle of ten million young Americans answering the call of their Government in a single day. They have seen the land dotted with booths often only a few rods apart, where all day long Young America enrolled himself without any of the disorder and without any of the unreadiness or grudging to which the doubters had been looking so assuredly. This sight they saw in two months, lacking one day, after the declaration of war. Democracy has not been slow. Autocracy could have mobilized an army in a few days, and did, but autocracy had to work for forty-five years to do it. Democracy, with no forty-five years' preparation, is not slow; to set two months against forty-five years is to prove it. The United States, like democracy, has been slandered. It has not grown indifferent or cowardly or sleepy; the mood of the ten millions going to the polling-places dissipates that slander. In all this vast country there were just two disturbances, both raised by foreigners, one in Montana and one in a little mining town on the Upper Peninsula of Michigan.

These young men went to register in the same polling-places where last year they and their fellow-citizens cast their ballots for President and for members of Congress. There is a mighty significance in that fact, though autocracy will not yet understand it. The people elected their temporary rulers. Those temporary rulers, that is, the people themselves, called the people out to war. The people respond by going to the same place where they elected their temporary rulers and enrolling themselves. The people chose the men who were to decide for them the issues of peace and war, and when the decision was for war the people responded to their own call, in the same places and in [illegible] way. We call ourselves to [illegible] answer our own call. Autocracy decides when it will be to its own interest to have a war and orders its people, drilled for that moment through forty-five years, from their homes into a camp. This contrast is one to silence impatience with democracy, but more impressive than the contrast itself is the way in which it is shown.

Ten millions. But these ten millions are drawn only from one body of Americans, those from 21 to 31 years of age. The military age in this country used to be from 18 to 45, and if the call had gone out for men of those ages the answer would have been as ready. America today, despite all the sneers of those who would have everything done in a jiffy and have no tolerance for an hour, presents a nobler spectacle than at any similar moment in her history, this spectacle of the people's war, the people's call, and the people's answer. If our enemy could learn the truth, could see it as it is in fact and not as it is misinterpreted for her by anxious forgers, the sneering laugh would die from her lips.

BAY STATE CONSTITUTION PATCHERS.

The Massachusetts Constitutional Convention, which began its sessions yesterday, is a child of politics. If there was any gnawing hunger for constitutional revision among the Bay State voters, it is strange that less than a third of those of them who took the trouble to go to the polls last Fall voted for delegates.

The convention is the creature of a minority. It will cost a lot of money. Doubtless it will be rich in crank proposals. Is it permitted to say that of these the initiative and referendum, beloved of Massachusetts Democrats and Progressives, is not the least cranky? This is the head and front, the beginning and middle, though, unfortunately, not the end, of Massachusetts radicalism. Delegates are classified as sheep and goats, saved or lost, according to their views of this political Philosopher's Stone and Grand Secret.

The so-called "sectarian" or "nonsectarian" amendment, directed in reality against the Catholic Church, is a fine bit of political bigotry. Somehow, the A. P. A. spirit, which Senator HOAR denounced, lingers in Massachusetts, otherwise so mightily different from her seventeenth century self.

GERMANY AND RUSSIA.

According to a Washington dispatch in yesterday's TIMES, the Russian Provisional Government has been warned that, if Russia makes a separate peace with the Central Powers, she will "become another Austria under German domination." That must be pleasant reading for intelligent Russians. The Russian Germanophiles understand, but the fanatics and the ignoramuses now strutting their little hour in the Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates don't see this sure road to the economic and political annexation of European Russia to Germany and her Hapsburg vassals. We heard yesterday, too, of a meeting at Essen of the Rhenish-Westphalian branch of the Independent Committee for a German peace. The Pan Germans of that great industrial region propose that advantage be taken of the present weakness, disorganization, and anarchy in Russia not to make a separate peace at Petrograd, but to make separate offers to Finland and Little Russia. These, the Pan Germans believe, could easily be won over and gobbled up. The German and Austrian Socialist delegates to the Stockholm Conference are agreed on the "autonomy" of Finland and Russian Poland. The vultures are hovering over the immense Russian carcass already. The dividing of the spoil has begun, prematurely, perhaps.

Courland and Lithuania should be grabbed by Germany, one of these Essen altruists said, and colonized by German-speaking Russians from the interior. Thus "a complete bulwark of independent States" would be "established east of Germany and Austria-Hungary."

The penetration and conquest of Russia by Germany have been going on since PETER the Great's time. They have been most thorough and scientifically organized in our day. The Essen altruists are continuing a long tradition. The conquest of Slav territory, the occupation of Russian Poland, of Russia to the Dwina and further, were urged by writers of importance. Nearly forty years ago PAUL DE LAGARDE looked to the erection of a Central Europe, when "the "Russians and Southern Slavs are "cleared from the Black Sea." German colonies were planted on the Volga, in the Saratov district, a hundred and fifty years ago. On the road to the Caspian, from the Austro-Hungarian border to the Black Sea, in Poland, from the Baltic provinces to Petrograd, the German community spread and intrenched itself.

"Weak and incapable nations must look on," says Prince VON BUELOW, "while foreign nations gain in num-"ber and importance within the "borders of their State." TREITSCHKE'S description of the Slav "as a born Slav" is the German idea of the Russian. "That immense Colossus with feet of clay," he wrote in a passage which has a startling, contemporaneous bitterness and appositeness, "will be absorbed in its domestic and economic difficulties," and so the "peace of the world," a German peace, will be insured.

Germany led Russia to a weakening war in the East. She is now seeking to lure Russia into a ruinous peace in the West, to bring about the dissolution and Germanization of Russian Europe.

MEN AND MONEY.

Germans will be slow to learn the truth about what is happening in the United States in these historic days, but those who give orders to Germans will learn it promptly. They know perhaps already that Americans register for war duty in proportionately greater numbers than for voting. And they will learn that the money behind the men is equally freely tendered. If there is some reason to believe that the loan is oversubscribed now, it must be because millionaires are subscribing by tens of millions in public subscriptions, and nobody can say to how much more privately. Not without reason Vice President MARSHALL says:

> It will be very much better for the nation at large if these bonds are widely distributed among the people. It would be, in my opinion, a national misfortune if all this tax-free wealth represented by the Liberty Loan bond issue of $5,000,000,000 should pass into the possession of the rich and well-to-do of the nation, rather than in a large measure into the hands of the ordinary average American citizen.

Never was there an opportunity for the average American to kill so many birds with a single stone. He can make the rich pay taxes for every dollar of bonds secured upon the allotment to small subscribers. If this offering is sufficiently oversubscribed, the next offering may be at the same rate of interest. But if the rich are the chief subscribers it will be necessary to raise the rate of interest to make the loan attractive to investment subscribers, when the exemption demand is satisfied. That will make it necessary to raise the rate on this two billions also. As the rate of interest is raised it will be necessary to raise more money by taxation. Thus it comes about that the moderate investor who wishes to reduce his taxes and share the privilege extended to the very rich can do so best by making the rich pay taxes, and by reducing the general rate of tax.

Most important of all, whoever wishes to bring Germany to terms and save the lives of our soldiers and sailors can best serve those ends by putting the Government in funds. The money will be spent here, and in a great many cases will go back into the pockets out of which it came. The Liberty Loan might also be called the Prosperity Loan, for stimulation of trade is sure to follow the spending of these billions. The average American who is in any doubt what he ought to do should have his doubts removed by considering what Germany would wish him to do and then doing something different. What Germany wishes the average American to do is shown by the false German accounts of what Americans are doing.

THE ADVERTISING TAX.

There are one or two aspects of the proposed tax of 2 per cent. upon the advertising receipts of newspapers that should have the careful consideration of the Finance Committee of the Senate. Newspapers will be subject in more ways than one to the excess profits tax when it is imposed. They already pay a tax of 2 per cent. upon their corporation income. It is now proposed that another tax of 2 per cent. shall be laid upon the gross income from one of their chief sources of revenue. We are not aware that this kind of double tax is contemplated in respect to any other kind of business.

It is an accepted principle of taxation that taxes should bear equally upon subjects of taxation belonging to the same class. This principle seems to be violated in the advertising tax. An exception is made of newspapers whose annual profits do not exceed $2,000. This was intended to exempt small newspapers, but in this country not a few newspapers doing a large annual business are conducted at a loss. Having no profits, they would escape the advertising tax altogether, although their gross revenue from advertising might run into millions. They would escape also the corporation income tax and the excess profits tax. Manifestly, this would put them in a position of measurable advantage in their competition with newspapers paying a tax. We do not suppose the proposers of this tax intended to set up a discrimination of that kind. It would be a real discrimination, however, inevitably resulting from the operation of the new law.

AUSTRO-HUNGARIAN "PUBLIC OPINION."

Count CZERNIN, the Austro-Hungarian Minister of Foreign Affairs, is no mean humorist. His peace recipe, "peace without annexations or indemnities," is for use in Russia only. The Telegraph Correspondence Bureau, an official branch of the Foreign Office, here speaking directly instead of through the worn trumpet of the Fremdenblatt, furnishes a syllabus of Austro-Hungarian press views on the objects sought by the Dual Monarchy in the war. "Public opinion," that is, opinion officially instructed, opposes the restoration of Serbia as it was before the war. Moreover, the Montenegrin mountain stronghold, Lovchen, commanding Cattaro and Cettinje, must not be given back. The other day the Vienna Neue Freie Presse said that with long-range guns from that fortress the Adriatic, so made a Teutonic trade route, could be commanded.

Serbia and Montenegro, little Slav kingdoms backed by Russia, were the barrier of the Teuton road to Asia. The Serbian capital, Belgrade on the Danube, through which goes the main railway to Saloniki and Constantinople, is "the key to the East." The Gulf of Saloniki, as the Armee Zeitung, the organ of the Austrian Army officers, said in 1905, "has in the "relations between the Danubian "countries and Asia Minor a situation "analogous to that of the Persian "Gulf in the communications between "Europe and India."

Serbia must be crushed. Austria proposed to do it in 1913. It has been done. It must not be undone. The Balkans must be controlled by the Central Powers. Serbia is on the road to Bagdad and Basra. A renunciation of annexations refers only to Russian territory.

The Austrian aims include, ironically, in view of the late Italian victories, an extension of the frontiers at Italy's expense. Since Austria has all the strategic advantage on the north and east of Italy, the proposal must be regarded as a whim of impotent hate of Italy. Albania must be "autonomous," dependent on Austria-Hungary. The fine Albanian Harbor of Avlona, commanding the entrance to the Adriatic, in Teuton hands, and Italy is bankrupt commercially on her Adriatic coast, beleaguered on sea and land by the Central Powers.

A Balkan customs union, Austro-Hungarian "commercial liberty and rights," that is, control "of the navigation of the Danube": these are familiar parts of the Hamburg-to-the-Persian-Gulf scheme. There must be "some form of indemnity" to recompense the Hapsburg Monarchy for the cost of the war. No annexations and indemnities from Russians—at present. If those innocents will make peace, the Central Powers will try to collect costs from the other Allies.

As a master of humorous impudence Count CZERNIN shines. Possibly the Muscovite Polyphemus is not quite as gullible as the Ballplatz Odysseus seems to suppose.

NO FOOD OR COTTON FOR THE ENEMY.

Holland is one of the neutral nations which have received large quantities of our grain and now ask for much more. Our Government has proof that Holland is supplying food to Germany. It is known that for several months past Germany has received, under the direction of Holland's Government, the following proportions of the country's agricultural exports: Beef, pork, and bacon, one-half; butter, three-quarters; cheese, two-thirds; vegetables, three-quarters; eggs, three-quarters. Why should we send to Holland wheat for bread to take the place of other food sold to Germany, or corn and oats to feed the cattle, thus making meat and dairy products for our enemy?

Why should Germany be permitted to get American cotton for her war explosives and her soldiers' clothes? Investigation has convinced a committee of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers that hundreds of millions of pounds have gone to Germany by way of neutral countries. The committee finds "good grounds for the belief" that in recent months exported cotton has been received in Germany by way of Italy. Shipments to Italian ports in the thirty-one weeks that ended on March 2 were 502,000 bales, or more than twice as much as Italy bought in corresponding weeks before the war.

To satisfy our normal requirements in a year we need about 620,000,000 bushels of wheat. Last year's crop was 640,000,000 bushels. Recent estimates of well-known crop experts give us only 651,000,000 this year. Mr. HOOVER says our European allies in the coming twelve months must import 540,000,000 bushels of wheat and 800,000,000 bushels of fodder grain. In his tabular statement he adds 131,000,000 for neutrals. Our allies look to the United States and Canada for the greater part of the 840,000,000 bushels. We shall have plenty of fodder grain, but cannot sell much wheat unless the quantity used at home is sharply reduced.

No American wheat should go to Holland or any other European neutral country, there to be shipped again to Germany or to take the place of other food which Germany receives from those countries. Neutrals should have no American fodder grain to increase Germany's supplies of beef, pork, butter, and cheese. Germany should not be able to use American cotton in making the explosives that sink our ships or kill our soldiers on the field. Our exports of food and cotton should be controlled and directed by the Government, and they should go only to our friends. The products of our soil must not give aid and comfort to the enemy.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Conscripts Need Not Be Humble. While the law providing for a selective draft was under consideration in Congress, the opponents of that measure did their best to gain for themselves what advantage they could from the fact that in many minds the words "conscription" and "conscript" are of distasteful or repulsive association. The efforts to exploit this form of ignorance may or may not have been made in conscious unfairness, but, whether they were or not, they failed to defeat the bill and it became the law of the land.

Surely every American ought to know, by this time, that conscription here is not the exercise of a compulsion disgraceful to those to whom it is applied, and that our conscripts are in no respect whatever deserving of either ridicule or reproach. Yet there is visible in several quarters a regrettable—one is tempted to say a reprehensible—inclination again to utilize the old prejudice and unduly to exalt the volunteer above the man who waits, exactly as does the taxpayer, to have the Government tell him the position in which he can be of most value to his country and the work that is most needed and he can best perform.

It cannot be too often asserted that the man who thus waits, provided, when the call comes, his answer is prompt and cheerful, has a perfect right to hold his head as high as any other man in the land. If he were inclined to resent insinuations against his courage and his patriotism, he could argue with some force that he, and not the volunteer, was deserving of the more honor, as he intrusts himself unreservedly to the disposition of those whose judgment, in theory at least, is better than his own, while the volunteer decides for himself the branch of the national service in which he will serve—and sometimes might have difficulty in proving that his decision was uninfluenced by personal preferences and interests not always closely related to those of the nation.

But to defend the "conscript" it is not necessary to depreciate the volunteer. The two are different, chiefly in temperament; neither is inferior or superior to the other, and public opinion should hold them for what they are, and that is equals.

Are They Not Guilty of Desertion? Whether or not the requirement that all men between the ages of 21 and 31 should present themselves for registration with a view to military service was a "call to the colors"—that is a question on which opinions would differ. Probably it was not, speaking strictly and technically, but it came so near to being such a summons that it suggests consideration here of the fact that, in the European countries that have universal military service, the man who fails to respond to the "call to the colors" at the fixed date is held to be a deserter and is subjected to the penalties provided for desertion.

What the penalty is in time of war everybody knows, and it is not a year in prison. There is no expectation or desire, of course, that like summary and conclusive action should be taken in this country with respect to the absolutely large, but relatively minute, number of young men who for reasons foolish or vicious were not registered on Tuesday. Probably not many of them are real cowards, and probably fewer still are real traitors. It would be well, however, that they should be made to realize the full gravity of their offense, and the taking of stern measures against the more egregious recalcitrants would have an excellent effect in the way of discouraging other aspirants for martyrdom.

The youths who have conscientious objections to risking their skins, and those whose secret desire is to serve another flag by not serving ours, would be made wiser, if not better, if taught their true place in the body politic. The others—if, as charity suggests, there be others—would acquire a still higher, and therefore still more pleasing, sense of moral elevation above their barbarian fellow-countrymen if they were obliged to learn that resistance to the national will is a very serious matter.

A Mysterious Exclusion of Madmen. A dispatch from London gives what purport, plausibly enough, to be bits of interesting information taken from the annual report of the insane asylum at Stettin, Germany. According to the excerpts from this document, thus provided, the experiment, now for the first time revealed, of using as soldiers the milder "cases" in the Stettin and other asylums has not been successful. The selected lunatics were willing enough to serve, but "they proved to be an unbearable nuisance in the various armies where they were placed, refusing to obey orders, deserting from their companies, and often becoming vagrants. Hardly any are of real military value, and many have been sent back to their asylums."

So often has the whole German race been called mad, of late, and so clear, to non-Germans, has been the evidence that a large majority of them really are the victims of definite illusions, delusions, hallucinations, and obsessions, arranged in the "complexes" and "constellations" so familiar to the psychiatrists, German and other, that one can at least pretend to be surprised at the failure of this effort to fill up the Kaiser's depleted regiments.

Abnormal mentality, however, is what constitutes insanity, and as what the rest of the world calls normality of mind is now exceptional in Germany, it is those elsewhere held sane that one would expect to find shut up, not the others. But opposed to this theory is the fact that each inmate of every asylum is well aware that all his fellow-inmates are mad, including those that share his own vagaries. The problem is a most confusing one.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Some time since Professor C. H. Van Tyne of the University of Michigan published a useful edition of the "Letters of Daniel Webster." In this is contained a speech against "the Draft," delivered in Congress on Dec. 19, 1814, at a time when President Madison was trying to compel a reluctant people to invade Canada.

A journalist attached to the American Union Against Militarism found this speech in Van Tyne's volume, and, thinking it timely, the question of conscription being likely to come before Congress, he had it reprinted, practically without comment. It is an argument against militarism, which is confessedly the foe we were then proposing to fight in Europe.

But Professor Van Tyne finds that this address as reprinted constitutes "a treasonable sheet," "willful misrepresentation of facts," for he now tells us that Webster later was "ashamed of this sophomoric effusion." He was then "a green young politician, fresh from Federalist New England, making a speech for home consumption."

In his later and wiser days, "the light withdrawn which once he bore, the glory from his gray hairs gone, forevermore," Webster repudiated these early idealisms of pacifism, free trade, and free soil.

But the fact remains that this speech was made and that it is found in Van Tyne's Webster, although I, whom Van Tyne goes out of his way to attack, had never heard of it until I saw a copy of the reprint.

We may readily forgive Dr. Van Tyne for rescuing this "easily answered" document from the oblivion to which it now appears Webster consigned it. But the insolent bromism in the last paragraph of his letter to THE TIMES of today is quite another matter. He says: "There is Jane Addams, whose noble service to humanity before the war is surpassed only by her fanatical betrayal of it during the last two years."

TICKET DEALERS HIT IN WAR REVENUE BILL

IMPOST ON PLEASURE BOATS

Final Touches to be Put on Bill Today, but It May Not Reach the Senate Until Next Week.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—A blow at ticket speculators during war time is aimed in an amendment to the War Revenue bill agreed upon today by the Senate Finance Committee. The amendment, offered by Senator Thomas of Colorado, provides for a 50 per cent. tax upon the amount charged by speculators above the box office rate. The speculator handling the tickets is to keep account of them and make the tax return to the Government.

Senator Simmons, Chairman of the Finance Committee, said tonight that the committee had practically finished its work and that outside of the changes made today there probably would be no others of consequence. He expects the final touches to be made tomorrow, when the bill will be turned over to experts for one day for any suggestions that might improve it. The committee expects to have the experts return the measure by Saturday night. It now looks, said Senator Simmons, as if the bill would not be offered in the Senate until the middle of next week.

The amendment, which is expected to do away with ticket speculating rather than to swell the Government's war tax, reads as follows:

"That upon tickets of admission to theatres, operas, and other places of amusement sold at news stands, hotels, and places other than the ticket offices of such theatre, opera, or other place of amusement, 50 per cent. of the amount for which said tickets are sold in excess of the price charged at the ticket office shall be assessed as a tax."

Senator Thomas, in offering the amendment, said he did not think it fair to allow ticket speculators to make extravagant profits during war time from a public that is to have a heavy burden of tax to pay. The admission tax on tickets of 5 per cent., he said, would impose sufficient of a strain without the public being called upon to pay a toll to the speculators.

"If the speculator insists on keeping in business he ought to pay a heavy tax out of the profit he makes," argued the Senator.

Under Senator Thomas's scheme the ticket speculator making 50 cents on the sale of a ticket, which is regarded as the average profit, would have to turn 25 cents of it over to the Government.

The Revenue bill carries with it penalty of fine or imprisonment for failure to make full and honest return of any taxes imposed.

The 5 per cent. admission tax to agricultural fairs, Chautauqua and lyceum shows and others coming into the category of being run by distinctively local organizations was struck from the Revenue bill. The tax now applies only to tickets for theatres, operas, circuses, and like performances. The tax has already been removed from moving-picture admissions of 25 cents or under.

The committee fixed a graduated tax for pleasure boats. Those under five tons in weight are taxed $5 flat. For boats over five tons and not over fifty feet in length the tax is to be 50 cents a foot; for boat over fifty feet and not more than 100 feet, $1 a foot; boats over 200 feet, $2 a foot. The yield from this tax will be approximately $500,000.

Sporting goods are all to be taxed at the rate of one-eighth of a cent for each 5 cents of retail cost price. Such goods as come under the classification of toys will be exempt. The committee expects to raise $2,000,000 from this tax.

A manufacturers' tax was fixed upon cameras. It is graduated, as follows: Upon cameras costing less than $5, 25 cents; costing $5 and less than $10, 50 cents; $10 and less than $15, 75 cents; $15 and less than $20; $1; $20 and more, $1.50. The committee estimated a levy of $1,000,000 from this tax.

The existing postal rates were agreed to, also the stamp taxes. The tax on musical instruments was eliminated.

FOR A SUFFRAGE COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Favorable report on the resolution to create a special House committee on woman suffrage was ordered today by the Rules Committee, after all pressing war measures are disposed of.

THE NIGHTINGALE AND THE LARK:

"The French have lost more men of letters than any other nation fighting in the War of Wars. Many of them were very young. * * * 'who died like Crusaders could sing like troubadours.'"—Manitoba Free Press.

Philomel—O Philomel,
Thou singest not thy wonted strain
Midst shattered boughs—midst Night and Death,
Thy sobbing throat but strives to tell
How one more dear than Itylus lies slain!

Philomel—O Philomel,
How Youth divine the Muse loved best,
And gave him the Pierian Rose,
Lies cold beneath yon wooded crest!
What now avails the Muse's spell?

Philomel—O Philomel,
The Muse put sweetness on his tongue—
Yes, but what valor in his heart! . . .
So, he was first of those who sprung
To hunt that Beast whose hunger fell

Alouette—O Alouette,
Not now the same thy bell-like chime
The early plowman loved to hear,
While the mauve morn-light thou didst climb!
No, no, 'tis now thy tribute debt

Alouette—O Alouette,
That Soul of Youth thou bearest up—
Thy hero and thy troubadour
Who hath drunk deep the Black-wine-cup!
Sing thou, 'neath Heaven's parapet,
How, henceforth, with Immortals he shall sup!

Philomel—and Alouette!
The one, sweet Youth, to sing thy dirge,
The other, thy transcendent march,
Where, leaning o'er the unseen verge,
High fames, whose star hath never set,

EDITH M. THOMAS.

DR. HALL REMOVED.

Son of Famous Presbyterian Is Dropped by Union Seminary.

Dr. Thomas C. Hall, who was decorated by the Kaiser and has lived in Germany most of the time since the war began, has been removed as Professor of Christian Ethics at the Union Theological Seminary. This action was taken by the Directors of the seminary at a meeting last week. Dr. Hall was in Germany at last accounts and no word has been received of his leaving there since the United States declared war.

Dr. Hall, who had been Professor at the seminary for nineteen years, was one of the most active pro-German speakers and writers in New York when the European war broke out. At the recent trial of Captain Franz von Rintelen and others for conspiring to interfere with shipments of munitions to the Allies, Professor Hall was represented in the testimony of David Lamar as the chief organizer of the plot. Dr. Hall had just returned from one visit to Germany in April, 1915, when, it was alleged by Lamar, he started the plot to break up the munitions industry in this country. Before Captain von Rintelen's arrival in this country, Lamar said, Dr. Hall called him into consultation and unfolded the scheme of the German Government to produce labor troubles in munitions plants and to work for an embargo. Lamar also asserted that his introduction to von Rintelen was brought about by Dr. Hall.

Later in 1915, Dr. Hall, who had obtained an indefinite leave of absence from the seminary, went to Germany, where, it was reported, he was working in prison camps as a representative of the International Committee of the Y. M. C. A. During his visits to Germany Dr. Hall has written letters and articles to newspapers in this country assailing the enemies of Germany for alleged atrocities. Since the United States declared war no word regarding Dr. Hall has been received by his friends in this country. He did not leave Germany with Ambassador Gerard's party, and, so far as is known, is still in that country.

The medal conferred on Dr. Hall by the German Kaiser is the Order of the Crown, Third Class, a decoration given to civilians for having achieved merit in the eyes of the German Government. Dr. Hall, who is fifty-nine years old, was born at Armagh, Ireland, and after being graduated from Princeton and from the Union Theological Seminary studied at Berlin and Gottingen. He found a German wife in Jennie L. E. Bartling of Gottingen in 1884.

He held pastorates in Omaha and Chicago before coming to this city and was at one time a candidate for the pulpit of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, which was held for many years by his father, the late Rev. Dr. John Hall. Dr. Hall is the author of "The Power of an Endless Life," "The Social Significance of the Evangelical Revival in England," "The Synoptic Gospels," "John Hall, Pastor and Preacher," "Social Solutions in the Light of Christian Ethics," and "Religion and Life."

BERNHARD RENEWS CHARGE.

Says Gerard Often Discussed German Annexation in East.

BERLIN, June 6. (via London.)—Georg Bernhard make the following assertions in the Vossische Zeitung this morning in reply to the denial which James W. Gerard, former American Ambassador to Germany, forwarded to the Legation at the Hague, of a statement he is alleged to have made to the Berlin editor with respect to President Wilson's attitude on the restoration of Belgium and probable German annexations in the East:

"I can very well conceive that my statement is embarrassing to Mr. Gerard, but he cannot dispose of it with a mere denial. He not only once, but repeatedly delivered himself of expressions which absolutely tally with the statements contained in my editorial of May 24, under the caption, 'Allies.'

"My conversations with Mr. Gerard were invariably very comprehensive and frequently extended over several hours. I discussed in detail with him, as well as with Mr. Penfield, the American Ambassador at Vienna, during my visit to that city, the possibilities of a Wilson peace mediation. Both gentlemen were averse to such mediation, and Mr. Gerard naturally endeavored to convince me that intervention on the part of President Wilson was bound to be favorable to us.

"In the course of the conversations I became more and more convinced that American and English interests were closely interlocked and that in view of the intimate financial relations between the two countries, Mr. Wilson's endeavors would lie in the direction of bringing about a peace favorable to England. Nothing was emphasized more plainly than American consent to German territorial annexation in the East in order to persuade Germany to renounce all claims for indemnity in the shape of money or territory in the West. This idea was invariably the kernel of Mr. Gerard's expositions, which betrayed utter indifference to the fate of England's Russian ally.

"Russia was to be sacrificed by England, if only for the purpose of keeping alive the animosity between Germany and Russia, the benefits of which were bound to prove a valuable political legacy in the future."

With respect to Georg Bernhard's previous utterances in the Vossische Zeitung alleging a similar attitude on the part of the former American Ambassador, who was quoted as saying that the United States would raise no objection to German annexation in the East, Mr. Gerard denied categorically that he had made any such statements. The allegations of Bernhard were characterized by Mr. Gerard as absolutely false.

UPHOLDS MRS. SANGER FILM

Differences of opinion beteween Supreme Court Justices Nathan Bijur and Samuel Greenbaum as to the propriety of conducting birth control propaganda by means of moving picture plays were shown yesterday when Justice Bijur approved the film "Birth Control," based on the experiences of Mrs. Margaret H. Sanger in attempting to change existing laws on the subject, and enjoined License Commissioner Bell from interfering with the play. Justice Greenbaum had taken a contrary view on the day before of the production "The Hand That Rocks the Cradle" and restrained the presentation of the play on the ground that it encouraged violation of existing laws.

Justice Bijur said: "The subject of birth control is plainly one in which the public has an interest and concerning which two conscientious and opposite views may properly be held." He ruled that the play in question "may not properly be interpreted as more than an attempt to present a dramatic argument in favor of the change of an existing law, and that, while its form, its force, and its good taste may furnish ground for an honest difference of opinion, there is nothing in it which can reasonably be viewed as against morality, decency or public welfare. It affords, therefore, no basis for the exercise of any discretion on the part of the Commissioner. It is a measured and decent exercise of the right of free speech, guaranteed by our Constitution and essential to our national wellbeing, and as such is beyond the power of the Commissioner of Licenses to forbid.

"Compared with the importance of guarding the commonwealth against even the possibility of disturbing the foundation of our social solidity by unduly limiting the vital right of free speech, the contention that the exhibition here complained of might be construed as immoral seems to me to be negligible."

CITY-WIDE WELCOME TO ITALY'S MISSION

Plans for entertaining the members of the Italian War Commission when they come to this city next Tuesday were completed yesterday at a meeting of the Reception Committee of Citizens appointed by Mayor Mitchell. It is planned to receive the visitors in much the same manner that the French and British Commissions were recently received here. The party will be in New York City three days and the present program provides for several receptions, dinners, and sight-seeing trips.

The members are due in Jersey City next Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. They will be met by several members of the Official Reception Committee and brought to the Battery on a yacht. From the Battery they will be escorted to the City Hall, where an official reception will be held at 4 P. M. The reception will be similar to that given the members of the French and British Commissions. The Mayor will welcome the guests to the city and speeches by members of the commission are expected. From City Hall they will go direct to the residences provided for them while in the city. At 9 o'clock Tuesday evening there will be a reception at the Metropolitan Museum of Art under the auspices of the Mayor's Committee and the Trustees of the Museum.

On Wednesday the party will be treated to a water trip on a yacht around Manhattan Island, and there will also be a trip some distance up the Hudson River. At 7:30 that evening the visitors will be guests at a private dinner given by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia University, as Chairman of the Mayor's Reception Committee. At 10 o'clock there will be a special performance at the Metropolitan Opera House in aid of the Italian War charities.

Will Meet Fellow Italians.

On Thursday at 12:30 P. M. the visitors will be entertained at luncheon by the Merchants' Association. At 2:30 there will be an assembly of the Italian civic organizations and citizens generally in the City College Stadium. It is proposed that a great number of Italian civic organizations will parade to and assemble at the Stadium, where there will be patriotic exercises. The Commission made a special request that its members have an opportunity to address the Italian population of the city in their own tongue. At 7:30 that evening the visitors will be the guests of the city at a dinner at the Waldorf. On Friday morning at 9 o'clock the Commission will leave New York for Philadelphia.

Mayor Mitchel called the committee together yesterday in the Board of Estimate Chamber at the City Hall and told the purpose of the reception.

"The occasion," he said, "is similar to that when the city received the visits of the French and British War Commissions. The same reason exists for demonstrating to these representatives of our ally, Italy, the sympathy and the promised co-operation of the people of this country as represented by the citizenship of the City of New York."

The Mayor then announced these appointments: Chairman of the Committee, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler; Chairman of the Executive Committee, Lloyd Griscom; Vice Chairman, George T. Wilson; Chairman of the Finance Committee, Thomas W. Lamont; Chairman of the Decorations Committee, Cass Gilbert; of the Illumination Committee, Henry S. Thompson; of the Dinner Committee, Robert Adamson; of the Stadium Assemblage, George McAneny; Metropolitan Museum Reception Committee, Robert W. deForest; Escort Committee, General Daniel Appleton; Opera Performance Benefit, Otto H. Kahn; Transportation Committee, R. A. C. Smith; Secretary of the full committee, Arthur Bennington. In accepting the chairmanship of the full committee, Dr. Butler said:

Praise for Italian Citizen Body.

"Surely nothing could be more gratifying to the citizenship of New York than to provide for a hearty and cordial reception to this distinguished company of men who come from one of the greatest and oldest and finest nations in Europe with a message of friendship, goodwill, and co-operation with us in a great world struggle. It is particularly interesting that they find here in New York a great company, numbered by hundred of thousands of their compatriots who are in America as a bond of union between the Italy that they had left and the America with which they have thrown in their lot—a body of our citizenship, highly honored, useful, patriotic, and law-abiding—who will join with their fellow-Americans of every type in seeing that this distinguished commission is welcomed as it should be in this metropolitan community and made to feel here perfectly and completely at home."

Mr. Griscom added that the committee proposed to use every endeavor to make the reception in every way as successful as were those to the British and French missions.

BELGIUM WILL SEND MISSION.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Belgium will send an official mission to the United States, headed by Baron Moncheur, former Minister here. It will arrive within the next three weeks. Belgium regards the United States as her great benefactor and is eager to express her appreciation.

Baron Moncheur is now chief of the political bureau of the Belgian Foreign Office at Havre. His wife is an American, daughter of General Powell Clayton, once United States Minister to Mexico. At the beginning of the war Baron Moncheur was Belgian Minister to Turkey.

Another member of the mission is General Leclercq, who formerly commanded the first division of Belgian cavalry. Hector Carlier, counselor of the mission, is a son of the Director of the National Bank of Belgium at Antwerp, and is himself head of the Italian and Belgian Bank Company, which has many concessions in South America. At the beginning of the war he enlisted in the Belgian Engineer Corps for military service. His father was among those Belgians imprisoned and deported by the Germans. Also with the mission is Major Osterrieth, for a long period military attaché at the Belgian Legation in Petrograd. He comes of a well-known Antwerp family.

The fifth member of the mission is Count Louis d'Ursel, first cousin of Duke d'Ursel, who, despite the fact of his noble birth and that he was more than forty years old, enlisted in the Belgian Army as a private when the war began. At that time Count d'Ursel was Secretary of the Belgian Legation at Teheran. He left his post at once and, following in the footsteps of the head of his house, enlisted in the ranks of the Belgian army and finally rose to the grade of Lieutenant. His younger brother, who was wounded early in the war, is now at the front again with the Belgian army.

ARMY FLIERS GIVE SPECTATORS THRILLS

22D REGIMENT PARADES

Fortune Tellers and Vendors of All Sorts of Wares at Benefit That Yields More Than $5,000.

The garden party held yesterday afternoon on Governors Island for the benefit of the Army Relief Society attracted more than 8,000 visitors. The response this year was electric, probably owing to the war, for the aim of the organization is to lessen the privations of the wives and children of the officers and men of the United States Army who have given the best years of their lives to their country.

The ferryboats, which ran every fifteen minutes from the Government dock at South Ferry, were crowded shortly after noon, although the official program was not sceduled to start until 3 o'clock. In three hours, at the dock, $1,000 was taken in for admission. The proceeds of tickets sold will amount to more than $5,000.

A short walk from the island dock brought the visitors to the reception tent, where the Reception Committee was lined up. The occasion marked the first appearance of Major Gen. J. Franklin Bell, the new commanding officer of the Eastern Department, and Mrs. Bell, and they were cordially greeted. Assisting them in receiving were Mrs. Charles F. Roe, President of the New York branch of the organization, Mrs. James M. Lawton, Colonel and Mrs. J. C. F. Tillson, Mrs. Henry L. Stimson, Colonel Orin B. Mitcham, and Colonel George T. Bartlett. Admiral and Mrs. N. R. Usher were kept away owing to the recent death of Mrs. Usher's father.

A path was marked from the reception tent to the parade ground by Red Cross flags, and here much interest was centred on the military events, which opened with the escort to the colors. This was followed by flying manoeuvres by the Army Aero Squadron, Colonel Carl Hartman in charge, and the spectators were thrilled with loop-the-loops and spiral dives. Lieutenants Blakeman and William Thaw and Captain Miller were among the aviators.

The Twenty-second Regiment, still bronzed from the Arizona sun, made a stirring appearance in battalion drill and the evening parade. Two military bands played selections between events. Hundreds remained over for dinner, served in tents, and the dancing in the clubhouse, which continued until 11 o'clock.

While there were all sorts of refreshments, the "hot-dog" vendors did a land-office business. The popularity of "hot-dogs" evidently was not anticipated by the Misses Sue Shattuck and Ann Ruggles, when they appeared among the parade grounds throng, wheeling a tea wagon containing a kettle of "hot-dogs," with a general side supply of pickles and mustard. They were kept busy from that moment on until their supply was exhausted.

The fortune tellers were very popular, too, as they are always sought after in war times. Miss Sue Spiller, as Princess Ismah, in Mrs. T. Q. Donaldson's tent, read fortunes by cards. Princess Zaza, in another tent, read palms. Mrs. Russell C. Graves and Mrs. E. M. Loudin assisted Mrs. Donaldson. Mrs. Dudley Field Malone was among those assisting at the ice cream and candy booth, which had Mrs. J. P. Finley in charge. Mrs. Stephen C. Mills, Mrs. Ewing Booth, and Mrs. William Chamberlain were in charge of one of the hot coffee and tea booths. The pretty daughters of the military officers of the Island and nearby forts, in smart frocks, some with swagger sticks, sold confections and cigarettes.

Olmsted-Overton Wedding June 23.

The wedding of Miss Margaret Clough Overton, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clough Cosby Overton of this city, and William Beach Olmsted, Jr., son of the Rev. William Beach Olmsted of the Pomfret School and Mrs. Olmsted, will take place on Saturday, June 23, at Ridgefield, Conn.

Miss Olmsted will have Mrs. Robert W. Wigton of Philadelphia as matron of honor, and the bridesmaids will be the Misses Christina M. Nichols, Gertrude Mali, Augusta Dixon, and Nancy Olmsted. Frederick Olmsted is to be the best man. The ceremony will be solemnized by the bridegroom's father, the Rev. William Beach Olmsted, assisted by Bishop Oxford, an uncle of the bridegroom, and the Rev. William B. Lusk of the Ridgefield Church.

Miss Hoyt to Wed James R. Sloane.

Mrs. Jesse Hoyt of 969 Park Avenue announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Isabel Hoyt, to James Renwick Sloane, son of Professor William Milligan Sloane and Mrs. Sloane, formerly of this city but now of Princeton, N. J. Miss Hoyt, who made he début several years ago, is a sister of Mrs. George R. Leslie, Jr., and of Jesse Hoyt. Her mother was formerly Miss Cornelia B. Waring.

Mr. Sloane was graduated from Princeton in 1900, and is a member of the University and Princeton Clubs. Dr. Francis J. Sloane is his brother. One of his sisters, Miss Mary Renwick Sloane, married Joseph L. Delafield, and the other, Miss Margaret M. Sloane, married Benson Bennett Sloane.

No date has been mentioned for the wedding.

Kreykenbohm-Henkel.

The marriage of William K. Kreykenbohm and Miss Mabel Henkel, daughter of former United States Marshal William Henkel and Mrs. Henkel, took place at 7 o'clock last evening in the Chapel of St. George's Church, Stuyvesant Square, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Samuel Dunfedge. Miss Henkel was attended by her sister, Miss Georgianna Henkel, as maid of honor. The Misses Helen Henkel and Marie Rooney were the bridesmaids, and the flower girls were Ardis Henkel and Marie Michel. Henry Kreykenbohm was his brother's best man, and the ushers were George Kreykenbohm, J. Totten, and George Kreykenbohm. A small reception followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henkel, 339 East Eighteenth Street.

Miss Louise Stewart a Bride.

The marriage of Poindexter B. Powers of this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Powers of Augusta, Ky., and Miss Louise Stewart, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Stewart of this city, took place in the Holland House ballroom last evening, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Dr. J. Pike Powers of Knoxville, Tenn., an uncle of the bridegroom. Miss Virginia Ballard was the maid of honor and Miss Frederica Fry was the flower girl. Duke Hampton was the best man, and the ushers were George W. Given, Harold B. Powers, George Bartholomew, and George J. Green. There were 500 guests.

R. A. Shaw Weds Miss Ethel Henry.

The marriage of Robert A. Shaw and Miss Ethel Marie Henry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Henry of 2 West Ninety-fourth Street, took place at noon yesterday in the Rose Room of the Hotel Majestic. The Rev. Oliver P. Barnhill of the Marble Collegiate Church officiated. The bride wore a white satin and chiffon gown embroidered in pearls, and was attended by Miss Grace Birdseye, in a pink silk frock topped by a pink tulle hat, and carrying pink sweet peas. Joseph N. Biddlecome was the best man.

Drake-Lawrence Wedding.

Edith White Lawrence was married to W. Wilson Drake of Warrenton, Va., on Tuesday evening at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Joseph Daingerfield Lawrence, Grimes Hill, S. I. The bridegroom is a Spanish war veteran and a former member of Squadron A. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Arthur H. Allen. Arthur Hagermayer acted as best man, and the bride's sister, Mrs. Norman Bentley Gardiner, was the matron of honor.

Snyder-Major Engagement.

The engagement of Miss Dorothy Cruikshank Snyder to Cedric Alywin Major, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Major, of 183 Lefferts Place, Brooklyn, was announced yesterday. Miss Snyder is the daughter of Mrs. Susie Cruikshank Snyder of 436 Washington Avenue, Brooklyn, and was graduated yesterday morning from the Misses Masters School at Dobbs Ferry. She made her début last Winter.

Mr. Major was graduated from Cornell in 1912, and is assistant to the general counsel of the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

MISS ENDICOTT IS BRIDE IN ST. GEORGE'S

BISHOP GREER OFFICIATES

Church Filled with Prominent Guests — Miss Lillian Endicott Her Sister's Only Attendant.

The wedding of Beverley Randolph Robinson, the son of Dr. Beverley Robinson and Mrs. Robinson of 42 West Thirty-seventh Street, and Miss Gladys Endicott, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Endicott and a granddaughter of the late William H. Seward, Secretary of State under Lincoln, was solemnized at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in St. George's Church, Stuyvesant Square. The church chancel was decorated with palms, dogwood, and lilacs, and the ceremony was performed by Bishop David H. Greer and the rector of the church, the Rev. Karl Reiland. The church was crowded with guests.

The bride, who walked with her father, wore a short-skirted frock of white satin draped over a petticoat of point lace. It was highwaisted and had a deep V embroidered in pearls from the low round neck to below the waist line. There was no girdle, it being a one-piece robe, and the short band sleeves and neck were also pearl embroidered. The long square train was of silver brocade, and a shawl of old point lace worn by the bride's mother and her grandmother formed the veil. It was arranged in a Russian coronet effect in the front and was held with orange blossoms. A deep point fell at each side to below the knees, with a third and shorter one at the back. Her silken hose and slippers were also embroidered, the latter in pearls. She wore a diamond pendant, the gift of the bridegroom, and carried lilies of the valley and orchids with maidenhair ferns.

The bride's only attendant was her younger sister, Miss Lillian Endicott. Her frock of pale blue chiffon was over white lace, the skirt arranged in a double-tier skirt with rolled-under edges, and the low-cut corsage had a white-lace guimpe. The sleeves were short and her large pale blue crêpe hat was trimmed with silvered pink and blue roses, and her bouquet was white lilacs and pink roses with showers of rosebuds.

Mr. Robinson had William H. Wheelock as his best man, and the ushers were Cabot Ward, John Shillito Rogers, Walter E. Hope, Courtland Nicoll, Charles C. Stillman, Arthur W. Butler, and Norton Perkins, all of New York; Edward L. Pruyn of Albany, Henry F. du Pont of Delaware, and J. Randolph Robinson.

The ceremony was followed by a small reception for the families and a few close friends of the bride and bridegroom at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Endicott, 109 East Thirty-sixth Street, which was decorated with white lilacs and dogwood. Mr. Robinson and his bride are going to California to remain three months, and on their return will live in the house they have taken at 111 East Thirty-eighth Street.

Mr. Robinson graduated from Harvard in 1898 and from the Columbia Law School in 1901, and was one of the five to found The Columbia Law Review. From 1904 to 1906 he was an Alderman, and the following three years, 1907-9, he was a member of the State Assembly, and for several years was President of the Republican Club of the Twenty-seventh Assembly District. He is a member of the law firm of Masten & Nichols and is a member of the Knickerbocker, Union, University, Century, and Seahawanaka Yacht Clubs.

MISS PARIS'S BRIDAL PARTY.

The wedding of Miss Nina Perry Paris, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis U. Paris of New York, and William Walter Phelps, a son of Mrs. Sheffield Phelps of Rosehill, Aiken, S. C., and New York, will be celebrated on Saturday, June 16, at 3:30 o'clock in the choir of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, Morningside Heights, and the ceremony will be performed by the Rev. William B. Lusk of Ridgefield, Conn., where Mr. and Mrs. Paris have a Summer home.

Miss Paris will have her young sister, Miss Margaret G. Paris, as her maid of honor, and her other attendants will be her sister, Mrs. William P. Philips; her cousin, Miss Mary Allison Swan, and the bridegroom's sisters, the Misses Claudia and Eleanor Phelps. The ushers will include the bride's brother, Irving Paris, 2d; David Duncan, and Maurice Fremont Smith of Boston.

Mr. Phelps, who is a grandson of the late William Walter Phelps, is assistant secretary to Frank A. Scott, Chairman of the General Munitions Board of the Council of National Defense, in Washington, and after their marriage he will take his bride to that city.

MARRY IN HASTE IN WAR.

A hurried war wedding celebrated yesterday afternoon was that of Dr. John Gerster, a son of Dr. Arpad G. Gersterand Mrs. Gerster, and Miss Alice Fox. The wedding was originally set for June 25, but as Dr. Gerster is a member of the Officers' Reserve Corps and has been ordered to Fort Benjamin Harrison, near Indianapolis, Ind., the ceremony was celebrated quietly at 3:30 o'clock at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Austen G. Fox, 37 East Thirty-ninth Street, which was decorated throughout with palms, marguerites and June roses.

The ceremony was performed in the drawing room before a temporary altar of white flowers by Bishop David W. Greer, the bridal party passing through an aisle outlined by flower-topped white posts joined by white ribbons.

The bride, who was unattended, walked with her father, who gave her in marriage. Her robe was white charmeuse and tulle, and her veil of old point lace, a family heirloom, was held with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and sweet peas with showers of lilies of the valley.

Dr. Gerster's best man was Dr. Alms R. Chamberlain, and the four ushers were Austen H. Fox, a brother of the bride; Dr. Kirby Dwight, Ernest Stauffer, Jr., and J. T. Hanemann. A small reception followed the ceremony. The engagement was announced on May 1.

FISHER WEAK FROM START

Otis Lambeth, who pitches for the Clevelands, emphatically refused to permit the Yankees to hit the ball at the Polo Grounds yesterday afternoon, so without fuss or protest Donovan's lads gloomily tolerated a 6 to 1 defeat. As Lee Fohl's Indians are crowding pretty close behind the Yanks, the hold the New Yorkers have on third place is none too secure.

Lambeth allowed the Yanks only two measly hits yesterday, both of them infield taps. The Cleveland flinger had a lot on the ball besides the stitching and the trade mark, and there was so much spin to the sphere that the Yanks monotonously jammed it into the waiting hands of the fielders.

Magee, the first man up in the first inning, beat out a bunt to Lambeth because of his fleet sprinting. In the third inning Nunamaker rolled a little tap down toward third and beat it out. That was the total of the Yankee batting yesterday. Everything that Lambeth had, Ray Fisher, pitching for the Yankees, didn't have. The Vermont pedagogue was a picture of despondency. He was hit so often in the fourth that he looked longingly toward the outfield to see if some other pitcher wasn't warmed up to take his place. At times Fisher lobbed them over so easily that it was an even bet whether or not they would ever reach the Cleveland bats.

Fisher tossed one ball to Steve O'Neill in the fourth just as a schoolgirl throws a bean-bag. All that O'Neill did to that was to pickle it hard to right field and send in two runs. A blind man could have walloped that easy one which Fisher served to the Cleveland batsman. The hitting ability of the Cleveland team isn't confined exclusively to Tris Speaker, by any means. Graney and Chapman were the only ones who didn't figure in the Indians' dozen blows yesterday, but they were probably waiting for some other game of the present series.

Fohl Works in Silence.

Lee Fohl, the pilot of the Clevelands, is one baseball manager who says little and accomplishes a whole lot. He is the most inconspicuous member of the club, and few of the fans even know when he is on the coaching lines. He's short on talk and long on action. Fohl has a player named Harris playing at first. This is the same Harris who was once a member of the Yankees when Frank Chance was manager. Chance couldn't see him through the Lick telescope, and the player didn't stay with the Yanks long enough to be introduced to all the other players. Chance had him about two days and then let him go.

Lambeth hasn't been pitching much this year, but he showed yesterday that he is about ready to do some steady work. He has a side arm motion which at times borders on an underhand service, which carries the ball up to the batters completely enveloped in puzzling twists.

The brightest spot in the Yankees' playing was a circus stop by Frank Baker in the ninth, when he cut short a Cleveland rally after one run had been scored. Tris Speaker walloped a bounder down close to the third-base line which was so hot that you could almost see the sparks sputter from it. Baker scooped it up with his bare hand and made a beautiful throw from behind third base, cutting down Speaker at first for the third out.

When Magee opened the Yankees' attack with a hit the New Yorks gave the impression that they had intentions of accomplishing something. Lee hurried ahead of a tap to Lambeth and High sacrificed. Maisel dropped another sacrifice and Magee went to third. Pipp did nothing to aid the cause, as he went out at first, Harris to Lambeth.

The lone run of the Yankees came in the third inning, in the nature of a gift. Nunamaker made the Yankees' second and last hit with a tap down the third-base line. Fisher forced him at second and Magee forced Fisher at the same station. Magee then stole second and O'Neill's throw went on its merry way to centre field, Magee chasing around to the plate before the ball came back.

Indians Busy Early.

Cleveland hostilities began in the second inning. Roth walked and Chapman sacrificed. Baker knocked down a high bounder off Wambsganss's bat and threw him out at first, but so much time was consumed in accomplishing this that the fleet-footed Roth was able to score from second.

Speaker opened the third with an infield hit toward second, and Roth singled to left, sending Speaker to third. High juggled the ball long enough to make Speaker's trip to third safe, while Roth was able to reach second as a result of High's nervousness. With the infield playing close in, Chapman hit a grounder at Maisel, who held Speaker at third and threw the runner out at first.

Wambsganss smashed a bouncer to Peckinpaugh, who had a hard time gathering the ball and a harder time knowing what to do with it. First he thought he would throw it to first, but he changed his mind and thought he would throw it to second. Again he changed his mind and finally ran down Roth before he reached third, in the meantime completely overlooking the fact that Speaker was scoring with no one to question his right to do so.

Harris's hit to left sent Wambsganss to third and then Steve O'Neill came to the bat. By this time Fisher was simply lobbing them over, and when an easy one came over as large as a toy balloon, O'Neill just swatted it for a single to right and sent Wambsganss and Harris home.

Evans opened the eighth with a single to right and went to third on Speaker's single to left. Roth poled one to right and scored Evans. The last Cleveland tally was perpetrated in the ninth. With one out, O'Neill singled and went down on a perfect bunt hit by Lambeth. O'Neill went to third when Graney forced Lambeth at second, and the catcher scored on Evans's safe blow to centre.

Detroits Win Through Some Luck and Dauss's Effective Twirling.

BOSTON, June 6.—Detroit shut out Boston, 3 to 0, today. Dauss's pitching was so puzzling to the world champions that no Boston player passed second base. Ruth was hit hard and was wild. All of Detroit's runs came in the first inning, the result of Bush's double, Cobb's single, and a steal, a passed ball, a base on balls, Heilman's sacrifice fly, and a single by Burns. The score:

Rain Keeps Superbas Idle.

PITTSBURGH, Penn., June 6.—Another terrific thunderstorm deluged the ball grounds at Forbes Field this morning and put them out of commission for the day. The game postponed yesterday will be played off as part of a double-header on Thursday, July 26, and today's contest will be staged as part of a double header on Saturday, July 28.

Mrs. Lasher Wins in Women's Golf.

Mrs. W. M. Lasher of Apawamis won the women's golf tournament at the Apawamis Golf Club yesterday with a card of 53—50—103. Mrs. L. C. Stockton of Raritan Valley was second with 51—53—104, and third place went to Mrs. G. F. Bowman of Spring Lake, with a card of 55—57—112.

MATTY'S MEN AGAIN TOPPLE THE GIANTS

CINCINNATI, June 6.—The Giants dropped another game to the Reds today when their offense suddenly crumpled and their defense weakened, the score being 6 to 3. Starting out fiercely the Giants banged seven hits off Toney in the first four innings. Similar hard hitting by the Reds off Benton, a base on balls, and a costly error by Herzog gave Cincinnati four runs and renewed Toney's confidence. His pitching was too much for the boys after that, not a hit being made off him in the last five innings. The Giants dropped to second place, as the Phillies trounced the Cubs.

The Giants had a fighting chance in the ninth, when with two down Toney walked Rariden, batting for Middleton, and Burns. Herzog, however, flied to Roush, and the second game of the series was gone.

The Reds apparently like southpaw pitching, treating Benton, today's starter, worse than they did Schupp yesterday. Rube might have got by, however, but for Herzog's blunder, which cost a run in the fourth. There was one out and two on at the time, and Herzog had a double play right in front of him. While the grounder was hit hard by Wingo, Herzog handles harder ones every day. A base on balls and two hits followed the error.

Middleton pitched the last three innings and held the Reds to three hits and one run. Cincinnati players were exceedingly chesty after driving Benton to the bench and stepped into Middleton's good curve ball much more courageously than they would had they been battling on even terms.

Burns singled to left at the start and Herzog hit one too hard for Groh to hold. Robertson sacrificed and Burns came home when Wingo had a passed ball, Herzog moving up. He scored when Zim hit to Kopf, beating the throw home easily. Fletcher singled, but was left. Burns hit to centre with two down in the second, but went out stealing.

The Reds got one in their half, Chase leading off with a single and taking second on Cueto's out, after Thorpe had flied to Robertson. Chase stole third and scored on Shean's single to centre. Robertson's hit in the third was wasted, but the Giants pushed their last run over in the fourth. Holke beat one to Chase and took second when that worthy let Thorpe's throw get away from him after McCarty had flied to right. Benton came through with a single to centre and Holke scored.

Then came the bad fourth. Cueto hit to centre. Shean also singled. Then Wingo drove one to Herzog, who let it get away and Cueto went over, Shean taking third. Toney's fly to Robertson scored Shean. Wingo stole second and Groh walked. Both scored on Kopf's double to right centre. Roush beat a bunt, but Burns went a long ways after Chase's fly.

Bases on balls gave the Giants a chance or two after this. Herzog, first up in the sixth, strolled, but was forced by Zim, who in turn was forced by Fletcher. Kauff walked to start the seventh, but puny grounders followed. As recorded, two strolled in the ninth, but Herzog did not have the punch.

Toney's double in the Reds' sixth was followed by Groh's fielder's choice, on which he reached second. Kopf drove Groh home with a single.

Boston Ties Score with Six Runs in Eighth, but Loses by 8 to 7.

ST. LOUIS, June 6.—A double by Hornsby and a single by Cruise in the eighth inning scored the run that gave St. Louis today's game over Boston, 8 to 7. Hornsby hit a home run with the bases filled in the third.

In this inning Doak and J. Smith singled and Gonzales walked. Nehf also passed Miller, forcing in Doak. Then came Hornsby. The locals made all of their hits count, having but one man left on bases. They got two runs in the sixth on three singles and an out.

In the eighth Doak weakened and Ames, who relieved him, was wild, and Boston made six runs, tying the score, on a triple, three singles, three bases on balls, a hit batsman, and two outs.

HONUS WAGNER COMES BACK

PITTSBURGH, June 6.—John Henry (Honus) Wagner, the star shortstop, who failed to report to the Pittsburgh National League Baseball Club at the beginning of the season after twenty years as a player in the National League, today signed a contract with President Barney Dreyfuss of the Pittsburgh Club.

It was announced that Wagner will appear at first base in tomorrow's game with Brooklyn.

No statement was made as to the salary Wagner will receive under the new contract. For the last two years, it is said, he has been receiving a salary of $10,000, and, according to some reports, it was because of a reduction that the veteran shortstop failed to report this Spring. Officials of the club at various times announced that Wagner had not joined the team on account of business interests. Despite predictions and rumors, Wagner refused to make an announcement that he had retired from the game.

For more than a week it had been persistently reported that Wagner would rejoin the club, and it was known that he was being urged to do so by many who attributed this year's slump of the Pirates to his absence.

After signing a contract, Wagner sent the following telegram to August Herrmann, Chairman of the National Baseball Commission:

"Finding the call of baseball too strong to resist, I desire to continue to play the game I love, and to which I owe all I possess, and I hereby petition the National Commission to grant my request for reinstatement, so that I may play with my old club tomorrow."

ALEX SHUTS OUT BRUINS.

Also Contributes Two Runs in Phillies' 4 to 0 Victory.

CHICAGO, June 6.—Grover Alexander pitched in fine form today and Philadelphia shut out Chicago, 4 to 0. The visitors bunched hits behind Seaton's wildness in the fourth inning and scored two runs. Alexander scored the other two runs. He tripled in the fifth and scored on a single, and scored in the seventh on a sacrifice fly after his second triple.

AL REEVES FIRST IN STEEPLECHASE

Mrs. Whitney's Entry Comes Home in Front of Mrs. McLean's Pandean at Belmont.

Well-fought races won by narrow margins provoked enthusiasm yesterday from one of the largest crowds that has attended the Belmont Park meeting. The greatest interest was taken in the steeplechase in which ten accomplished fencers went to the post and the issue was fought out by horses owned by women.

Al Reeves, running in the name of the Greentree Stable, owned by Mrs. Payne Whitney, was superbly ridden by Vincent Powers, and in spite of the fact that he carried top weight of 151 pounds got home a head in front of Pandean. The latter was entered under the name of Folly Farm, which is the racing establishment of Mrs. Edward B. McLean.

Though a stiff pace was set by H. L. Pratt's Socony and followed closely by most of the competitors, not one of the field made a mistake. It looked as though an accident must happen at the jump opposite the club house, as the horses were so bunched that about half a dozen were in the air at the same time. All landed safely, however, with Socony, Marchena and Al Reeves the leading trio.

Toward the end of the back stretch Powers got out of the close quarters he was in by sending Al Reeves to the front. Plaisir D'Amour, one of J. E. Widener's imported pair, threatened going around the bend, but fell back when Powers let out a link on Al Reeves as he began the stretch run.

Al Reeves bore out, and as he did so F. Williams brought Pandean up on the rail to assume the lead just after taking the last jump. Both horses were driven to the limit, and Al Reeves outgamed his rival. Marchena was two lengths back and Plaisir D'Amour only a length and a half further back.

The Babylon Handicap at a mile and a sixteenth was the feature of the flat events, with Harry Payne Whitney's Borrow the top weight and favorite. Dick Williams, Brooklyn, and Flittergold set a dazzling pace to the turn, where Borrow moved up in second place to Dick Williams. The latter was done with at the head of the stretch and Ambrose brought Flittergold up on the rail to take a lead of two lengths at the eighth pole. Borrow ran gamely to the end and cut down the lead, but Flittergold won by a length, with Borrow the same distance in front of Daddy's Choice.

The fifth, another scramble for two-year-olds, went to the Brighton Stable's Corydon, which beat Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Stella Mia by two lengths. A real thriller closed the program, though with seven starters the race was a two-horse affair. John Sanford's Meteorite and A. K. Macomber's The Cock hooked up in the stretch for a duel which resulted in favor of Meteorite by half a length. The time, 1:40 for the mile, shows that a smart colt has graduated from the maiden class.

THE HARVESTER GOES WEST.

Sold to an Indianan at Billings Dispersal for $30,100.

The Harvester, 2:01, a great racer in his day, for seven years the champion trotting stallion, and a promising sire of trotters, was sold at auction in Madison Square Garden yesterday for $30,100, said to be the highest price ever paid for a trotter at a sale in the Garden. The son of Walnut Hall-Notelet, now twelve years old, was the star of the dispersal sale of the Curles Neck Farm of C. K. G. Billings, which included all the brood mares as well as several other stallions. He was alone in his glory so far as a big price was concerned, for William and Directum I., both champion pacers, were disposed of for comparatively ordinary figures.

Indiana will be the State to harbor The Harvester in all probability, for the remainder of his career at the stud. There was lively bidding for the choice morsel of horse flesh, but at the end the bid authorized by long distance telephone prevailed over those of several Easterners. Peter Kuhn of Terre Haute, Ind., called up the auctioneer, George Bain, on Tuesday night, said he would like The Harvester, and in reply to the question as to how far he would go, said "as far as your judgment allows you."

It was a hopeless task bidding against a blanket order of that nature, but Dr. McCully started with $10,000. Richard Delafield, owner of Brook Farm, Chester, N. Y., helped to carry the bidding along to $25,000. He stepped aside then, and the representative of Mr. Kuhn, with Walter Cox, who was acting for Harry Harkness of Walnut Hall Farm, carried the price along to $27,500. One more effort to gain the prize was made by Mr. Delafield, who chirped $30,000. The next advance of $100 came from the persistent bidder for the Indiana man, and the horse was knocked down to him.

William, a pacer, with a record of 1:58¼, caused little commotion when he was led into the ring. He was knocked down to J. Crouch of Lafayette, Ind., for $8,000. It was said that the buyer was acting for W. A. Vannatta of Otterbein, Ind., who sold William to Mr. Billings two years ago for $5,000 and now gets him back at a greatly reduced figure.

The sale for more than $500 were:

A. K. Macomber Adds a Latonia Derby Prospect to His Stable.

A. K. Macomber, who has spent more money for thoroughbreds in the past year or so than any other man on the turf, made a seemingly promising addition to his stable yesterday when he purchased the three-year-old Al M. Dick from Roy T. Yager. Al M. Dick, which ran second to Khaliftan in the Preakness Stakes, has won two races at Belmont Park and in one of these he gave weight and a beating to Skeptic, which two days later ran third to Hourless in the Belmont Stakes.

Al M. Dick is entered in the Latonia Derby to be run on June 16. If he wins that stake half the winnings will go to Yager in addition to $20,000, which was the cash selling price. The horse will be trained for the Latonia Derby by J. W. May, who has trained him heretofore and after that race will be turned over to Mr. Macomber.

FINAL IN WOMEN'S TENNIS IS REACHED

Mrs. Hitchins and Miss Gilleaudeau to Meet for Honors in Staten Island Tourney.

Mrs. Charles V. Hitchins and Miss Helen Gilleaudeau blazed their way to the final round of the singles event in the women's invitation tennis tournament at the Staten Island Ladies' Club yesterday. In the case of each it was only the best of tennis that accomplished this result. Mrs. Hitchins had the hardest struggle when she faced Helene Pollak, and the score of 6—3, 6—8, 6—1, amply shows the difficulties which crossed her path. Miss Gilleaudeau was also pressed to a three-set encounter, her opponent being Mrs. Theodore Cassebeer, who was vanquished by the score of 4—6, 6—2, 6—0.

Only two other matches were played in the tournament and they were both in the doubles division. Miss Edith White and Miss Helene Pollak advanced to the semi-final round when they defeated Mrs. M. B. Huff and Miss Caroma Winn at 7—5, 6—1, and Miss Ethel Tyndale and Miss Helen Gilleaudeau took a lower half semi-final round bracket by defeating the veteran combination, Mrs. William H. Pouch and Miss Edith Handy.

Mrs. Hitchins has played some tennis of exceptional quality this season, and she had all of the fine points of her game under control yesterday in the contest against Miss Pollak. The latter is a formidable player at all times, aggressive in her attack, and confident even when playing on the defensive. The game as set forth by Mrs. Hitchins, however, confused her, and although she struggled gamely against the effectiveness of her opponent's play she could not get into her strokes their accustomed power or accuracy.

Doubtless the greatest surprise of the day was the defeat of Mrs. William H. Pouch and Miss Edith Handy in the doubles by Miss Tyndale and Miss Gilleaudeau. Mrs. Pouch and Miss Handy are not alone proficient individually, but they have had a wide experience as a double team. Miss Tyndale and Miss Gilleaudeau, however, played with a brilliancy that left the older contestants the small part of the score. Miss Tyndale was especially good when playing the net, her stop volleying being one of the outstanding features of the contest.

The summaries:

SINGLES. — Semi-final Round—Miss Helen Gilleaudeau defeated Mrs. Theodore Cassebeer, 4—6, 6—2, 6—0; Mrs. C. V. Hitchins defeated Miss Helene Pollak, 6—3, 6—8, 6—1.

DOUBLES.—First Round—Mrs. M. D. Huff and Miss Caroma Winn won from Miss A. Morrison and Miss B. Holden by default.

SECOND ROUND—Miss Edith White and Miss Helene Pollak defeated Mrs. M. B. Huff and Miss Caroma Winn, 7—5, 6—1; Miss Ethel Tyndale and Miss Helen Gilleaudeau defeated Mrs. William H. Pouch and Miss Edith Handy, 6—3, 7—5.

BAGGS AND VOSHELL LOSE.

Beaten by Salm and Hartman, 5—7, 6—4, 8—6, in Tennis Doubles.

A surprise of more than ordinary proportions injected itself into the tennis tournament of the New York Lawn Tennis Club yesterday, when the veteran doubles team of Fred C. Baggs and S. Howard Voshell, ranked two years ago well up among the first ten, was defeated in the first round of the doubles tournament by Count Otto Salm and Ingo Hartman. The score of this match was 5—7, 6—4, 8—6. Neither Baggs nor Voshell showed to his best advantage. The former has played practically no tennis at all since the outdoor season opened and this lack of practice was glaringly evident in his play, which did not approach nearly the quality of which he is capable. Voshell, too, was a bit out of stroke and Salm and Hartman took full advantage of the situation presented.

The summaries:

SINGLES.—Third Round—Hugh Tallant defeated B. W. Stair, 6—3, 6—4; S. Howard Voshell defeated Count Otto Salm, 6—2, 6—4; Allan Behr defeated Dr. William Rosenbaum, 6—4, 6—3.

DOUBLES.—First Round—Allan Behr and E. Henderson defeated Elliott Binzen and Benjamin Letson, 1—6, 6—3, 6—3; Count Salm and Ingo Hartman defeated Fred C. Baggs and S. Howard Voshell, 5—7, 6—4, 8—6.

KRAMER'S LAURELS FADING.

NEWARAK, N. J. June 6.—Arthur Spencer, the young Toronto cyclist, defeated Frank Kramer in two out of three heats of a one-mile race here tonight. Spencer won the first and third heats, Kramer getting the second. Spencer won both his heats by riding in front all the way, and led Kramer over the tape in the first one by a length, and in the third by more than that distance. Kramer won his heat by inches only. The young Canadian got a big reception after winning.

Fred Taylor, a local boy, won the quarter-mile national amateur championship, beating out Chris Dotterweich, John L. Staehle—the title holder—and Harry Horan. Staehle was slow in getting away from the mark, while the short distance just suited the Newark boy.

Cochran Wins Twice at Billiards.

Welker Cochran, the Chicago professional billiardist, defeated Francis Appleby and George Spear, leading amateur billiard players, in 18.2 balkline matches played yesterday afternoon and evening at Daly's Billiard Academy. In the afternoon Cochran beat Spear by a score of 300 to 79, and in the evening the Chicagoan defeated Appleby by 300 to 129.

SOUNDS WAR CALL FOR MORE DOCTORS

American Army Will Need 28,000 and the Navy 2,000, and Only 3,000 in Sight.

YOUNGMEN DO NOT RESPOND

Dr. Martin Warns Medical Association That Doctors Must Be Found for Our Allies, Too.

Dr. Franklin H. Martin, Chairman of the Medical Section of the Council of National Defense, told the members of the American Medical Association at the Waldorf-Astoria last night that the physicians and surgeons of the nation had not risen to the call of duty. He said that the Medical Officers' Reserve Corps plan had failed to provide the surgeons needed for the army and navy; that of the 28,000 military medical men needed now, the Government had only 3,000 in sight, with England and France begging for doctors. He declared that if the doctors didn't come forward soon heroic steps would have to be taken. Dr. Martin declared that of 8,000 young doctors who had applied for commissions and to whom commissions had been offered, fewer than 3,000 had accepted them.

"If you are a member of the Medical Officers' Reserve Corps, for God's sake go home and accept," he appealed. "If you're not going to accept go home and say that, so we down in Washington can know what we are up against."

Dr. Martin's criticism was an unpleasant surprise to the 1,000 or more delegates in the hall, who on the night before had heard their President, Dr. Charles H. Mayo, declare that the doctors would never have to be conscripted; that they would be ready before the army was. Dr. Martin said that to stir up the doctors he would warn all those of conscription age that if they didn't enroll as medical men before they were drafted, they might be digging trenches in Franc by next year.

Dr. Martin reviewed the work of the Medical Section, and then he said:

"In the army we have only a few hundred medical officers; we must have from 25,000 to 28,000. We must impress upon the 147,000 doctors of the United States that they must come to the front. Are they coming? I hope so—but they haven't come.

Balfour's First Call for Doctors.

"Do you know what was the first thing Mr. Balfour asked for when he came to this country? Do you know what was the first request that was granted? It was for doctors."

Dr. Martin told of the dinner at the White House for the British commission. He said he was talking to Mr. Balfour, when Mr. Balfour asked: "Have you anything to do with getting doctors?" Dr. Martin said he had, and Mr. Balfour asked for 1,000 doctors for England and a like number for France. He told how the next morning the official and formal request came from London for 500 doctors and 500 nurses, and 6 base hospital units. The doctors, he said, were now being sent at the rate of 200 a month, and ten base hospital units had been called out. "We ought to send them 500 a month," said Dr. Martin, "yes, a thousand a month."

He advised that instead of young doctors going to training camps in this country they go to France to get their training under war conditions, saying that an arrangement with England had been made by which these doctors would go to the American troops when they got to France.

Dr. Martin said that the doctors had to come from America. He said that rural England was stripped of medical men below the age of 54.

"What is the reason for this?" he asked. "It is because the death rate of medical men is greater than in any other service. In other wars doctors were in places of safety. But not so in this war. They are ten, twelve, or fifteen miles in the rear, but they never know when a big shell is going to wipe hospital, doctors, and patients out of existence. In a recent retreat of the Allies 267 doctors were killed in one hour. In another battle 400 were put out of service.

"And they're fighting our battle. It is difficult to know the needs and remain calm. So many of you have accepted these honorary posts in time of peace; you have become Lieutenants and the like. But this is war and we need you. I believe, of course, I know, we shall get the 21,000 or the 28,000 we need; we will get more when we need them. But it is disheartening to the men down in Washington who are working sixteen hours a day to have men fail to accept commissions when they are offered.

"To all medical men subject to draft, let me say that if they have not accepted or applied for commissions when drafted, they go into the army as privates, and not as medical officers. Let me say to them that if they intend to do their bit, they'd better send in their applications at once or they may be digging trenches next year."

Medical Inspector Lung of the Navy said that the navy of 150,000 men needed 2,000 additional medical officers and asked the association to aid in the task of getting them. He told of the steps necessary to enter the naval medical service.

To Keep Well Men Well.

Conservation of the life of the average American for the great tasks of war and the great tasks of peace now before him was the paramount consideration of the 6,000 delegates who began yesterday the actual work of the largest convention ever held by the American Medical Association. There will always be a place for the great surgeon, but the big field opened now to medicine is to keep well men well and at work—that was the message of the leaders of American medicine. At one time yesterday there were in progress eleven meetings in the Hotel Astor, Hotel Biltmore, Hotel McAlpin, Hotel Manhattan, and other places, all with large attendances and distinguished speakers.

That physicians must abandon the old idea that health is an individual matter and that the physician is an individual worker, and both the patient and the physician must regard themselves as just a part of the society in which they live, Dr. Otto P. Geier of Cincinnati, Chairman of the preventive medicine section, told a large audience at the Biltmore. He made a plea to physicians to be leaders in community thought in all problems relating to disease, insanity, crime, and dependency. His subject was "Adequate Medical Service of the Future."

Dr. J. N. Hurty, State Health Commission of Indiana, speaking before the same section, said that man was to blame for many of his fancied ills.

"What a chump civilized man is to do so many things to make himself weak and sick," he said. "To make sure of sickness and weakness he begins with infancy. He will not give his child enough air, he will not take care of his children's teeth. If his child has a running ear he will let it run. He assaults his child's stomach with awful food. He gives his baby soothing syrups. He deforms his child's body with ill-fitting seats in school. He supplies his child drinking water which is polluted with sewerage, and when the innocent one dies of typhoid he rolls his eyes toward heaven and says 'The Lord has taken away.'"

Speaking before the Section on Stomatology at the Waldorf-Astoria, Dr. L. Duncan Bulkley of New York said that many cases of cancer of the mouth were caused by bad teeth.

"The dentist," he said, "has a great responsibility concerning cancer of the oral cavity, for he of all others is most likely to see the beginning of the disease, and an early worning, followed by proper treatment, lessens the prospect of an unfavorable termination. It is particularly desirable that the dentist should attend most carefully to the condition of the teeth, for rough, broken, and decayed teeth play a not inconsiderable part in the production of cancer of the mouth."

The Section on Surgery of the Association, including practically all the leading surgeons of the United States, started a movement yesterday to halt the performing of unnecessary operations by incompetent surgeons. A committee of ten to consider ways and means to this end was named after a strong address by Dr. Arthur Dean Bevan of Chicago, in which he decried the large number of operations performed where the patients did not need an operation. He blamed this on ignorance, incompetency and dishonesty. The three essentials of safe surgery, he said, are honesty, good judgment, and scientific training. He said surgeons should frankly admit to the public that there is such a problem and that it could be eliminated only through education, criticism and publicity.

"The law of the knife is an ignis fatuus to too many would-be surgeons," he said. "Self styled surgeons have been made too quickly in this country and when time and experience have turned out a few good ones from this number it has been at a stupendous cost of health and life to the public."

Following on the call of Dr. Charles H. Mayo, the new President of the association, for national prohibition, Dr. Charles C. Leib of New York told the members of the section on Pharmacology at the Hotel Manhattan that the popular belief that alcohol is a heart stimulant is false. He said that experiments on the hearts of rabbits and cats showed that the heart was capable of utilizing alcohol. He said that the animals' hearts, after injections of alcohol, gave a few quick beats and then subsided to a point below that before the injection.

In an address in the afternoon before the Section on Stomatology, Dr. Joseph M. Levy gave results of an investigation of the relations between dental and eye diseases. As the result of dental treatment, 14.1 per cent. of a series of eye infections were cured; 36.85 per cent. were materially benefited, and 49 per cent. showed no improvement.

The ancient assertion of asthmatic patients that their trouble was due to cats or dogs was upheld in an address before the Section on the Practice of Medicine by Dr. I. Chandler Walker of Boston. By means of a skin test, which consisted of placing a small amount of the substance to be tested on a little scratch in the skin of the patient, the cause of asthma was determined in 55 per cent. of a given number of patients. In 20 per cent. of these cases horse hair or dandruff was the cause of asthma; in 5 per cent. cat hair was the cause; in 18 per cent. bacteria were the cause; in 15 per cent. wheat flour; in 25 per cent. the pollen of plants; in 7 per cent. common foods, such as eggs, milk, or chicken meat, and in 10 per cent. a combination of these causes.

Even Doctors Are Fooled by Imitation Compound.

None of the thousands of exhibits of the convention of the American Medical Association attracted more attention than that placed in the Hotel Astor yesterday by the New York City Department of Health, showing what was considered as the most effective and therefore most dangerous imitation of neosalvarsan. It was announced for the Health Department that two of the leaders in the scheme would soon be under arrest.

It was said by officers of the Health Department that it was conservative to say that several thousand persons in New York had been treated with the false neosalvarsan, which is nothing but ordinary table salt with a little yellow aniline dye and dirt. The cunning part of the imitation was that the package, circular, ampul, and every detail of the original article distributed by a company, of which Herman A. Metz is the head, had been reproduced by the imposters, and there was no way to tell the difference between the fake and the genuine medicine without a laboratory test or observing the effect on the patient.

Detectives working for the Health Department have found that at least 50,000 doses of the fake salvarsan were sold. It was put up, according to a statement by officers of the Health Department by two young pharmacists in a dirty room in West Twenty-ninth Street, over a tin shop. The salt and dye were mixed in a dirty sauce-pan—now in the possession of the Commissioner of Health.

The druggists of the whole country have been asked to examine closely any neosalvarsan they have in stock to guard against the use of the dirty yellow salt which may have cost many lives.

Mr. Metz is assisting the police and the health authorities in every way possible in rounding up the salvarsan fakers. They may face an additional charge for forging the copyrighted package of the concern Mr. Metz represents. The imitations were of packages put up in Germany by Farbwerke-Hoechst, the parent company for the manufacture of the famous Ehrlich discovery.

PLATTSBURG PAY HELD UP.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., June 6.—The pay for the 5,000 students at the training camp here is being held up because not all of the national guardsmen have been released from their State obligations. Those guardsmen who were ordere dto Plattsburg have obtained their discharges from the National Guard and are in a position to receive their pay. But 190 members of Squadron A of New York who were not ordered to Plattsburg received furloughs from their organization to enable them to take the course. Technically these men are still a part of Squadron A and until they get their discharges from the National Guard none of the students at Plattsburg can receive their pay.

Another instance of the lack of equipment at the training camp developed today. Gallery practice was scheduled for two and a half hours this morning as a part of the musketry training. Requests were sent nearly three weeks ago to the Northeastern and Eastern Departmental Headquarters for sub-calibre rifles for gallery practice. The Northeastern Department procured these rifles from National Guard and Coast Artillery organizations and sent them to Plattsburg for the New England regiment. The New Englanders engaged in their gallery practice today according to schedule, but Governors Island failed to send the sub-calibre rifles needed by the New York regiment. Pending the arrival of the needed 136 rifles for gallery practice, the New York students must do without this important branch of musketry training.

On the recommendation of Major Edgar T. Collins, senior instructor of the New York regiment, the following reserve officers have been appointed assistant instructors: First Company, Major Theodore Roosevelt, Jr.; Second, Captain C. W. Dell; Third, Captain H. E. Montgomery, 2d; Fourth, Major J. P. Drouillard; Fifth, Captain J. B. Brandreth; Sixth, Captain Francis R. Appleton, Jr.; Seventh, Captain Kenneth P. Budd; Eighth, Captain W. W. Metcalf; Ninth, First Lieutenant J. K. Olyphant; Tenth, Major Lewis Sanders; Eleventh, Captain H. F. Chinner; Twelfth, Captain Francis Bangs; Thirteenth, Captain J. C. Fargo; Fourteenth, Captain Moses King; Fifteenth, Captain Gilbert S. Crawford; Sixteenth, Captain W. E. Payson; Seventeenth, First Lieut. J. H. O'Reilly.

Captain S. C. Megill, C. A. C., arrived from Fort Terry, N. Y., to act as Adjutant of the New York Regiment, in place of Captain H. J. Brees, cavalry, who has been ordered to report to the General Staff at Washington.

DRAWN FOR PERSHING ARMY

SACKET HARBOR, N. Y., June 6.—Several ex-regulars, members of the student corps at Madison Barracks, have been ordered to prepare to accompany Major Gen. J. J. Pershing's expedition to France, it was learned today. The names of the fortunate men, and when and where they are to report, are voluntarily withheld.

With the schedule of training fast approaching its height, the strain of all day drills is beginning to tell. This morning it was announced that eighteen students had been forced to drop out of the course because of physical defects developed in the period from May 15 to June 1. Affairs at home caused twelve others to resign, while Thomas L. P. Lister and Louis R. Stickles left to take commissions in the Aviation and Marine Corps respectively.

Colonel Sample today informed the saloon keepers at Sacket Harbor that they were not to sell any more bottled liquors over their counters. He took this step, not because of any misconduct on the part of students, but because enlisted men were hiring civilian bootleggers to smuggle in beer and other drinks. Yesterday's pay day for the post garrison resulted in high jinks in Watertown, the nearest city of any size, and it is possible that the Colonel's mandate may be applied to Watertown.

Some idea of the big task the Government faces in preparing its commissary department to furnish subsistence to the million or more men who will shortly be called to the colors may be obtained from the following figures showing supplies required for the daily 50-cent rationing of the 2,500 men here. For three meals a day it takes 1,000 loaves of bread, 200 dozen eggs, 1,800 pounds fresh beef, 175 pounds bacon, 1,300 pounds potatoes, 100 pounds coffee, 110 pounds sugar, 170 pounds dried fruits, and 100 pounds cereals.

VOTE $25,000,000 CAPITAL.

Directors of the Guaranty Trust Company, at their meeting yesterday, voted to increase the capital stock of the institution from $20,000,000 to $25,000,000, and it was decided to hold a special meeting of stockholders on June 25 to get their approval to the change. The Directors declared the usual dividend of 5 per cent. for the quarter ending June 30.

It is expected that the new stock will be offered to present shareholders at par ratably in proportion to their holdings, that is, each stockholder will have the privilege of subscribing for one new share for every four that he now owns. Subscriptions to the new stock must be made not later than July 16.

The capital stock of the Guaranty Trust Company was increased from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000 in November, 1915. The company was founded in 1864 under the name of the New York Guaranty and Indemnity Company. In 1891 the capital was increased from $100,000 to $2,000,000 with a paid-in surplus of $500,000. In 1893 the present title of the company was adopted. In 1910 the capital was increased to $5,000,000 and in 1912 it was increased to $10,000,000. The trust company's present resources total about $588,500,000.

The proposal to draft Mayor Mitchel as its candidate in the Mayoralty campaign this Fall if he should refuse to accept a renomination was discussed by the Executive Committee of the new Fusion Committee of 250 at a meeting at India House yesterday. The Mayor has given the committee no assurance as yet that he will accept a renomination, but the committee has made up its mind that no other candidate will do and will go ahead on the theory that he will consent to run. Several fusionists suggested yesterday that a committee wait upon the Mayor and get a definite decision from him, but it was finally decided to take it for granted that he was willing to serve four years more.

William Hamlin Childs, Chairman of the Executive Committee, presided. The committee took up the problem of determining just how far fusion should operate this year, whether to confine its efforts entirely to the election of a city ticket, that is, Mayor, Controller, and President of the Board of Aldermen, or to take in all borough and county candidates and thus have a fusion ticket from top to bottom. Some members were against fusion on the smaller county offices, and it was decided to appoint the committee members from each borough as borough committees to canvass the situation and report back to the Executive Committee. These sub-committees will feel out the fusion sentiment in their boroughs and get a line on the Tammany strength.

While no other candidacy except that for Mayor was discussed, the Executive Committee is practically of one mind that Controller Prendergast should be renominated and that Fire Commissioner Robert Adamson be nominated for President of the Board of Aldermen. The question of selecting candidates for Borough Presidents will be taken up at a later meeting.

At yesterday's meeting the Executive Committee also empowered the Chairman to select sub-committees on platform, finance, publicity, advertising, and speakers. There was also a discussion as to the selection of a Secretary to the Executive Committee. Each of the sub-committees, except the Platform Committee, is to have a bureau staff for the detailed work assigned to the committee. The selection of a headquarters was not determined upon, but it is likely that these will be in the Thirty-eighth Street Building, at Thirty-eighth Street and Madison Avenue.

The committee on candidates of the Democratic Fusion Committee, which is trying to unite all Democrats against the regular fusion ticket, will meet next Monday night at its headquarters in the Herkscher Building, 50 East Forty-second Street. The committee has a number of candidates for Mayor under consideration and a selection may then be made. The committee on platform of the same organization will meet on Friday evening of this week at the same place to hear suggestions from citizens of lower Manhattan.

SEEK WAR PROFITS FOR THE RED CROSS

STOCKHOLDERS MUST AGREE

Eight Industrial Companies, Contributing 1 Per Cent. Each, Would Provide a Fund of $15,500,000.

A result of the appointment of Henry P. Davison as Chairman of the National War Council of the Red Cross, and the enlistment under him for the campaign to raise $100,000,000 in the next few weeks of many influential bankers may be the declaration of a large number of extra dividends this Summer by corporations which have profited by the expansion of business from the war. An effort will be made to have these extra dividends diverted to the uses of the Red Cross.

This plan has been under discussion for several days at meetings of bankers held at the Metropolitan Club, but it has not yet been placed before the boards of any of the companies represented, and will not be unless Directors of enough companies can be won over to the proposal to make its general adoption reasonably certain. Some opposition has developed on the ground that there is no precedent for such action, and that there is no way of insuring that the money appropriated will be donated to the organization. Nevertheless, bankers who are influential in the affairs of many big corporations are confident that the necessities of the situation will decide the leading industrial concerns to adopt the suggestion.

In general, the discussions have turned upon the idea that most of the corporations which are now paying substantial dividends upon their stock can easily afford to make one extra distribution for the benefit of the Red Cross. It is not considered advisable, or perhaps legal, for the companies to appropriate sums directly for charitable work, but it is proposed that they declare extra payments to be known as the Red Cross dividends. In lieu of the usual checks stockholders would receive notices of the dividend, with a request that they sign a release authorizing the companies to pay it directly to the Treasurer of the Red Cross. Where stockholders insist they would, of course, receive the cash.

Bankers who have been urging the adoption of the Red Cross donation dividend would not hazard a guess as to the sum which ought to be provided in this way, beyond saying that if stockholders generally surrendered their claims the amount would run to perhaps half of the $100,000,000 which must be provided at an early date if the work of the organization is to be brought up to the needs of the army and navy. The campaign to raise this sum starts next week with teams headed by J. P. Morgan, Jacob H. Schiff, Albert H. Wiggin, and other leading financiers competing for subscriptions.

It is proposed that corporations make their Red Cross dividends commensurate with their profits, with 1 per cent. as the average. On this basis the eight industrial companies with $100,000,000 or more common stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange would declare dividends aggregating about $15,500,000. These companies, all of which pay substantial regular dividends, are the United States Steel Corporation, with $508,000,000 of common stock, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, with $396,000,000; the Pullman Company, with $120,000,000; Anaconda Copper, with $116,000,000; General Electric, with $101,000,000, and Consolidated Gas, Western Union, and Midvale Steel, each with $100,000,000.

The American Red Cross has done invaluable work, mostly back of the French lines, but it must prepare to take over practically all of the surgical and hospital obligations of the Allies. The French have practically dropped out in order to free their men for the fighting lines, but the British Red Cross has had ambulances, doctors, and hospitals with every unit of the allied forces on both fronts. All of the nations at war have depended largely upon voluntary contributions for this important department. It is expected that the United States will appropriate what sums are needed only after every effort has been made to provide for the enlarged work through gifts by individuals.

The sum apportioned by the Finance Committee of the Red Cross War Council to be raised in New York is $40,000,000 out of the total of $100,000,000.

"The total is large," said Seward Prosser, Chairman of the Executive Committee, in making this announcement, "but Mr. Hoover, on the Commission for Relief in Belgium, directed the expenditure of $350,000,000, and that was not nearly enough. The various sections of the country have had sums apportioned to them to collect in proportion to their resources as calculated by the most competent financial and commercial statisticians in the country."

This afternoon the formal mobilization of the Red Cross speakers will begun with a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce at 3 o'clock. H. P. Davison, Chairman of the War Council; Seward Prosser, Chairman of the Executive Committee; C. D. Hilles, and others will speak. The big drive of Red Cross Week will open with a dinner at the Waldorf Monday evening, June 18.

MISS PECK DEMANDS MONEY

Asks Police to Return $7,800 Which Waite Gave Embalmer.

An echo of the case of Dr. Arthur Warren Waite, the young dentist who was recently put to death in the electric chair for the murder of his father-in-law, John E. Peck, a wealthy drug manufacturer of Grand Rapids, Mich., came up yesterday when Miss Catherine Peck, a sister of the murdered man, made a demand at Police Headquarters for the return of $7,800, which was part of a sum of money Waite had paid to Eugene Kane, an embalmer, to swear that he (Kane) had used arsenic in the fluid with which he embalmed the body of Mr. Peck.

As the basis of her claim Miss Peck called attention to the testimony of Dr. Waite on his trial, in which she said he admitted that the money was part of $40,000 he had got fro mher some time previous to the murder of her brother. She told the officials of the property division of the department that she could prove by other evidence that the money belonged to her.

As it is necessary under the law to obtain a court order before returning any property, Miss Peck was instructed to take up the matter in the Supreme Court. She left the building to go before Justice Clarence J. Shearn, who presided at Waite's trial, but did not return while the property division was open. Miss Peck was much disturbed when she was told that she would have to be identified. Detective John Cunniff of District Attorney Swann's staff, who worked on the Waite case and knew the Pecks, identified her satisfactorily.

Kane's story provided one of the early sensations of the Peck murder case. He was called in as embalmer when Waite's father-in-law died from the effects of the poison. A few days later, when the dentist had been suspected and the autopsy had been performed, resulting in the discovery of arsenic, Dr. Waite met Kane by appointment near a garage and told him that he wanted the embalmer to swear that there was arsenic in the fluid. Dr. Waite handed Kane a check for $9,800 and departed.

The embalmer, bewildered by the situation, put the check in his pocket. A half hour later Waite met him again and renewed his request in an excited manner, ending by putting a roll of bills in Kane's pockets. Kane went to Orient Point, L. I., the next day and buried the money in the sand nearby. When he was later suspected he gave himself up to the police and took them to the spot. The roll, which contained $7,800, was turned over to the police and offered as evidence at Waite's trial.

Extra Dividend by American Can.

Directors of the American Can Company declared yesterday a dividend of 1¾ per cent. on the preferred in addition to the usual quarterly declaration of the same amount. The payment is to be made on account of dividends in arrears, amounting now to 8¾ per cent. Both dividends will be paid July 2. This is the first distribution ordered on the accumulated payments in more than four years, the last preceding disbursement being 24 per cent. on April 1, 1913.

G. L. Storm Heads Tobacco Products

George L. Storm has been elected President of the Tobacco Products Corporation, succeeding Daniel G. Reid, who becomes Chairman of the Board of Directors. Announcement regarding the change yesterday included the election of George Harder, head of the Essex Foundry of Newark, as a Director. Mr. Storm has been Vice President of the company for several years and previously was Vice President and General Manager of the General Cigar Company.

Chamber to Honor Choate Today.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University will deliver a eulogy of the late Joseph H. Choate at today's meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, following which te Camber will adopt resolutions. Various committees will make reports, and J. Howard Ardrey, Vice President of the National Bank of Commerce, will make an address on behalf of the Liberty Loan Committee.

Prefers to Clean Up Stocks.

In telling why he is moving out Spring stocks at reduced prices, a clothing retailer gave as his principal reason that he wants to be as "ship shape" as possible for the developments of the future. "It may turn out," he said, "that the retailers who are salting away their surplus merchandise are doing the wise thing, but I feel that it is better to have the decks cleared for action. These surplus stocks represent so much capital. It is true that the merchant who has goods bought at low prices will be able to average his prices a year from now and sell below the general trade. On the other hand, interest charges will amount to something and the saving may not be as great as supposed. I believe that next Fall the economy wave will be over and people will buy as they never did before. I want money to make money with at that time."

BUSINESS NOTES.

The Shoe Retailers' Association of New York has set aside $2,000 of its funds for the purchase of Liberty Loan bonds. It is probable that the amount will be increased in the near future.

The Far Western Travelers' Association has invested $5,000 in the Liberty Loan and the organization has also subscribed $1,000 to the Red Cross.

COMMERCIAL PAPER.

Tuesday.......5 " " " " " "

No Silver Thread Available.

There is said to be no more silver wire thread available in the market. This article is used in filigree work, and has become quite popular in the trimming of millinery. According to the representative of a leading dealer in such goods, stocks of silver thread ran out about two months ago. The thread was formerly imported from Germany, and no one is manufacturing it in this country.

Capes Find Ready Sale.

During the last week there has been a noticeable picking up in the demand for women's capes. The call, however, still seems to be for garments in the darker shades, such as navy, black and copenhagen. There is some inquiry for the more vivid colors, and it is understood these shades will be put out in garments designed for Summer resort wear. The military model with standing collar and flowing sleeves is the favorite in the medium class line.

Vessels Open for Wool Cargoes.

Information was given out by the Textile Alliance, Inc., yesterday that there are two sailing ships open to take cargoes from South Africa to the United States. The first of these vessels has a capacity of 3,100 tons dead weight, and is now due to discharge at Delagoa Bay. The second ship is due shortly to discharge cargo at Algoa Bay. These vessels could take cargoes from the ports named and from any other adjacent ports, and, if desired, it might be arranged for them to go up to Mombasa. Importers of wool and skins may obtain further particulars from the Textile Alliance, Inc.

Drug Prices Continue High.

Drug and Chemical Markets will say today that trading has been restricted to moderate quantities in the last week except in glycerine. Increased activity by exporters and larger domestic business brought some heavy transactions in this product. Owing to the rapid curtailment of stocks further price advances are not improbable. The announcement from Washington that the 10 per cent. import tariff had been cut out of the War Revenue bill by the Senate failed to have any effect on the market. The principal declines of the week were suffered by mercury, santonin, and sodium benzoate.

Felt Sport Hats Not Yet Active.

Bulletins of the Retail Millinery Association of America have this to say on current trade: "Sport felts and velours are shown in considerable variety, but action on these goods has not started yet. It is quite likely, however, that felt hats in the sweater colors may have considerable vogue after the Fourth of July, or earlier in localities where sport hats for sport wear are in demand. The Fifth Avenue houses are all showing mid-Summer dress hats of Georgette, in large mushroom shapes, trimmed with flowers. White and pink hats are favored, especially those with draped crowns or soft edges."

Looks for Big Run on Navy.

According to one of the most experienced silk buyers in the country, the run on navy blue that is now manifesting itself here largely in the call for taffetas of this color is only the forerunner of a general demand for navy that will be sustained for months to come. There are two reasons for it, the buyer in question says. One is that it is a good war color, and the second is that it is a staple among staples. For the latter reason, if nothing else, it falls right in line with the plea of the men in high places for reasonable economy and conservation. Fully 75 per cent. of the staple silks this buyer has due him in the next three or four months will be of light or dark navy.

Why They Don't Get Them.

Local wholesalers from time to time remark on the complaints out-of-town retailers make about the difficulty they experience in obtaining capable buyers. One of the wholesalers gave an illustration yesterday of why this may be true, he having heard the story from a well-known local buyer. As the tale goes, the retailer approached the buyer one day and asked him for help in getting a good man to select his silks. He said that his store did $250,000 a year in these goods and that he thought a good man could double it. He painted glowingly the advantages of life in his city, and then played his trump: He would pay an experienced man $25 a week! He got an awful shock when the buyer asked him what the man was to do for that salary—sell silks over the counter?

Ask Buyers to Share the Advance.

Several letters have been received by large buyers of hosiery lately from mills asking them to share in unavoidable increases in production costs of goods ordered some time ago at lower figures and delayed in manufacture by the scarcity of labor, needles, &c. Not the least of these increases has been the higher wages demanded by all classes of workers to meet the rising cost of living. So sharp has the total increase in production cost been in some cases, and so large the amount of goods still owed, that failure on the part of buyers to contribute 5 or 10 cents a dozen in the form of an advance on the original price will mean bankruptcy if the wage increases are given. If they are not, strikes will follow. Some buyers are "doing their bit," the chief reason being that, either in the case of bankruptcy or strikes, they stand to lose goods on which they can still make a nice profit when they get them.

Gray Goods Buying Large.

Further active trading was done in the local gray goods market yesterday, one of the features being the cleaning up of all the 37-inch 48-square, four-yard sheetings that were to be had for June-July delivery at 11 cents. Other features included the sale of 39-inch 68-72s for this month's shipment at 11¼ cents, late contracts having sold at a quarter less. Late shipments of 35½-inch 64-60s were sold at 9½ cents, while the same construction in the 27-inch width brought 6¾ cents for Fall delivery. Prompt 27-inch 64-60s brought 6¾ cents. Nearby sales of 38½-inch 60-52s were made at 8¾ cents in certain quarters, but the general asking price was an eighth higher. Bids of 12⅞ cents were refused for June deliveries of 39-inch 72-76s, while for similar shipments of 39-inch 80 squares, 13¼ cents was asked. Closing prices were:

In pursuance of an interlocutory judgment of partition and sale, duly made and entered in the above entitled action, and bearing date the 29th day of May, 1912, I the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the Exchange Salesrooms, Nos. 14-16 Vesey Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 29th day of May, 1917, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by Joseph P. Day, auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and described as follows:

Parcel No. 1: All that certain lot, piece or parcel of ground, with the building thereon, situate in the City of New York, being part of that part or parcel of land commonly called Bayard's Farm, and distinguished on a map or chart annexed to a certain indenture made by and between Nicholas Bayard of the City of New York, Esq., of the first part, and Richard Harrison, Benjamin Walker and Josiah Ogden Hoffman of the other part, by lot number eight hundred and sixty-two, fronting on Oliver (now Spring) Street twenty-five feet and three inches, and eighty-nine feet in length on Elizabeth Street, and ninety-five feet on the other side, as the same is laid down on the said map; be said dimensions thereof as justly given more or less, the said indenture and map being recorded in the Secretary's office of the State of New York the 20th day of June, 1795.

Parcel No. 2: House and lot on the northwesterly corner of Second Avenue and 98th Street, being 26 feet in width in front on Second Avenue and in the rear by 75 feet in depth on 98th Street and on the northerly side, the northerly wall being a party wall; said premises being known as No. 1,901 Second Avenue.

Parcel No. 4: House and lot on the westerly side of Ludlow Street, being 19 feet 8 inches in width in front and 19 feet 4 inches in the rear by 87 feet 6 inches in depth on each side, the side walls being party walls; said premises being known as No. 25 Ludlow Street.

Parcel No. 5: House and lot on the northeasterly corner of Cherry and Gouverneur Streets, being 23 feet 8 inches in width in front on Cherry Street and 23 feet 7 inches in the rear by 53 feet 3½ inches in depth on Gouverneur Street and 51 feet 7½ inches in depth on the easterly side; said premises being known as No. 376 Cherry Street.

Parcel No. 6: House and lot on the northerly side of Henry Street, being 25 feet in width in front and rear by 100 feet in depth on each side; said premises being known as No. 93 Henry Street.

Parcel No. 7: House and lot on the westerly side of Ridge Street 178 feet 11 inches south of Rivington Street, being 26 feet in width in front by 123 feet 7 inches in depth on the northerly side and 100 feet 5 inches and 25 feet 2 inches in depth by a broken line on the southerly side and 21 feet 1 inch and 4 feet 11 inches by a broken line in the rear, as per diagram below; said premises being known as No. 85 Ridge Street.

Parcel No. 8: Houses and lot on the westerly side of Ridge Street 150 feet 2 inches north of Delancey Street, being in width in front on Ridge Street 23 feet and ¾ of an inch, in depth on the northerly side 100 feet 5 inches, on the southerly side 100 feet 5 inches by a broken line, and in the rear 48 feet 2 inches, as per diagram below; said premises being known as No. 81 Ridge Street.

Parcel No. 9: Houses and lot on the southeasterly corner of 17th Street and Ninth Avenue, being 26 feet 4½ inches in width in front on Ninth Avenue and in the rear by 100 feet in depth on each side; said premises being known as No. 102 Ninth Avenue and Nos. 362 and 364 West 17th Street.

Parcel No. 11: House and lot on the northerly side of 17th Street 177 feet 2 inches west of 7th Avenue, and being in width in front 17 feet 2 inches, and in the rear 17 feet 2 2-3 inches, and in depth on the easterly side 44 feet 5 inches and on the westerly side 44 feet 1 inch, the side walls being party walls; said premises being known as No. 215 West 17th Street.

Parcel No. 12: The liquor business at No. 14 Spring Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, carried on in the name of the Estate of P. A. Fogarty, deceased, by James A. Dowd, receiver, and the stock, furniture and fixtures and other personal property owned and used in connection therewith, including the lease of the store and part of the cellar underneath the store in the premises known as No. 14 Spring Street.

Parcel No. 13: The liquor business at the southeasterly corner of 17th Street and 9th Avenue, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, carried on in the name of the Estate of P. A. Fogarty, deceased, by James A. Dowd, receiver, and the stock, furniture, fixtures, and other personal property owned and used in connection therewith.

Dated New York, May 7th, 1917.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Have Vigorous Advance in an Active Session—Russian Bonds Easier.

The stock market was greatly benefited by the extra day of rest which it had on Tuesday and opened yesterday with a fresh wave of enthusiasm over the prospects for further expansion in all lines of business. Gains of from 2 to 16 points resulted from active dealings that centred largely in the steel stocks, although there was unusual activity also in American Can, Smelters, the Locomotive issues, and Industrial Alcohol.

Why the market should have made such abrupt moves yesterday was not apparent. Traders talked about the satisfactory showing made in the registration of 10,000,000 young men for war without a single instance of serious disorder as a factor in the rise, but as few people had looked for any trouble the explanation left something to the imagination. Professional operators are convinced that the industrial companies which supply articles used in war are going to have a degree of prosperity never before experienced, even in the face of the expected heavy increases in the excess profits tax. The rise in Industrial Alcohol was due largely to concentrated buying, which carried the price up to 156½, 16¾ points above the closing figure on Monday. This is essentially a war issue and yesterday's activity was accompanied by reports of efforts to drive in a large short interest, and of an expected forthcoming dividend.

The steel issues were very much in public favor, United States Steel leading the list with a resumption of its activity before the payment of the extra dividend last week. This issue closed with a net gain of 3⅝. Bethlehem Steel B moved up 9¾ points and the common stock 6¾. Lackawanna Steel almost touched par, closing with a net advance of 3 points. American Steel Foundry, United Alloys, Transue-Williams, Midvale, Railway Steel Springs and Republic all showed pronounced strength based on the constantly increasing deman for steel products. The Iron Age yesterday reported a new high record for monthly output of iron and an advance in the price to $50 a ton.

The Street is so puzzled by the Russian situation that it hardly knew whether to accept the news that the Allies had served notice on Russia that she must remain in the war as favorable or unfavorable. It served to some extent to remove the fear that Russia might conclude an agreement with Germany, but Russian bonds broke sharply yesterday and ruble exchange declined to a new low record. It is hoped that by another week some authoritative account of conditions at Petrograd will be received from the Root Commission.

LONDON MARKET IS QUIET.

Principal Orders Represent Reinvestment of Dividends.

LONDON, June 6.—Money and discount rates were easy today.

On the Stock Exchange most of the principal orders represented reinvestment of dividends into gilt-edge securities. The tone was quieter, but the tendency firm. Further activity developed in ammunition, shipping, and leading oil shares. Russians were steadier, but South American issues were still uncertain.

Subscriptions to the Treasury's offering of $200,000,000 of 3¼ per cent. certificates of indebtedness were closed yesterday afternoon, and it is expected that today the Federal Reserve Bank of New York will advise subscribing banks as to their allotments. Payment for the certificates must be made tomorrow. No figures were available yesterday, but it is understood that the latest issue of short-term notes has been considerably oversubscribed and that the New York district will take more than 50 per cent. of the total. The previous $200,000,000 offering of certificates was subscribed to the extent of $281,266,000. Including the new issue the total of certificates sold will be $918,205,000.

Bankers are calling attention to the importance of Congress taking prompt action in respect to the passage of pending amendments to the Federal Reserve act. A number of State institutions, including several large trust companies, are waiting for the proposed changes in the law to become effective before joining the Federal Reserve System. The pending bill, which was based on recommendations made by the Federal Reserve Board, was adopted by the House of Representatives on May 5 and by the Senate on May 9, and for the last three or four weeks the measure has been under consideration by the Conference Committee, but thus far no conclusion has been reached, a deadlock being caused by differences of opinion regarding the Hardwick check collection amendment.

Attitude of the Reserve Board.

The check collection provision, which originally provided that an exchange charge of not exceeding one-tenth of 1 per cent. might be levied upon the aggregate face value of all checks presented for collection at any one time, is the outgrowth of the work of the Committee of Twenty-five of the American Bankers' Association, which has been opposing the development of the collection system established by the Federal Reserve Board. Except for this addition to the bill the new legislation is regarded by the board as strengthening the Federal Reserve act in ways which are considered to be particularly essential at the present time, in view of the necessities of the Government for assistance through large loans. It is expected that some important administrative changes and improvements will be rendered possible in consequence of the legislation.

Lackawanna Steel lacked sufficient "punch" to touch par yesterday, but the three-point gain was considered good enough by holders of the shares to prevent lamentations over the absent eighth to carry the quotation to 100. At 99⅞ a new high record for the year was established. Bethlehem B, with a surge upward in excess of 9 points, also reached a new maximum level, and Midvale above 65 recorded the best price since it has been on the Stock Exchange.

Movements of Industrial Alcohol awake surprise in market circles no longer, for the trading memory can recall some extraordinary changes of front last year. Nevertheless, yesterday's net gain of 16¼ points marked the stock as particularly strong in a strong market. At 156, the closing price, the expectations of persons who bought around 116, under influence of a tip industriously circulated early last month, were more than realized, as 150 was the top price mentioned then. The belief was said to prevail in quarters where the affairs of the Alcohol Company are followed that the oft-reported stock dividend would materialize at no distant date.

Lean Season for Bears.

Short selling of the steel stocks has been a rather unprofitable business for many weeks. While the international situation has supplied factors ordinarily of value in supporting bear arguments, they have not worked out well in case of Steel common, Republic, Lackawanna, Crucible, and the others. The trouble is, from the point of view of the opposite market party, that intrinsic values have become too potent to be easily offset by sentimental influences. Everybody knows that the steel and iron producers are making a great deal of money, with a vast amount of business clamoring at their doors which cannot be accommodated. The shorts saw the handwriting on the wall early in yesterday's dealings, and it was plainer to read as the session advanced. Apparently covering of short contracts put out before the holiday had a part in sending steel stock prices forward, but at the same time brokers reported something of an expansion in new speculative commitments on the long side.

Speculators in the steel issues have the possibility to consider that prices of steel products may reach a level by and by where consumption must be reduced. Fifty-dollar pig iron tells the tale of rising steel-making costs, and while the raw material continues to advance it is axiomatic that finished goods, too, will continue to climb. Somewhere along the line there are prices which ordinary users of steel will not pay, and when that period is reached earnings must perforce suffer a check. There is no surety, of course, that trade-destroying prices will of themselves check steel mill operations, for many other items could be equally effective in slowing down the absorption of steel. It is sufficient for the bulls that they can see no influences working at the moment to affect steel manufacturing adversely.

FAILURES IN MAY DECREASE.

Reports made to Bradstreet's shows that in May there were 1,194 business failures, an increase of 9 per cent. over April, but a decrease of 14.9 per cent. from May a year ago and of 17 per cent. from May, 1915. The liabilities for the month were $14,114,562, a decrease of 30 per cent. from May last, and a total smaller than in May of any previous year back to 1912.

Failures for five months of this year numbered 6,121 and liabilities were $73,303,105, decreases of, respectively, 20 and 15 per cent. from the like period of the preceding year. The figures of failures by groups of States show that the only increase in May over a year ago was in the Northwest, while the only increase in liabilities was in the Western group.

New York City failures fell off 30 per cent. while liabilities decreased 40 per cent. from May a year ago.

WOOL MARKET IS STRONG.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, June 6.—The American Wool and Cotton Reporter will say tomorrow:

"Wool of any kind is mighty good property. South American wool still predominates in the sales. The Government is preparing for clothing for cold weather, and manufacturers must have the wool if it is at all obtainable. In the West the situation is very strong. Practically all contracts have been sold.

"Much readjustment is still taking place in the woolen goods market. The outlook is for a strong market and is particularly difficult for buyers. The cotton goods market is active for most varieties of medium and heavyweight goods, and the inability to place orders for suitable deliveries, together with the relative shortage and greater strength in raw material, has forced prices to higher levels. Fundamentally, the cotton goods market is strong."

BUY A LIBERTY BOND

Liberty Bonds

Pittsburgh Has One of the Most Exciting Weeks in Bessemer Iron Market Since War Began.

Fifty dollar pig iron, the dream of iron makers, has come true. Reports from trade centres this week tell of extraordinary bidding for both the raw material for steel and steel itself, with important price advances among leading products. At Pittsburgh ship plates are selling at a range from 9 to 12 cents a pound, compared with a normal quotation under 2 cents a pound. Sales of pig iron at $50 a ton in quantity, coupled with persistent increases among steel prices, is said to be arousing many conjectures in the trade as to the probable level where quotations will be so high as to cut down consumption.

The Iron Age says:

"Pittsburgh has signalized the arrival of $50 pig iron by one of the most exciting weeks in the Bessemer iron market since the beginning of the war. Sales have amounted to 75,000 tons, of which one steel company took 40,000 tons at prices ranging from $46 to $50. At the latter figure at least 20,000 tons has been sold.

"Not only pig iron, but semi-finished and finished steel markets, have been affected by the developments at Pittsburgh, since they confirm what has been well-considered opinion in the trade for some weeks, that future war advances were likely to come as abruptly as any that have come in the last two years, and might go to lengths even now thought impossible.

"Pig iron production in May was 3,417,340 tons, or 110,238 tons a day, against 3,334,960 tons in April or 111,165 tons a day. Coke troubles cut down output in several districts, and yet more furnaces are getting in blast. The net gain in May was four, making 340 on the active list, the largest number in many years. The daily capacity of active furnaces on June 1 was 111,704 tons against 111,552 tons on May 1.

"The whole situation in steel products turns on the plans being worked out at Washington, from which plate, structural, and sheet steel mills in particular are constantly getting orders. Of the steel needed for the 7,500,000 3-inch shells the Government is buying a Central Western company will work about half of the 50,000 tons into shell forgings. Some questions as to the Government's specifications for shell steel are yet to be settled.

"One important interest in the Pittsburgh district is now furnishing enough plates on Government account for the building of three 3,000-ton vessels a week, and when another plate mill is finished in the coming Fall it will be able to roll sufficient plates for one 3,000-ton boat a day.

"The Government's $80,000,000 program of navy-yard extensions, and other work including hangars, gun shops, submarine bases, &c., has been pouring in heavy requisitions on steel mills, machine-tool builders, and many other concerns in the metal-working trades."

The Iron Trade Review says:

"Feverish buying of materials at phenomenal prices has aligned itself beside war requirements in finished steel as a paramount market factor in iron and steel. The week's developments have been extraordinary and have contributed notably to market history. They emphasize the extending shrinkage of purchasable supplies, which is rendering the position of the average buyer more unfavorable and uncertain. Unmistakable signs of famine conditions in pig iron continue to appear. The ascent of prices during the week has moved with a rush and by wide stages."

PLEA FOR EMERSON MOTORS

Counsel Asks That Bankruptcy Proceedings Be Dismissed.

Argument will be heard by Judge Manton of the Federal District Court today on a motion by Bainbridge Colby to dismiss the bankruptcy proceedings against the Emerson Motors Company and to vacate the order appointing John R. Johnston receiver. Mr. Colby based his motion on the statement that the three petitioners in bankruptcy were stockholders of the company and not creditors within the meaning of the law.

William Loomis, Robert C. Hupp, and Byron H. Riess, three of the fourteen under indictment, appeared before Judge Howe yesterday and pleaded not guilty. Loomis and Hupp were held in $5,000 bail each and Riess in $2,500. An examination into the affairs of the company in the bankruptcy proceedings was begun yesterday before United States Commissioner Gilchrist.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

The Great Western Sugar Company declared the regular quarterly dividends of 1¾ per cent. on the preferred and common stocks, also an extra dividend of $10 a share on the common stock.

At the annual meeting of the Reading Company the retiring Directors were re-elected.

Three utilities have recently been purchased by the Northern State Power Company, the Northwest Light and Power Company, the Renville County Electric Company and the Minnesota Valley Power Company, all operating in Southern Minnesota.

At the annual meeting of the Ohio Cities Gas Company, held in Columbus, Ohio, the stockholders authorized an increase in capital stock from $10,000,000 to $100,000,000. Plans for the purchase of the Pure Oil Company were brought before the stockholders, and N. H. Weber of Philadelphia, Vice President of the Pure Oil Company, was elected a Director to succeed Robert H. Cox of New York.

At a meeting of the Directors of Union Carbide Company a resolution was adopted offering to stockholders of record July 14 rights to subscribe to stock at par to the amount of 20 per cent. of their holdings, payment to be made in two installments, the first half on or before Aug. 15, the second half on or before Oct. 15. The first installment may be paid, as to any part or all thereof, in United States 3½ per cent. Liberty Loan bonds at par.

The California Railroad Commission has received a petition of the Southern California Edison Company to issue 10,000 shares of common stock at $88 a share.

The following new executives have been appointed by the People's Gas Company of Chicago: T. V. Purcell, Secretary, succeeding Lyman A. Wiley; Joseph R. Dougherty, Treasurer, succeeding W. S. McCrea; Robert Blair, Assistant Secretary, succeeding E. J. H. Wright, and A. L. Tossell, Assistant Treasurer, succeeding W. D. Gregory.

Directors of the General Petroleum Company declared yesterday a dividend of 10 per cent. per annum on the common stock, payable Oct. 1.

The Stanley Motor Carriage Company of Newton, Mass., manufacturing steam automobiles, has been taken over by a new Delaware corporation of the same name. The capital stock is $2,500,000 of 7 per cent. preferred, and 100,000 shares common of no par value. The new officers are Prescott Warren, President; Carleton F. Stanley and Frank Jay, Vice Presidents, and Edward M. Hallett, Treasurer.

Schulz & Ruckgaber have issued a booklet on the investment tax law of New York State.

NEW COTTON RECORD

Prices at Highest Point in Season—July Sells Up to 22.97 and Closes at 22.95.

New high records for the season were made on the Cotton Exchange yesterday. Trading was less active, however, than on previous advances, and recent Wall Street and Western buyers seemed to be taking profits. Trade interests were credited with heavy buying, the belief being that domestic mills were purchasing new crop deliveries against sales of goods extending up to next January. October contracts sold up to 22.43c during the middle of the afternoon, making an advance of 72 points from the closing price of Monday, but no less than $5.65 per bale from the low level of Monday morning. July contracts sold up to 22.97c, and closed at 22.95c. The closing prices were several points off from the best under realizing, with the tone irregular, but the last quotations showed gains of 59 to 63 points.

The buying movement was stimulated by the strength in Liverpool over the local holiday. Private cables attributed the English advance to Bombay buying, good reports from Manchester, and renewed calling. The market here opened at an advance of 22 to 34 points in response to the higher prices abroad. There was enough realizing to cause some irregularity right after the call, but offerings were readily absorbed on a moderate setback, and the market showed net gains of 50 to 55 points during the middle of the morning. There was a second reaction late in the forenoon with realizing promoted by expectation of a favorable weekly weather report at midday, but as soon as this report had been published, prices developed increased strength. Both foreign and domestic trade interests were credited with buying, while there was covering by early sellers, as prices worked into new high ground.

The weekly weather report read more favorably than last week's, but mentioned various drawbacks, and failed to inspire any fresh selling of consequence.

Petroleum Co. Earns $4,149,693.

The Pan American Petroleum and Transport Company, which owns stock of the Mexican Petroleum Company and other oil concerns, reports income from its investments amounting to $4,149,693 in 1916. President E. L. Doheny says in his statement to stockholders that the company increased its fleet of oil ships during the year from 40,450 tons to 173,215 tons. After the war ends, he asserts, the demand for petroleum products all over the world should be stimulated, and preparations are to be made to develop the company's oil lands on an extensive scale in anticipation of a great call for oil.

COMMODITIES MARKETS

WHEAT.

The sharp advance experienced in the corn market caused an early upturn of 6 to 7 cents per bushel in wheat prices. Shorts were disposed to cover and offers were small. On the whole there was only a limited trade, however, and the market lost most of the advance—in fact September sold below the previous close at one time—and final quotations were ½@4½c net lower. Cash wheat prices in the interior were firm, ranging from 1 to 10 cents higher. Premiums were about unchanged, with one moderate lot of No. 1 Northern Duluth wheat offered at 85 cents over Chicago July, cost, insurance, and freight, Buffalo.

CORN.

The fixing of a maximum price of $1.65 for contracts in the Chicago market and $1.62 in Kansas City caused a heavy covering movement in the corn market, and prices at the close were 5½@9⅞c net higher. Exporters were making inquiry and sales for the day were estimated at 150,000 bushels. In the local cash market No. 2 yellow corn was quoted at $1.81½, cost, insurance, and freight, New York.

PROVISIONS.

In a small market the provision list was lower yesterday, with a moderate final rally. Much of the selling, part of which was for foreign account, was due to easier hogs and a less active cash trade. Support was scattered and very light throughout the session. Of 80,000 hogs at Western points Chicago had 24,000, with 18,000 expected Thursday; Kansas City had 5,000, and Omaha 6,000.

COTTONSEED OIL.

The market for cottonseed oil moved in a feverish manner. There was a very sharp decline early under liquidation, prompted by the weakness in lard, but when shorts attempted to cover the market responded quickly and late in the day was firm. Final quotations ranged from 4 points lower to 5 points net higher. Total sales were 42,000 barrels. Range of prices:

COFFEE.

There was further liquidation in the coffee market yesterday and another decline in prices. The selling was not as active as it was on Monday, and December contracts sold off to 7.97c, compared with 8.59c, the high level of last month, and 9.05c, the high point touched on the advance of last April. That delivery closed at 8.01c, with the general list closing at a net decline of 4 to 10 points. Sales were reported of 46,250 bags. The market for spot coffee was dull and unchanged on the basis of 10¼c for Rio 7s and 10½c for Santos 4s. Range of prices:

SUGAR.

The market for sugar futures opened unchanged to a decline of 2 points, with sales on the call 6,150 tons. Trading was rather quiet owing to the dull spot market, where refiners failed to show the buying interest expected earlier in the week. Cuban interests were free sellers late in the day, prices, however, being held fairly steady by the support of local operators. The market closed 1 point net higher to a decline of 4 points, with sales for the day 6,150 tons. Range of prices:

There was no change in refined sugar prices, which were listed at from 7.50@8c for fine granulated. The amount of business was only moderate, but refiners are gradually catching up on old orders and are now in a better position to accept new orders, although buyers seem inclined to hold off owing to the wide differences between the raw and refined prices. Regardless of the fact that refiners hold out of the market for Cuban raw sugar, holders are steady and ask ½c above last paid prices, or 5c, cost and freight, for any position. American refiners bought 8,000 bags Porto Ricos, in port and afloat, at 5.77c, cost, insurance, and freight, and later there was a sale of 19,000 bags Porto Ricos at 5.83c, cost, insurance, and freight, prompt shipment, to Boston, the refiner to pay the extra freight. Spot quotations follow: Centrifugal, 5.89c; molasses, 5.01c; cost and freight, 4⅞c. It is said that Cuban shippers have sold a large proportion of the crop at high prices, and that they feel disposed to hold the balance for an advance.

BUTTER AND EGG MARKET.

BUTTER.—Receipts yesterday, 13,100 packages. There was slight weakness at the opening, but the market recovered somewhat and closed steady to firm on the higher grades of creamery. Most of the business in extras was at 41c, with the fancier lots selling at 41½@42c. Undergrades are a little easier and there is a tendency to widen the range of values. No change in renovated ladles and packing stock. Creamery, higher than extras, per lb., 41½@42c; extras, (92 score,) 41c; firsts, (88 to 91 score,) 39@40½c; seconds, (83 to 87 score,) 37@38½c; thirds, 36@36½c; creamery, unsalted, higher than extras, 42@43c; extras, 41½@42c; firsts, 39½@41c; seconds, 38@39½c; State Dairy, tubs, finest, 40½@41c; good to prime, 38½@40c; common to fair, 35@38c; renovated, extras, 38½@39c; firsts, 37½@38c; lower grades, 34@37c; imitation creamery, firsts, 36@37c; ladles, current make, firsts, 34½@35c; seconds, 33½@34c; lower grades, 32½@33c; packing stock, current make, No. 1, 33½c; No. 2, 33c; lower grades, 31@32½c.

EGGS.—Receipts yesterday, 26,879 cases. The tone of the market is very unsettled. The Associated Warehouse report of June 1 was made public, and was generally considered unfavorable by speculators. Speculative support has been withdrawn, and some accumulation of stock carried over early in the week with yesterday's arrivals is being pressed for sale at lower prices. This stock is chiefly medium grades, but all grades have felt the weakness, and the market at the close was still unsettled. Fresh gathered, extras, per dozen, 37½@38c; storage packed, firsts, 36@37c; fresh gathered, firsts, 35½@36c; seconds, 32@34½c; dirties, No. 1, 33½c; No. 2 and poorer, 30@32½c; checks, good to choice, dry, 32½c; undergrades, 30@31c; State, Pennsylvania, and nearby Western, hennery whites, fine to fancy, 38@39c; ordinary to good, 37@37½c; gathered whites, ordinary to fine, 37@38c; Western and Southern gathered whites, 36@37½c; State, Pennsylvania, and nearby, hennery browns, 37½@38½c; gathered brown and mixed colors, ungraded, 35½@37c.

JOIN THE LIBERTY WAR LOAN CLUB
HELP YOUR COUNTRY FIGHT!

Make no mistake. The rich are not rich enough to supply all the money for your country's war needs. Your Government wants to borrow some of your money. For $1.00 a week you can become an investor in Government Bonds.

Never before have U. S. Government Bonds been so easy to buy.

The Government wants everybody in on this Great Investment, but it could not make its bonds for smaller sums than $50.00 (they are usually $1,000.00). Many people have $50.00 to invest who could not invest $1,000.00. Many more have not $50.00 at hand, but can easily spare $1.00 a week.

And here is where the Liberty War Loan Club gives you your chance. The Government must be paid in full within a short period for all the bonds it sells, but when you notify us what size bond you want to buy WE WILL MAKE THIS FULL CASH PAYMENT FOR YOU—AND YOU CAN PAY US ON EASY TERMS.

HERE IS THE PLAN:
$1.00 a week for 50 weeks, buys a $50 Bond
$2.00 a week for 50 weeks, buys a $100 Bond
$10.00 a week for 50 weeks, buys a $500 Bond
$20.00 a week for 50 weeks, buys a $1,000 Bond
$5.00 a week for 50 weeks buys $250 in Bonds

You can buy all the bonds for which you can carry payments, the only condition being that in case there shall be an over-subscription for these bonds so that the Government cannot furnish us with all the bonds that are subscribed for on behalf of the Club, and the bonds cannot be purchased at par in the open market, that then lots shall be drawn to determine who shall get their bonds and who not. If then you do not get your bond your money will be returned to you in full without deduction for expenses or for any reason whatever.

You can make payments in advance. If you make all your payments before Dec. 15, 1917, you will be entitled at the end of the Club period to get your bond for $49.50 for a $50.00 bond, $98.50 for a $100 bond and larger bonds in same proportion as for a $100 bond. All bonds deliverable with the first two coupons detached, and twice each year the bond owner will receive interest at not less than the rate of 3½% per annum.

You pay no dues or commissions or fees of any kind. All your money goes toward buying bonds that will be your exclusive property—or your money back in full.

You make all your payments personally or by mail to the teller or cashier of the Liberty War Loan Club of this Company and you receive a proper receipt for each payment. At the end of the Club period, when your payments are all made and you present your receipts, you are handed your bond right here at our office or it will be sent to you as you may direct.

We do all the work of buying the bond and we shoulder all the risk and expense right through the whole Club period—and then you are presented with a U. S. Government Bond, the safest security on earth—or your money back. In the meantime your money is in the safe custody of an old established Savings and Loan Association, that has been in active business right here in New York for over 27 years; that is organized and operated under the Banking Laws and is under the supervision of the Banking Department of the State of New York.

War is the order of the day—the main business of the Nation. Everybody should be doing a patriotic act of some kind—every red-blooded American is expected to and will want to. Through this Club plan we aim to help our Government—perhaps do more than our bit by helping others do theirs, and at the same time secure for them a fine investment, while they are acquiring habits of thrift and economy.

The Liberty War Loan Club is now open for membership. Enrollment and first payment must be made at once to assure purchase of bond. Come in at once or fill out the subjoined blank (in your own handwriting) and mail it with your first payment or send for similar blank. No matter where you live Uncle Sam will deliver your payments and bring back a receipt. Cash by mail should be by registered letter only. Other mail remittances by bank draft, check, post office or express money order.

MEMBERS OF THIS CLUB WILL BE ENTITLED TO AN OFFICIAL LIBERTY WAR LOAN BUTTON.

We gladly offer our services free of charge to those wishing to subscribe for bonds independent of this Club, and on the Government's terms.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE

Excited buying of some of the industrials was a closing feature on the Consolidated Stock Exchange. The general trend of the market was upward throughout the day. Commission houses handled a large business, with the transactions in odd lots broadly distributed. More than 65,000 shares of United States Steel common were dealt in.

BONDHOLDERS TO BE HEARD

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The peculiar situation that has always existed in all controversies before the Interstate Commerce Commission, whereby the shippers and carriers alone were represented as parties in interest, is to be brought to the attention of the commission in an effort to establish the right of bondholders of railroads to be heard also as parties in interest.

The newly organized National Association of Owners of Railroad Securities, which was formed in Baltimore May 23, will be heard before the Interstate Commerce Commission Friday.

The Baltimore conference was attended by more than 500 owners of railroad securities, their holdings being valued at more than $3,000,000,000. The conference was called by S. Davies Warfield, who was elected President of the association. Mr. Warfield said that those who would appear before the commission on behalf of the association were Darwin P. Kingsley, New York, President New York Life Insurance Company; M. A. Schenck, New York, President Bowery Savings Bank; John E. Oldham, Boston, of Messrs. Merrill, Oldham & Co., and Robert F. Maddox, Atlanta, Ga., President Atlanta National Bank.

MORE GOLD FOR SPAIN.

Bankers Ridicule Idea That the Coin Finds Its Way Into Germany.

Further shipments of gold coin to Spain were announced yesterday when $690,000 was withdrawn from the Sub-Treasury, making the total for this week about $2,000,000. Bankers who arranged for the bulk of the exports to Spain ridiculed the suggestion that the gold was finding its way into Germany. They pointed out that it was sent in the settlement of trade balances, and referred to the large purchases of Spanish products by merchants in the United States, and in South and Central America. One of the principal shippers, a private banking house with British partners, called attention to the fact that the consignee of the gold was a large Spanish bank of the highest standing, which was known to be pro-ally.

Incidentally, it was said in well-informed banking circles that it was absurd to imagine that any gold was being transported by submarines, as has been suggested.

Gaston, Williams & Wigmore Report Net Income of $10 a Share.

The first annual report of Gaston, Williams & Wigmore, the export company, and the Gaston, Williams & Wigmore Steamship Company shows combined net earnings from operations amounting to $2,881,720 in the year ended April 30. From other sources $360,488 more came in, making the total net $3,242,209, equal to slightly more than $10 per share of outstanding stock. The surplus at the end of the year was $1,404,306.

William H. Williams, Vice President, said in the annual statement yesterday that the management was preparing to meet contingencies which might arise in the company's foreign business as the result of the United States entering the war. Efforts were being made, he stated, to build up an efficinet organization for the business to be done when the war ends.

BANKRUPTCY SALES.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED SALE OF THE ASSETS OF HOTEL HERMITAGE CO., AND NOTICE TO CREDITORS REQUIRING THE FILING OF CLAIMS.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT, Southern District of New York.—In the matter of HOTEL HERMITAGE CO., Alleged Bankrupt.—No. 24497.

Please take notice that the undersigned, Charles E. Nauss, Ferdinand J. Ficker and Isaac Heineman, have received an offer for the purchase of all of the assets and property of this estate from Frank C. Hurley, which offer is in substance to pay all priority and administration claims in full and to pay to the general creditors of the estate 20% in cash of their just, lawful, provable and allowable claims in bankruptcy, and to pay the third mortgage bond holders their claims in full, as set forth in the bid annexed to the petition herein, and to pay certain other charges against said property as contained in said bid.

Take notice further that an order has been made upon the petition of the said undersigned receivers, directing that a hearing be held before Hon. Julius M. Mayer, one of the Judges of the United States District Court, in Room 433 of the Post Office Building, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of June 19th, 1917, to consider said offer, and that at said time any further offer for the assets of this estate may be made, and will be considered.

Creditors of the bankrupt are further notified that said order contains a provision reading as follows:

"No persons claiming to be creditors of the bankrupt excepting those whose claims appear on the books of the bankrupt as creditors, and whose claims are deemed by the receivers, or by the bidder (should said bid be accepted), as valid claims shall be entitled in the event of the acceptance of said bid to be paid a percentage of their claims as creditors unless their claims are filed with the receivers before June 19th, 1917, and all such persons claiming to be such creditors and failing to file such claims with said receivers shall be barred from sharing in the distribution to be made in the event of the acceptance of any such percentage bid by this Court."

All such creditors are directed pursuant to said order to file their claims with the undersigned, the attorney for the receivers, before June 19th, 1917, at his office.

All persons are invited to make any and all bids at said time and place.

At said hearing such orders as may be just and proper will be made in respect to the sale or other disposition of any or all of the assets of this estate, the dismissal of the proceedings herein, and generally such other and further orders in reference to this estate as to the Court may seem proper.

For full particulars as to the terms and provisions of said bid of said Frank C. Hurley and of the order made by this Court thereon, reference is made to said bid, the petition of the undersigned thereon, and the order made by the Court upon said petition and offer, copies of which petition, offer and order may be had of the undersigned.

217 Washington Street,
FERDINAND J. FICKER,
402 West Broadway.
Receivers.

CHARLES L. GREENHALL, Attorney for Receivers, 120 Broadway, New York City.

Persons desiring to purchase may inspect the property at any time.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

After four days of strenuous auctioneering Joseph P. Day and J. Clarence Davies disposed of the last lot in the Lorillard Spencer Bronx estate late yesterday afternoon in the Vesey Street Salesroom. The final sale was transferred to Manhattan from the property to afford a better opportunity for those who wished to bid on some of the choicest parcels.

A total of 1,445 lots was sold for $720,150, averaging about $498 a lot. A woman investor carried off the honors for paying the highest price for a single parcel. She was Julia Fitzgerald. Her record purchase of the sale was the large triangular plot on Williamsbridge Road, Boston Road, and Radcliff Avenue, for which she paid $4,100. She also took five adjoining lots, making her purchases at that point $10,225. A smaller lot opposite was bought by Joseph J. McCabe for $1,850.

One of the choice plots was the triangular plot at Boston Road and Barnes Avenue, which was bought by George F. O'Connell for $1,225, and he took the adjoining lot for $800. Two others adjoining, running through from Boston Road to Barnes Avenue, went to John Katz for $1,000 and $775 respectively. The next lot on the road went for $800 to R. Berg-Von Linde, and $875 apiece was paid for the next two Boston Road lots. The adjoining gore at Boston Post Road and Wallace Avenue was taken on a bid of $1,225.

Mrs. R. Breitbart made one of the largest purchases during the first two hours of selling, paying $7,100 for nine lots on Boston Road, Wallace and Barnes Avenues, including the triangular corner of Boston Road and Wallace Avenue, for which she paid $1,225. For inside lots Mrs. Breitbart paid from $575 to $875 each. The block front on Mace Avenue, between Wallace and Barnes Avenues, brought from $625 to $850 per lot.

William Fleming bought four lots for $6,200, including the corner of Radcliff Avenue and Boston Road, and J. Deutchberger bought the corner of Allerton Avenue and Bronxwood Avenue for $1,400, and two adjoining lots on Allerton Avenue at $950 each, Mrs. Townsend Phillips buying an adjoining lot for $800.

Despite the low prices that many of the lots brought, Messrs. Day and Davies called the sale last night a decided success in view of the fact that it had been possible to sell so large a number as 1,445 Bronx plots in spite of the upset conditions at this time and the demands that the Liberty Loan investments are making upon all classes of people.

Aldus Terrace Apartment Sold to Realty Company.

The Aldus Terrace Apartment, a six-story structure, occupying a plot 100 by 100, on the southwest corner of St. Nicholas Avenue and 186th Street, has been purchased by the Nason Realty Company, Max Natanson, President.

It was held at $225,000, and was recently taken over in foreclosure proceedings by Abraham Dorb, Louis Albert, and Samuel Reich, from whom the Nason Company bought it. Frederick Zittel and George Rangen negotiated the sale.

Martin Samuels Increases East Side Warehouse Site.

The three old buildings 442 to 448 East Fifty-seventh Street, on a plot 72 by 123 by irregular, have been purchased by Martin Samuels of the firm of P. W. French & Co., dealers in antiques. Mr. Samuels recently purchased the property on the southwest corner of Avenue A and Fifty-seventh Street, and now controls a plot fronting 135.8 on Avenue A and 178.9 on Fifty-ninth Street, which will be improved with a warehouse.

Harlem Tenement Traded and Resold.

Samuel Lipman has purchased for investment from the V. R. Construction Company, Selig Rosenberg, President of plot 75 by 97.3, on the south side of 173d Street, 159.1 feet east of Fort Washington Avenue. In trade the buyer gave 348 to 350 East 119th Street, a six-story tenement, on a plot 40 by 100.11. The construction company has resold the tenement property to Samuel Katzman. Max Feldman negotiated both the sale and trade.

East Side Tenement Sale.

The three-story tenement house at 304 East 118th Street, 25 by 50.5, adjoining the southeast corner of Second Avenue, has been sold by Angelo Framento for Lilly Newman to J. Cilento.

Bronx Sales.

The plot 25 by 95 on the west side of Prospect Avenue, 275 feet north of 187th Street, has been sold by the Samuel Cowen Agency for M. O'Rourke.

Estate Sells Brooklyn Lots.

E. J. Hollahan has sold ten lots on the north side of Eighty-third Street about 100 feet east of Fourth Avenue for the Kerns estate to an investor.

Long Island.

The Long Island City Realty Company has sold 60 lots at the development on the old Hunter, Van Alst, and De Bevoise farms, Long Island City, to the Schley Realty Corporation.

Herbert A. O'Brien has sold to O. Lies the plot 80 by 100 on the northeast corner of Campbell Avenue and Globe Place, Jamaica.

W. E. Field sold to the Stuyvesant Real Estate Company seventeen lots at Napier Park, Woodhaven.

J. W. Goodwin sold six lots adjacent to the Morris Park Railroad station to the Long Island Railroad Company.

Westchester County.

Kenneth Ives & Co. sold for Joseph Mendelsohn his country home at Hastings-on-Hudson to Annabella Curtis. The property was held at $18,000.

Wholesale Milliners on Fifth Avenue.

Frederick Fox & Co. have leased for the Gorham Company the seventh floor of its building at the southwest corner of Fifth Avenue and Thirty-sixth Street to the Empire Novelty Company, wholesale milliners, for many years at Broadway and Waverley Place.

Since the exclusion of manufacturers in the retail centre the present lease indicates that the wholesale millinery trade will eventually share with the retailers in the occupancy of the buildings on Fifth Avenue and the side streets, between Thirty-fourth and Forty-second Streets. The trade has been welcomed by the interests behind the Save New York Movement.

Commercial Leases.

An important lease in the Third Avenue section of Harlem has been closed in the rental for a long term by D. Loventhal of the entire store space in the six-story building of 2,100 Third Avenue, southwest corner of 115th Street. The building covers a plot 32 by 100, and has been vacant several years. It was leased from William T. Koch and others. The lessees will open a shoe store.

William A. White & Sons have leased the store, basement and second floor at 10 Stone Street to Robert Krause and August Holtschmidt for a restaurant.

The John P. Peel Company leased for Mary A. Duffy the six-story building, containing 35,000 square feet, located at 533-35 West Twenty-fourth Street, to the Monahan Express Company for a term of years.

Henry Hof has leased for William Nierenberg the store at 750 Second Avenue to the Sheffield Farms Slawson-Decker Company.

Douglas L. Elliman & Co. have leased the building at 9 West Fiftieth Street for Mrs. Marie Winthrop Kellogg to Miss Julia W. C. Carroll, gowns, now at 58 Fifth Avenue, for a long term of years. After extensive alterations Miss Carroll will occupy the premises.

The Allwin Realty Company, Adolph Humpfner, President, announces that it has arranged for the lease of a site on Twentieth Street, between Second and Third Avenues, for the construction of a four-story garage.

The Charles F. Noyes Company has leased the third floor in the former Kuhn-Loeb Building, 27 and 29 Pine Street, for the Andrews Company to R. C. Megargel & Co. for three years at an aggregate rental of about $25,000.

Fence Gates Beyond Building Line.

The Board of Appeals, in a resolution adopted, has laid down the general interpretation that "fence gates, that are required to swing outwardly, may be so hung as to project beyond the building line, provided that such gates when open are securely fastened against the fence, and at other times are locked in the opening."

Realty Notes.

No plans for new buildings were filed yesterday. The only alteration plan of $5,000 or over was for changes to the four-story store building at 28 Division Street, owned by M. Shelman. F. Horenburger and P. Bardes, the architects, place the cost at $5,000.

J. Edgar Leaycraft & Co. have placed a loan of $18,000 at 5 per cent. for three years on the property at 244 West Forty-eighth Street for Mrs. M. Kubanyi.

The [illegible] and [illegible] West End Avenue, Inc., has been incorporated at Albany to hold title to the twelve-story apartment house at the southeast corner of West End Avenue and Ninety-eighth Street, 100 by 100, and the residence at 766, two doors to the south. The property was purchased a year ago by Rudolph G. Leeds of Richmond, Ind., from T. J. McLaughlin's Sons.

LEGAL NOTICES.

AT A STATED TERM OF THE UNITED States District Court, for the Southern District of New York, held at the Post Office Building, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 6th day of June, 1917.—Present, Hon. Martin T. Manton, District Judge.—SUSQUEHANNA COAL COMPANY, Complainant, against INTERSTATE COAL COMPANY, INC., Defendant.—In equity E13-325.

Upon reading and filing the affidavit of Walter Peterson, verified the 5th day of June, 1917, and after hearing Abram J. Rose of counsel for the Receiver, and on motion of Kellogg & Rose, attorneys for said Receiver, it is Ordered (1) that the notice of publication as hereinafter directed requiring all creditors of said Interstate Coal Company, Inc., and all persons having claims of any kind against said company to exhibit their claims to said Receiver at a place to be specified in such notice and become parties to the above entitled suit within six months of the first publication of this order, and that in default thereof they be precluded from all benefit of the order or judgment which may be made in such suit and from any distribution which shall be made under such order or judgment, and (2) that this order be published once a week for three weeks, and that said notice be published once a week for six months in two newspapers published in the County of New York, to wit: The New York Times and The Daily News Record.

MANTON, U. S. D. J.

SUPERIOR COURT OF RICHMOND COUNTY, Georgia, May Term, 1915.—BALTIMORE TRUST COMPANY vs. GEORGIA & FLORIDA RAILWAY.—In Equity.

There exist issues between certain creditors of the Georgia and Florida Railway and the owners and holders of the First Mortgage Five Per Cent. Fifty-Year Gold Bonds of said Railway and of the General Mortgage Bonds of said Railway, as to who are entitled to priority of payment out of the assets of said Railway now in the hands of this Court through its Receivers. These issues will be heard and final judgment rendered thereon by this Court at its Court Room in Richmond County, Georgia, at 10 o'clock A. M., on the 7th day of September, 1917. Let all those who wish to be heard be and appear at said time and place. After said date creditors cannot file their claims for the purpose of asserting such priority, except in accordance with the special order of this Court.

Witness, the Honorable Henry C. Hammond, Judge of the Superior Court of Richmond County, Georgia, this 15th day of May, 1917.

D. KERR, Clerk,

THE WEATHER

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The disturbance that was central Tuesday night over Northwestern Missouri moved northeastward, increasing in intensity and causing gales on the Great Lakes and showers and thunderstorms in that region and in the Missouri, Mississippi, and Ohio Valleys and the Middle Atlantic States and New England.

Heavy scattered rains fell in Northern Virginia, Maryland, Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, Southern Minnesota, Northern Missouri, and Eastern Nebraska.

Temperature has fallen somewhat in the upper Mississippi Valley and upper Lake region, where readings are considerably below the seasonal average. In all other parts of the country temperatures approximate or are above the normal.

In the Middle Atlantic States and New England overcast weather with showers and thunderstorms Thursday will be followed by fair weather Friday. In the South Atlantic and East Gulf States, Tennessee, and the Ohio Valley the weather will be fair Thursday and Friday. In the Lake region overcast weather with local rains Thursday will be followed by fair Friday.

Temperatures will not change decidedly in any section east of the Mississippi River during the next forty-eight hours.

The commission announces for June 15 at the New York Custom House an examination for typewriter, both men and women. This examination is to obtain eligibles to fill positions in the Quartermaster Corps, field service. It is expected that the Quartermaster Corps will require several thousand typewriters. The entrance salary is from $900 to $1,000 a year. Applicants must have reached their eighteenth birthday on the date of the examination. Competitors will be examined in spelling, copying from rough draft, copying from plain copy, penmanship, letter writing, and arithmetic. This affords a splendid opportunity for employment as well as for patriotic service. Applications will not be accepted from employes of the Government or of firms and corporations engaged in carrying out contracts for the Government or its allies unless accompanied by written assent of the head of the office, firm, or corporation under which the applicant is employed to his appointment in case he should pass the examination. Further information may be obtained from the commission, Washington, D. C.

Estates Appraised.

DOLL, JACOB, (Nov. 13, 1911;) total estate, $601,622. Emma Doll, widow, gets life interest in 6 West 77th St., appraised at $75,000, and an annuity of $12,000 a year. The decedent distributed 4,700 shares of stock in Jacob Doll & Sons among his children. The book value of the stock in the piano manufacturing company was $673,293, but the appraiser fixed the value at $403,542, because the value of the stock was affected by decedent's death and the block of stock could not be disposed of at the book value.

FOYE TELLS STORY OF HIS TEMPTATION

LAWYER'S WIFE IN TEARS

Accused Woman Breaks Down When Foye Describes Their Past When She Was a Widow.

In the Centre Street Court, crowded with friends and neighbors, Mrs. Elizabeth Briggs, wife of F. Fossett Briggs, a lawyer, who, however, was not present, heard herself accused yesterday by James E. Foye, who was recently released from serving an indeterminate sentence for stealing $200,000 from Chandler Brothers & Co., bankers of 34 Pine Street. Mrs. Briggs was arrested at her home, 978 Lincoln Place, Brooklyn, charged with receiving a part of this money.

Following Foye's arrest the bankers were able to recover $175,000 of the money he had taken. When Foye later applied for a pardon he was told that his chances of winning freedom were good if he would aid in the recovery of the remaining $25,000. Upon learning that Mrs. Briggs, who was Mrs. Austin, a widow, when he met her, had been married after his conviction, he told the authorities he had given her $21,000, and had spent $4,000 in having a good time, mostly in her company.

Foye, stylishly dressed and wearing a large diamond ring, told Magistrate Krotel that Mrs. Briggs had encouraged him to "take a chance" in order to make a fortune in an illegitimate way. He testified that he had a conversation with her during which he told her it was impossible for him to give her the things he desired because his salary of $75 a month from the Farmers Loan and Trust Company was inadequate. Foye said he was married, but was not living with his wife.

"I remarked to her that I could make a small fortune if I wanted to be crooked," Foye said. "She asked me how much I thought I could make this way and I told her at least $10,000 and perhaps $100,000. She said: 'That sounds good to me,' and I said, 'I'm liable to go to prison.'" Mrs. Briggs then said, according to the witness: "Why don't you get it, then?"

Mrs. Briggs, a tall and attractive brunette, listened to Foye's recital in silence, staring at him with a steady gaze while he occupied the stand. Only once, when he impugned her character, did she appear to be affected. Asked by Frederick McNish, attorney for Chandler Bros. & Co., how he had met Mrs. Briggs, Foye said he flirted with her on Christmas Day, 1912, while waiting for a car. Foye said he took her to dances and cabarets during the Winter and on several occasions posed as her husband at various hotels. At this Mrs. Briggs bowed her head and wept.

Foye said that he took some certificates of stock of the General Electric Company belonging to Chandler Brothers & Co. from the vaults of the Farmers Loan and Trust Company and negotiated a loan of $10,000 on them from Charles T. Brown & Co. in Philadelphia. This, he said, was the first of four illegal operations with the same bankers which netted him $200,000 before he was arrested and convicted.

"After I got the first $10,000 I called her up and we had dinner together," Foye said. "I told her that the suckers had swallowed the bait—hook, line, and sinker. She immediately suggested that we elope to California."

Foye told of meeting Mrs. Briggs in November, 1913, in a downtown restaurant, where he said he mentioned that he had just sent his wife $20,000 of the $90,000 he had taken thus far. Foye added that his wife returned the money to the rightful owners after his arrest.

"Mrs. Briggs insisted that I should give her an equal amount," Foye said. "I put two $5,000 bills and eleven $1,000 bills in an envelope and we took a taxicab to the Astor Trust Company. I gave her the envelope before we got out, cautioning her not to mention my name in opening her account. I left her at the bank, and we later met at the Waldorf-Astoria, where she said she had no trouble in banking the money. The extra $1,000 I gave her was to pay for some clothes and the expenses of the California trip."

After two bank clerks had testified Magistrate Krotel adjourned the examination until tomorrow, when Mrs. Briggs will be given an opportunity to testify. She refused to make any statement yesterday.

Aviation Student Saves Flag at Fire

HEMPSTEAD, L. I., June 6.—Fire damaged the dry goods store of A. L. Franck on Main Street last night, with a loss of about $5,000. When the fire broke out a flag was flying from a staff on the top of the building. Frank Barrett, a student at the Aviation Camp, saw it and climbed up a rain leader to the roof, hauled the flag down and wrapped it about his body. He was overcome by smoke, but when the firemen arrived he was brought down by Chief Harry Nichols and was revived at the Mercy Hospital.

BUY A BOND OR QUIT, SUNDAY COMMANDS

"If you haven't got a Liberty bond you needn't come around" was Billy Sunday's salutation to an audience of 14,000 in the Tabernacle last night. "Unless you already have taken at least one of the bonds or intend to do so, don't come back here again. I think I'll put a booth on the platform here so that you can get a bond at any time. Yes, and we will have the doors closed and not let you out until you buy. We'll get you some way. If you won't volunteer to buy a bond we'll hold you up."

Charles E. Mitchell of the National City Company preceded Sunday with a plea for support of the Liberty Loan. He said:

"You can't stop Krupp guns by waving flags and singing 'The Star-Spangled Banner.' Every American who cannot go to the firing line should subscribe to the Libery Loan."

In a brief reference to the situation in Russia Sunday said: "I am glad we have representatives in Russia headed by Root. I believe they will be able to bring the factions into line for the common good and strengthen the weak places in the Provisional Government. As for the Allies' lines in the west, they will not give way."

Sunday declared that if Germany could have subdued the British fleet, New York would already have felt the Prussian wrath. He predicted that Americans would find a way to master the U-boat menace. Then he challenged criticism of the statement with this remark:

"If you don't like my pro-American talk you can beat it. We are going to get some one here every night to make an appeal for the Liberty Loan—among whom will be Frank A. Vanderlip, George F. Baker, and George W. Perkins."

"Yes, we'll get Teddy, too," said Sunday. "That is the only mistake, I think, that the Administration has made—not permitting Colonel Roosevelt to go to the front; but I'm back of the Government in everything else it has done."

In the evening Sunday preached on "The Atonement." He said:

"If any one tells me he has tossed aside the plan of atonement by blood, I say, what have you to offer that is better? Until they can show me something that is better I'll nail my hopes to the cross. If it wasn't for the atonement you might as well rip the roofs off the churches and burn them down."

Among the delegations at night were 4,000 employes of R. H. Macy & Co., 1,500 Standard Oil employes, and a delegation from the Staten Island Shipbuilding Company's plant.

Sunday's subject in the afternoon was "The Potter and the Clay." The number of trail hitters at the two services was 1,363.

Miss Grace Saxe of the Sunday party held services yesterday by invitation at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Baker, 8 East Seventy-fifth Street, for an audience of 300 women. This morning at 10:45 o'clock Sunday will speak at a drawing room meeting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Perkins, at Riverdale.

France Honors Mrs. Tyler.

PARIS, June 6.—President Poincaré has conferred on Mrs. Royall Tyler the gold medal for devotion, in recognition of her untiring work since the beginning of the war as Vice President of the American Hospital for Refugees and of the Association for the Children of Flanders.

POLES HERE THRILLED BY POINCARE'S ACTION

Think Creation of Separate Army in France Will Unite Their Various Factions.

Poles in New York were thrilled yesterday by the news from Paris that President Poincaré issued an order authorizing the Poles in the French ranks to organize themselves into a separate army, and fight as one of the Allies under the flag that was theirs before Poland lost her independence. President Poincaré's order was interpreted here as an open recognition of Polish independence, coming at a timely moment, and being of exceptional value to the Allies because it would serve to draw the disorganized Polish elements together in a united effort to defeat Germany in order that their independence as a nation might become a real and lasting fact.

"If the Allies had all recognized Polish independence at the beginning of the war," said W. A. Nazur, editor of the Polish Telegramme, yesterday, "they would have instilled so much fight and enthusiasm into the Polish people that the Germans could never have made such a devastating sweep of the eastern front. The Polish are the best fighters in the world if you only give them a cause to fight for, and the recognition of their independence as a nation by England and France at the beginning of the war would have been just such a cause. It would have brought together at once 20,000,000 people, ready to hurl themselves into a war for freedom and democracy.

"The Poles, whether they be Austrian, German or Russian subjects, cannot but help feel that now they have a common cause, the restoration of their own independence, which cannot be accomplished, however, without first bringing Germany to her knees and crushing German militarism. So long as the German menace prevails, they know now, they cannot hope for the freedom which the Allies are willing that they should have."

GREEKS BATTLE IN CHURCH.

A miniature civil war between Venizelists and the supporters of King Constantine of Greece was fought in the basement of the St. Constantine's Greek Orthodox Church at 64 Schermerhorn Street, Brooklyn, last night when the Constantine faction sought to expel the pastor of the church for omitting the usual custom of saying "Long Live the King" in every Sunday prayer.

Police were called to untangle the difficulties, and while the king's men were at the Adams Street police station making complaints about the religious, political, and military zeal of the Venizelists, the supporters of the pro-Ally ex-Premier elected a Board of Trustees and informed the pastor of the church, the Rev. Stephano Papamacaronis, that he could omit to pray for the King. One arrest was made.

What Happened Yesterday in Western Business?

Read C. B. Evans, editor of the Economist, in the Business Section of today's Public Ledger. His dispatch from Chicago gives not merely the customary figures of trading, but the undercurrent of commercial thought and the trend of business affairs that accurately show what the West is thinking and doing.

Westerners in New York will find in C. B. E.'s articles the consensus of opinion of the leading manufacturers, business men and bankers of all the mid-western centers.

In addition to C. B. E.'s letter, there are complete reports of all financial and commodity exchanges, special dispatches, reports from Washington, and pertinent NEWS OF BUSINESS from every section of the United States.

The Kind of Car You Would Build
You would all want your car to be comfortable, roomy, convenient; easy to operate, easy to handle—
Yes, and besides these things, Mother and Sis would want it to be stylish, modern and beautiful at first glance.
And so betwixt you, you would specify proven units such as Westinghouse, Continental, Hyatt, Timken, Brown-Lipe, Hotchkiss, Stewart-Warner, etc.; harmonized by master-builders into the car that you would build yourself.

Life
Copr. Life Pub. Co.
Are you an optimist? Have you ever been in love? Did you ever help grandpa when you were a kid? What is the most luxurious vegetable we have? America's humorous paper, brimful of pictures both in color and black and white, is a brilliant and sane representative of American public opinion. This week's number contains over forty original pictures by the most famous of our artists. Not to know LIFE is to argue yourself unknown.
